LABOR SECRETARY DURKIN QUITS

Final Tribute Is Paid Vinson By Ike, Truman

Leaders Of Nation Attend Last Rites For Chief Justice

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The President of the United States, a former president and multitudes of plain people mourned together today in a last solemn tribute to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

Faces etched in grief, the mourners joined in well-loved hymns and Scriptural passages at simple funeral services in Washington Cathedral on a sun-flecked hill overlooking the national capital.

A small-town boy from Kentucky who rose to the nation's highest judicial office, Vinson died of a heart attack Tuesday. He was 63.

Ike Interrupts Vacation

President Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation to fly back to Washington for the services. Former President Truman came by train from Missouri to pay final tribute to the man he appointed seven years ago as 13th Chief Justice of the United States.

And for the first time since the Jan. 20 switch in administrations, the two met face to face—drawn together to pay homage to a man each called his warm personal friend.

Secretary of State Dulles and other Cabinet members assembled at the cathedral, too. So did members of Congress and the diplomatic corps. Seven of the eight associate supreme court justices were on hand as honorary pallbearers.

Services Follow Ritual

As the services began, the majestic notes of an organ welled through the vast cathedral. High above, pigeons glided through the arches of the still unfinished south transept. And the sun filtered through brilliant stained-glass windows as some 2,000 people gazed at the mahogany casket with its pall of purple and gold satin.

Episcopal Bishop Angus Dun, in robes of black and white, officiated. Except for a special prayer, for "my servant, Frederick," the services followed the ancient ritual of the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer.

U. S., Britain Agree On China-U.N. Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Britain was reported today to have agreed with the United States that the U. N. General Assembly should avoid a decision now on the seating of Red China.

Informed quarters said, however, that U. S. and British diplomats still were discussing whether the postponement should be just for the fall session of the assembly or for a longer period.

Both U. S. and British spokesmen said they did not foresee any difficulties in reaching agreement on a formula before the assembly meets next Tuesday. At that time, Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky is expected to demand a showdown on the seating of the Peiping regime.

Hurricane Shifts Course; Florida Breathes Easier

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Dolly struck out in a northerly direction late today and residents of a long coastline breathed easier.

The Atlantic storm began to shove along at 12 to 14 miles an hour from a position 600 miles due east of Miami and a curve to a more northeasterly direction was forecast.

Winds of 100 to 110 miles an hour whirled around its center, an advisory issued at 5 p.m. (EST) reported. Hurricane force winds extended nearly 100 miles to the east and northeast, with gales stretching outward 175 miles in these directions.

ANZUS Nations Won't Enlarge Their Alliance

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States, Australia and New Zealand ended a two-day Pacific defense conference tonight by deciding against any move to enlarge their three-nation defense alliance.

This unanimous decision was announced at the end of top level meetings between Secretary of State Dulles and the Australian and New Zealand foreign ministers and top military advisers.

A communique summing up the results of the nearly ten hour meeting said the three foreign ministers decided "that to attempt to enlarge its membership (the alliance) would not contribute directly and materially" to Pacific defense.

Britain, the Philippines, France and Nationalist China, whose government is on Formosa, all had expressed interest in joining the Australian-American-New Zealand defense arrangement in the Pacific.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, new chairman of the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, joined in today's final session which was devoted to secret military strategy the three governments would adopt in any emergency.

These talks reviewed progress made by American-Australian-New Zealand military leaders in the Pacific since September, 1952 when they first met after the alliance was negotiated in 1951.

Army's Answer To M'Carthy Due

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Army indicated tonight it may issue a statement tomorrow on charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that it sent out "clear-cut Communist propaganda" last year for use in the training of U.S. intelligence officers.

Pentagon officials said the Army may also release the full 75-page document which drew McCarthy's fire.

McCarthy yesterday released photographic copies of 70 pages of the pamphlet which he said was sent out to 37 Army commands, mostly in the Far East, for use in an intelligence course.

Col. R. S. Bratton, who signed a preamble accompanying the disputed document, said in Honolulu he is ready to go to Washington "if necessary and if so ordered by the proper authorities, in this case the U.S. Army."

Meanwhile, Bratton said he would make no comment "on a matter of this nature."

McCarthy had previously demanded that the Pentagon explain, by tonight if possible, how the Army came to use the document.

Gas Explosion Wrecks Street

A chunk of paving concrete and a car piled into the side of a Cleveland bus yesterday during an explosion along a three-quarter-mile long section of Cleveland's West 117th Street. At right are pavement slabs tilted and pointed by the blast. One woman motorist was killed and 67 persons injured.

Cleveland Gas Blast Kills One, Injures 67

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (AP)—A gas explosion under a three-quarter-mile long section of West 117th St. late this afternoon killed a woman motorist and injured 67 persons in rush hour crowds, some seriously.

Mrs. Katherine Szabo, 40, died in St. John's Hospital of injuries received when she was pinned in a concrete-crushed automobile.

Flying concrete and popping manhole covers caused injuries that sent 37 other motorists or pedestrians to St. John's Hospital, 17 to lakewood hospital and 13 more to three other hospitals.

Gas Mains Broken

Fire Chief Elmer Cain said "many things underground were broken—among them gas mains," but he would not pinpoint a cause for the blast which firemen at first said resulted from a broken natural gas main. An East Ohio Gas Co. spokesman said he was convinced sewer gas and not gas from his company's lines set off the explosion.

Damage is expected to mount above one million dollars.

Noise Terrific

"You thought at once this was the atomic bomb," Schinnerer said. "The noise was terrific, thick, thick, black smoke suddenly blotted out everything, and flying debris crashed all around. It seemed as if you were suddenly out of this world."

West 117th St. was buckled down the center by the blast. In some spots the concrete peaks were four feet high.

Two Fliers Seek Endurance Mark

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 10 (AP)—Two Salt Lake City fliers began today a second attempt to break the world's light plane endurance record.

Calvin E. Cowley, 29, a Frontier Airlines pilot, and Don H. Bean, 23, nosed their specially-equipped four-place Cessna into the air from Salt Lake Municipal Airport at 8:37 a.m., MST (10:37 a.m., EST).

They hope to circle the Salt Lake valley for 50 days in an attempt to break the existing record for a light plane endurance flight of 47 days, set in 1949 at Yuma, Ariz.

North Korea Red Boss In Moscow For Conferences

MOSCOW, Sept. 10 (AP) — North Korean Communist boss Kim Il Sung and a five man delegation arrived in Moscow today for top level talks with Soviet leaders.

The North Korean delegation was met at the Moscow railroad station by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin and Andrei Gromyko, a deputy foreign minister.

South Korean government sources have expressed belief the North Korean delegation will conclude a military pact with the Soviet Union during negotiations in Moscow. They said this probably would be along the lines of the recent Mutual Security pact between the United States and South Korea.

Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Red China's army, is also reported en route to Moscow. This led a South Korean intelligence to speculate that the Communists may bring North Korea in the existing military alliance between Red China and Russia.

"Kickback" Figure Suspended By Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Army today suspended Louis Fragala, $8,500-a-year civilian employe, who was indicted 14 months ago in connection with an alleged "kickback" conspiracy involving nearly $600,000 in government funds.

Two Boy Fugitives Nabbed After One Shot By Officer

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two Pennsylvania youths were nabbed today after one of them was shot in the shoulder by a policeman near a plant in neighboring Howard County.

Police said the pair had fled from the Glen Mills School, in Delaware County Pennsylvania, north of Philadelphia, a reform school.

Reported in good condition at St. Agnes Hospital with a wound in the shoulder was a youth identified by police as Francis E. Thomas, 16, of Berwick, Pa. They said the other youth was Donald Douglas, 16, of Williamsport, Pa. and that he was being held by State Police at the nearby Waterloo Barracks. No charges had been filed.

Sgt. Harry Harrison of the Howard County police, said he was on a routine patrol on U. S. Route 40 west of Ellicott City when he made a check at the International Harvester Plant about 1:30 a.m. He said he saw a boy standing by one of the windows with his arm upraised. The glass had been broken and Harrison said it appeared the boy was trying to release the window catch.

Harrison got out of his car and the boy fled with the policeman in pursuit. He called to the boy to stop but he kept going and when the officer got within 35 yards he said he fired one shot, felling the boy.

Harrison said the other youth was found in a truck nearby.

President Flies Back To Denver After Huddles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower whipped through a rapid-fire series of conferences on a brief visit to the capital today and then flew back to Denver to resume his vacation in the Colorado Rockies.

The President returned to Washington to attend the funeral of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, and while here he put in a busy workday at the White House conferring with top officials.

Confer On Vinson Successor

The problem of appointing a successor to Vinson, who died of a heart attack Tuesday, was reportedly the subject of a meeting the President held with Vice President Nixon, Atty. Gen. Brownell and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams during the morning.

There was still no clue as to Eisenhower's choice for the Supreme Court appointment. White House aides continued silent on speculation that Gov. Earl Warren of California or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York might get the nod.

Vanderbilt, Parker Mentioned

Others in the speculative running included Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt of the New Jersey Supreme Court and Judge John J. Parker of the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, who lives in Charlotte, N. C.

Vanderbilt's nomination to the high court was urged by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ) in a telegram to the President. Ted Dalton, Republican national committeeman for Virginia, announced at Radford, Va. that he had wired Eisenhower recommending Judge Parker for the vacancy.

Peiping Radio Declares Allied List Is "Faked"

MUNSAN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Communists gave advance indications yesterday they would reject Allied demands for an accounting of 944 Americans and 2,560 other Allied troops believed still held in Red prisons.

While a formal reply to the military armistice commission was not yet in sight, Peiping radio dismissed the Allied list as a "sheer fabrication."

A Communist correspondent in Kaesong, Red truce headquarters, even cited Secretary of State Dulles' informal comment to newsmen in Colorado Springs last week as evidence the Allied list was "faked." Dulles had said he knew of no Americans withheld.

Red Propaganda Mill Busy

There still was no indication of when the Communists would reply to the Allied demand for an accounting.

Meantime Red propaganda broadcasts harped on the theme that the Allies were still holding Communist prisoners who want to return.

In Tokyo an American Air Force major, David F. MacGhee of Tampa, Fla., told a news conference that the Communists planned to intern 22 U. S. fliers in Manchuria "until the United States recognizes Red China."

MacGhee said he had learned from a Chinese Communist who had proved "extremely reliable" in other cases that the Reds intended to hold back the Americans to force negotiations through diplomatic channels.

Double Jet Ace Not Included

The Communists have yet to explain why Capt. Harold Fischer, a double jet ace from Swea City, Iowa, was not included in the prisoner exchange ended last Sunday. The Reds had boasted of Fischer's capture last spring.

The Communists were expected to call the military armistice commission, ruling truce body, back into session when they had an answer to the Allied demand for an accounting of the missing men. No session was scheduled for today.

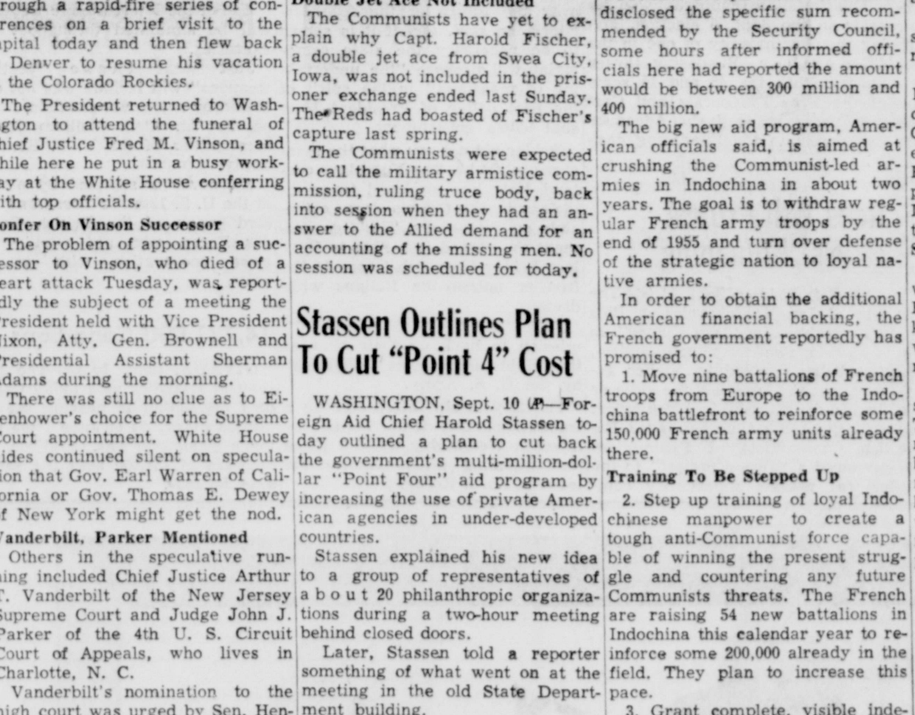

Stassen Outlines Plan To Cut "Point 4" Cost

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Foreign Aid Chief Harold Stassen today outlined a plan to cut back the government's multi-million-dollar "Point Four" aid program by increasing the use of private American agencies in under-developed countries.

Stassen explained his new idea to a group of representatives of about 20 philanthropic organizations during a two-hour meeting behind closed doors.

Later, Stassen told a reporter something of what went on at the meeting in the old State Department building.

He said he plans to put increasing emphasis on the technical aid facilities of American voluntary agencies and American colleges and universities, particularly land-grant colleges, for aiding the "Point Four" countries.

DURKIN RESIGNS—Charging the Eisenhower administration reneged on pledges to change the Taft-Hartley law, Martin P. Durkin (above) yesterday resigned as secretary of labor.

U. S. Will Almost Double Military Aid To Indochina

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States has decided tentatively to almost double American military aid to Indochina in an effort to help France wind up the seven-year-old war against Communist-led rebels there.

The nation's top Security Council, meeting secretly yesterday, recommended that an extra 385 million dollars be given hard-pressed France. This sum would back up 400 million dollars already allocated by Congress this year for the bloody Indochina conflict.

President Eisenhower is expected to approve the council's decision after conferring with key Congressional leaders.

Laniel Discloses Amount

Premier Joseph Laniel of France disclosed the specific sum recommended by the Security Council, some hours after informed officials here had reported the amount would be between 300 million and 400 million.

The big new aid program, American officials said, is aimed at crushing the Communist-led armies in Indochina in about two years. The goal is to withdraw regular French army troops by the end of 1955 and turn over defense of the strategic nation to loyal native armies.

In order to obtain the additional American financial backing, the French government reportedly has promised to:

1. Move nine battalions of French troops from Europe to the Indochina battlefront to reinforce some 150,000 French army units already there.

Training To Be Stepped Up

2. Step up training of loyal Indochinese manpower to create a tough anti-Communist force capable of winning the present struggle and countering any future Communists threats. The French are raising 54 new battalions in Indochina this calendar year to reinforce some 200,000 already in the field. They plan to increase this pace.

3. Grant complete, visible independence to the three Indochina states of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, all of which have been complaining about French rule. This is aimed at building up support for the anti-Communist struggle among the Indochinese peoples.

Blasts Failure Of Republicans To Revise T-H

Says Administration Ran Out On Pledges To Change Labor Act

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Martin P. Durkin quit as secretary of labor today with an angry blast accusing the Eisenhower administration of breaking an agreement to revise the Taft-Hartley law.

Durkin, the only Democrat in the Cabinet, who supported his own party's nominee in last year's presidential election, told a news conference that he would not label the administration friendly or unfriendly to organized labor until it takes a position in the controversial labor-management law.

"I will have to wait and see what it recommends," he said.

Durkin, 58, will resume his post as president of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters, an AFL union. Undersecretary of Labor Lloyd Mashburn will act as secretary until a successor is appointed by President Eisenhower.

Durkin disclosed that he resigned in a letter written Aug. 31 and that Eisenhower talked with him for half an hour at the White House this morning in an unsuccessful attempt to keep him on the job.

Background "Familiar" To Meany

"The background in this situation is quite familiar to me," AFL President George Meany said when news of Durkin's departure reached him.

"It has long been a tradition in the labor movement that once an agreement is reached the parties abide by it. Mr. Durkin is schooled in this tradition. He resigned because he could not continue serving on a team where agreements are not kept."

Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, said Durkin had no choice but to resign.

Until Durkin left there were two Democrats in the Eisenhower cabinet—himself and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare. But Mrs. Hobby supported Eisenhower in the presidential campaign, whereas Durkin was for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

Says Agreement Reached

Durkin's letter of resignation was not made public. The White House did not release it, and Durkin said he only had one copy, which he couldn't find in his apartment.

The outgoing secretary said that shortly before the death of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) his department had reached an agreement with Eisenhower's advisers on 19 amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act. Durkin did not say what the changes were, but he said they included many that Taft himself has proposed.

"I considered them fair both to management and labor," he said, adding that they would have brought "fairness and balance" to the law.

"Now I feel they are not going to carry those agreements out," Durkin went on. "In fact, I was told so."

40 Persons Die In Cyprus Quake

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sept. 10 (AP)—Forty persons were killed and about 100 injured by an earthquake in the Paphos district of this British colony at 6:10 a.m. today.

RAF pilots who surveyed that wine-producing area on the island's southwest coast estimated 500 buildings were destroyed.

Three persons died in Paphos, a minor Mediterranean port of 6,000. The others were killed in surrounding villages, ranging in population from 200 to 700. Sixteen perished in the rubble of their sundried brick houses at Stroumbi. In all, about 2,000 persons were made homeless.

British troops and airmen and 80 police helped in rescue and relief operations. Tents, portable ovens, food and medical supplies were rushed to the stricken area. Two British aircraft carriers were ordered to the scene.

The casualties would have been much greater except for the fact most of the villagers were already in the vineyards picking grapes when the quake struck. Children were among them, to put in a couple of hours of work before going to school.

Roofs of several schools fell in. Not a house was left standing in the village of Kithasi, where there were three deaths. In Kedhares, the church and practically all houses were flattened.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two Pennsylvania youths were nabbed today after one of them was shot in the shoulder by a policeman near a plant in neighboring Howard County.

Police said the pair had fled from the Glen Mills School, in Delaware County Pennsylvania, north of Philadelphia, a reform school.

Reported in good condition at St. Agnes Hospital with a wound in the shoulder was a youth identified by police as Francis E. Thomas, 16, of Berwick, Pa. They said the other youth was Donald Douglas, 16, of Williamsport, Pa. and that he was being held by State Police at the nearby Waterloo Barracks. No charges had been filed.

Sgt. Harry Harrison of the Howard County police, said he was on a routine patrol on U. S. Route 40 west of Ellicott City when he made a check at the International Harvester Plant about 1:30 a.m. He said he saw a boy standing by one of the windows with his arm upraised. The glass had been broken and Harrison said it appeared the boy was trying to release the window catch.

Harrison got out of his car and the boy fled with the policeman in pursuit. He called to the boy to stop but he kept going and when the officer got within 35 yards he said he fired one shot, felling the boy.

Harrison said the other youth was found in a truck nearby.

Peiping Radio Declares Allied List Is "Faked"

MUNSAN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Communists gave advance indications yesterday they would reject Allied demands for an accounting of 944 Americans and 2,560 other Allied troops believed still held in Red prisons.

While a formal reply to the military armistice commission was not yet in sight, Peiping radio dismissed the Allied list as a "sheer fabrication."

A Communist correspondent in Kaesong, Red truce headquarters, even cited Secretary of State Dulles' informal comment to newsmen in Colorado Springs last week as evidence the Allied list was "faked." Dulles had said he knew of no Americans withheld.

Red Propaganda Mill Busy

There still was no indication of when the Communists would reply to the Allied demand for an accounting.

Meantime Red propaganda broadcasts harped on the theme that the Allies were still holding Communist prisoners who want to return.

In Tokyo an American Air Force major, David F. MacGhee of Tampa, Fla., told a news conference that the Communists planned to intern 22 U. S. fliers in Manchuria "until the United States recognizes Red China."

MacGhee said he had learned from a Chinese Communist who had proved "extremely reliable" in other cases that the Reds intended to hold back the Americans to force negotiations through diplomatic channels.

Double Jet Ace Not Included

The Communists have yet to explain why Capt. Harold Fischer, a double jet ace from Swea City, Iowa, was not included in the prisoner exchange ended last Sunday. The Reds had boasted of Fischer's capture last spring.

The Communists were expected to call the military armistice commission, ruling truce body, back into session when they had an answer to the Allied demand for an accounting of the missing men. No session was scheduled for today.

President Flies Back To Denver After Huddles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower whipped through a rapid-fire series of conferences on a brief visit to the capital today and then flew back to Denver to resume his vacation in the Colorado Rockies.

The President returned to Washington to attend the funeral of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, and while here he put in a busy workday at the White House conferring with top officials.

Confer On Vinson Successor

The problem of appointing a successor to Vinson, who died of a heart attack Tuesday, was reportedly the subject of a meeting the President held with Vice President Nixon, Atty. Gen. Brownell and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams during the morning.

There was still no clue as to Eisenhower's choice for the Supreme Court appointment. White House aides continued silent on speculation that Gov. Earl Warren of California or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York might get the nod.

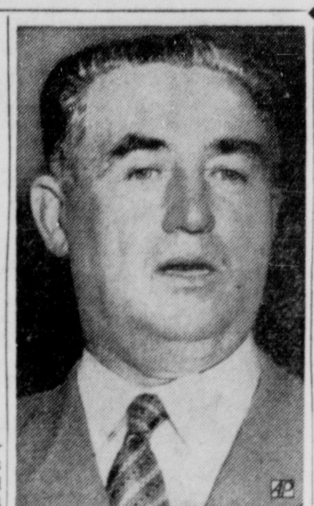

Vanderbilt, Parker Mentioned

Others in the speculative running included Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt of the New Jersey Supreme Court and Judge John J. Parker of the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, who lives in Charlotte, N. C.

Vanderbilt's nomination to the high court was urged by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ) in a telegram to the President. Ted Dalton, Republican national committeeman for Virginia, announced at Radford, Va. that he had wired Eisenhower recommending Judge Parker for the vacancy.

"Kickback" Figure Suspended By Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Army today suspended Louis Fragala, $8,500-a-year civilian employe, who was indicted 14 months ago in connection with an alleged "kickback" conspiracy involving nearly $600,000 in government funds.

DURKIN RESIGNS—Charging the Eisenhower administration reneged on pledges to change the Taft-Hartley law, Martin P. Durkin (above) yesterday resigned as secretary of labor.

U. S. Will Almost Double Military Aid To Indochina

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States has decided tentatively to almost double American military aid to Indochina in an effort to help France wind up the seven-year-old war against Communist-led rebels there.

The nation's top Security Council, meeting secretly yesterday, recommended that an extra 385 million dollars be given hard-pressed France. This sum would back up 400 million dollars already allocated by Congress this year for the bloody Indochina conflict.

President Eisenhower is expected to approve the council's decision after conferring with key Congressional leaders.

Laniel Discloses Amount

Premier Joseph Laniel of France disclosed the specific sum recommended by the Security Council, some hours after informed officials here had reported the amount would be between 300 million and 400 million.

The big new aid program, American officials said, is aimed at crushing the Communist-led armies in Indochina in about two years. The goal is to withdraw regular French army troops by the end of 1955 and turn over defense of the strategic nation to loyal native armies.

In order to obtain the additional American financial backing, the French government reportedly has promised to:

1. Move nine battalions of French troops from Europe to the Indochina battlefront to reinforce some 150,000 French army units already there.

Training To Be Stepped Up

2. Step up training of loyal Indochinese manpower to create a tough anti-Communist force capable of winning the present struggle and countering any future Communists threats. The French are raising 54 new battalions in Indochina this calendar year to reinforce some 200,000 already in the field. They plan to increase this pace.

3. Grant complete, visible independence to the three Indochina states of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, all of which have been complaining about French rule. This is aimed at building up support for the anti-Communist struggle among the Indochinese peoples.

Stassen Outlines Plan To Cut "Point 4" Cost

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Foreign Aid Chief Harold Stassen today outlined a plan to cut back the government's multi-million-dollar "Point Four" aid program by increasing the use of private American agencies in under-developed countries.

Stassen explained his new idea to a group of representatives of about 20 philanthropic organizations during a two-hour meeting behind closed doors.

Later, Stassen told a reporter something of what went on at the meeting in the old State Department building.

He said he plans to put increasing emphasis on the technical aid facilities of American voluntary agencies and American colleges and universities, particularly land-grant colleges, for aiding the "Point Four" countries.

Blasts Failure Of Republicans To Revise T-H

Says Administration Ran Out On Pledges To Change Labor Act

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Martin P. Durkin quit as secretary of labor today with an angry blast accusing the Eisenhower administration of breaking an agreement to revise the Taft-Hartley law.

Durkin, the only Democrat in the Cabinet, who supported his own party's nominee in last year's presidential election, told a news conference that he would not label the administration friendly or unfriendly to organized labor until it takes a position in the controversial labor-management law.

"I will have to wait and see what it recommends," he said.

Durkin, 58, will resume his post as president of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters, an AFL union. Undersecretary of Labor Lloyd Mashburn will act as secretary until a successor is appointed by President Eisenhower.

Durkin disclosed that he resigned in a letter written Aug. 31 and that Eisenhower talked with him for half an hour at the White House this morning in an unsuccessful attempt to keep him on the job.

Background "Familiar" To Meany

"The background in this situation is quite familiar to me," AFL President George Meany said when news of Durkin's departure reached him.

"It has long been a tradition in the labor movement that once an agreement is reached the parties abide by it. Mr. Durkin is schooled in this tradition. He resigned because he could not continue serving on a team where agreements are not kept."

Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, said Durkin had no choice but to resign.

Until Durkin left there were two Democrats in the Eisenhower cabinet—himself and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare. But Mrs. Hobby supported Eisenhower in the presidential campaign, whereas Durkin was for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

Says Agreement Reached

Durkin's letter of resignation was not made public. The White House did not release it, and Durkin said he only had one copy, which he couldn't find in his apartment.

The outgoing secretary said that shortly before the death of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) his department had reached an agreement with Eisenhower's advisers on 19 amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act. Durkin did not say what the changes were, but he said they included many that Taft himself has proposed.

"I considered them fair both to management and labor," he said, adding that they would have brought "fairness and balance" to the law.

"Now I feel they are not going to carry those agreements out," Durkin went on. "In fact, I was told so."

40 Persons Die In Cyprus Quake

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sept. 10 (AP)—Forty persons were killed and about 100 injured by an earthquake in the Paphos district of this British colony at 6:10 a.m. today.

RAF pilots who surveyed that wine-producing area on the island's southwest coast estimated 500 buildings were destroyed.

Three persons died in Paphos, a minor Mediterranean port of 6,000. The others were killed in surrounding villages, ranging in population from 200 to 700. Sixteen perished in the rubble of their sundried brick houses at Stroumbi. In all, about 2,000 persons were made homeless.

British troops and airmen and 80 police helped in rescue and relief operations. Tents, portable ovens, food and medical supplies were rushed to the stricken area. Two British aircraft carriers were ordered to the scene.

The casualties would have been much greater except for the fact most of the villagers were already in the vineyards picking grapes when the quake struck. Children were among them, to put in a couple of hours of work before going to school.

Roofs of several schools fell in. Not a house was left standing in the village of Kithasi, where there were three deaths. In Kedhares, the church and practically all houses were flattened.

Demos Predict Federal Sales Tax Will Be Major '54 Campaign Issue

Party's "Digest" Draws Up Korea "Balance Sheet"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The October "Democratic Digest" said today a federal sales tax, opposed by past Democratic administrations and now being studied by the Republicans, is "bound to be a major campaign issue in the 1954 elections."

The official magazine of the Democratic National Committee also drew up a "balance sheet" on Korea. It said on the credit side among other things was the halting of Communist aggression. On the debit side it listed the "legacy of doubt and confusion left by the long Republican propaganda campaign against American policy in Korea."

The publication said the final decision on whether to propose a sales tax "will be a political, not an economic decision, and it will have to be made by the President himself."

It declared that since the administration has promised to cut income taxes and abolish the excess profits levy, the only alternative to a sales tax is a "sharply unbalanced budget, contrary to all administration pledges."

Military Cuts Only Out

"But, having already drawn sharp warnings from the Joint Chiefs of Staff on this year's deep defense cuts," it said, "the administration will probably be afraid to take additional security risks next year."

The magazine said a sales tax is a tax on spending and therefore falls most heavily on lower income families.

"This means," it said, "that the sales tax will be extremely unpopular politically, not only among consumer groups and labor unions, who are considered the traditional opponents of such a tax, but also among many business groups."

On Korea, the publication listed these other things on the credit side, besides halting Communist aggression: the buildup of free world strength, signing of mutual defense treaties with Japan, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, faith among small nations that the United Nations will help protect them from aggression, and a new confidence among larger nations that they can stand together against aggression.

On The Debit Side

But on the debit side this comment was made:

"The Republican success in depicting Korea as a 'useless' war will make it far more difficult, should the Communists strike again elsewhere, for President Eisenhower or any future president to act with President Truman's decisiveness in meeting force with force.

"The second danger in the persistent die-hard attitude of many Republicans is that this attitude imprisons the Eisenhower administration and makes it hesitant to yield any concessions whatever—either to the enemy, or to our Allies—for fear of arousing the wrath of Congressional Republicans.

"Having decided not to win America's objective of a unified Korea on the battlefield, the administration must now seek to win it by negotiation. Whether it can achieve this without at least some token concessions at the political conference is a grave question."

Adenauer Party Plans Coalition

BONN, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party decided tonight to form a three-party coalition government with the same partners who governed West Germany for the past four years.

A communique issued after a six-hour meeting of the party committee said the Christian Democrats were ready to revive the old coalition with the Free Democrats (FDP), and German party (DP).

Adenauer conferred later with Franz Bluecher, chairman of the Free Democrats, and formally invited his party to join the new government.

The Free Democrats begin their post-election committee session tomorrow. The German party leaders are not due to meet for another week.

The Christian Democrats won 244 seats in the Sept. 6 election, giving them a majority of one in the 487-member Bundestag (lower house). With the 48 and 15 seats of the Free Democrats and German party, respectively, Adenauer can dominate the Bundestag easily.

Reds Will Protest Pole's "Kidnaping"

SEOUL, Friday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The fate of Jan Hajdukiewicz, a Pole who grabbed a "last chance" in Korea to flee from communism, was being decided by higher authority today—possibly the state or justice department in Washington.

At the same time red-faced Polish Communists at Panmunjom prepared a "strong protest" to the neutral nations supervisory commission to back up their charges that Hajdukiewicz was "kidnaped" by the U. S. Army.

The 28-year-old interpreter on a truce inspection team bolted for freedom Wednesday while a plane was warming up to return the team to North Korea.

Yugoslavia To Protect Interest In Trieste, Parliament Is Told

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 10 (AP)—Yugoslavia intends to protect her interest in Trieste firmly, calmly and with dignity, Foreign Undersecretary Ales Bebler told Parliament today.

Italy has failed to withdraw the troops she sent to the Italian-Yugoslave border in the recent flareup over the future of the free territory, he said, and if it is shown to be necessary the state secretariat will propose "the undertaking of measures" in the spirit of the past policy of President Marshal Tito's government.

Bebler did not say what the measures might be. The Yugoslavs contend Italy has stationed three divisions in the Gorizia area, ostensibly on maneuvers. Tito's government threatened in a note to Italy last Friday to march troops to the frontier unless the Italians withdrew.

Free Exchange Of Currencies Urged By Briton

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Britain's spokesman at the World Bank and Monetary Fund meeting told officials of 55 nations today that this is a "time of fleeting but great opportunity" for a concerted move toward an old-fashioned free exchange of currencies.

Reginald Maudling, British governor on the boards of the twin world financial organizations, spoke after the monetary fund's annual report was made public. The report offered greater fund backing to nations moving toward a freer exchange of their currencies.

But Maudling and other speakers said—and Ivar Rooth, managing director of the fund, suggested—that the fund's present dollar resources are too small to deal with the calls that probably would be made on it in the face of widespread relaxation of exchange controls.

The implication was that if convertibility is to come about soon, the United States would have to help by increasing the monetary fund's supply of dollars. The fund could then underwrite convertibility to a large extent, standing ready to make short-term loans of dollars to nations that cut their currencies free from exchange restrictions and found the demand on them for dollars was greater than their reserves.

W. Randolph Burgess, deputy for monetary affairs to George M. Humphrey, secretary of the U. S. Treasury, gave no indication in his speech of American reaction.

Burgess said, however, that repeated assertions that convertibility must be accompanied by lower U. S. tariffs—which would give greater opportunity to foreign nations to earn dollars—would get "the attention they deserve."

Allied Soldiers In Mock A-Battle

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP)—Divisions of Allied troops maneuvered in mock atomic battle north of Frankfurt tonight. Defending forces stabbed at a mythical invader from the east.

Operation "Monte Carlo," the first large exercise to simulate atomic warfare, rumbled into action before dawn today.

The battleground ranges near the Soviet zone frontier over hilly country that forms a natural path for any real invader pushing into West Germany.

Use of the latest atomic weapons will be simulated throughout the exercises.

Just what these "pretend weapons" will include was not disclosed by manuever officials, headed by Lt. Gen. William Hoge, commander of the U. S. Seventh Army.

Air cover is supplied by planes of the U. S. 12th Air Force and the 83rd group of the British Royal Air Force, who are working in close cooperation with ground units.

14,781,000 Canadians

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Bureau of statistics said today Canada's population is nearing the 15 million mark. As of June 1 the nation's population was 14,781,000, an increase of 351,000 over the same date in 1952.

126 Missing POWs Identified

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Relatives of 944 Americans who did not show in the Korean prisoner exchange were advised by military officials today not to hold "too much hope" for their survival.

The government has asked the Chinese and North Korean Reds for a strict accounting of the men, identified as prisoners of war in Communist propaganda broadcasts, reports of returned POW's, personal letters and other sources.

But the Pentagon said it had no way of knowing whether the men were alive or had died in infamous "death marches" or in the harsh environment of prison camps. Military authorities suggested some of the men may still be alive and held for future bargaining purposes.

A list, containing 126 names was made public tonight. Other lists will be made public during the week, including, in all, 610 from the Army, 312 from the Air Force, 19 from the Marines and 3 from the Navy.

Hot Dry Weather Cuts Corn Crop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that hot dry weather in August cut the corn crop about 3.5 per cent — a development which removed the possibility of rigid government marketing controls on next year's crop.

Prospective supplies of the major livestock feed grain remain ample, however, because of reserves from past big crops.

Marketing quotas already have been invoked for the 1954 wheat crop and appear inevitable on cotton because of large supplies.

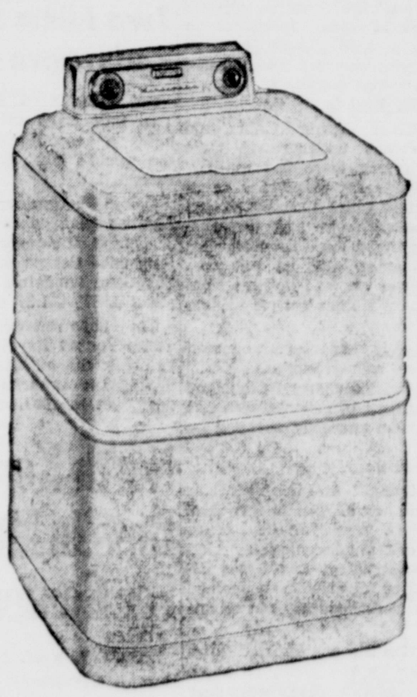

In a monthly crop production report, the department estimated the total volume of all crops this year would be the third largest on record. A month ago, the volume had been forecast as the second largest.

Oatis Completes Story Of Ordeal As Red Captive

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — William N. Oatis figured he was really free when he could sit down at a typewriter — and write as he pleased.

He had spent two years in prison cells behind the Iron Curtain. Then for more than a month he was confined to a hospital room, undergoing medical treatment.

When he left the hospital he settled down to a typewriter, and let go. At last, he was free to write his own story on his imprisonment in Czechoslovakia, and in his own way. He was back in the newspaper business he had entered 20 years before.

"It was good to get back to writing after such a long layoff," he said today. "The only writing I did in prison was some efforts at song writing — and that hardly comes under the head of newspaper work."

Today his story is complete. It will begin appearing next Monday in this newspaper.

Oatis is the Associated Press reporter whom the Czech secret police contrived to convict as a spy—his "unofficial reporting," as they expressed it, was construed to fall within the framework of activities forbidden by Czech law. He went to prison in 1951, despite appeals from the U. S. State Department, and was released last May on a pardon.

In his story, Oatis describes the methods the police used to extract various "confessions" from him; the way in which his trial was conducted; and his life in prison. The story is unique because such an experience never before was recorded by a man trained as a reporter. He is the only Western reporter ever imprisoned behind Europe's Iron Curtain.

The story also is noteworthy because Oatis wrote every word of it from memory. His jailers occasionally gave him writing paper, but he knew that any notes about his own case likely would be confiscated.

When he returned to New York and entered the hospital, he dictated some preliminary material to his life, operating a typewriter for a brief time every day at his bedside. The actual writing of the bulk of the story began when he left the hospital and was finally able to sit at a typewriter in a New York apartment.

The doctors believed when Oatis went into the hospital that he had tuberculosis, aggravated by winter cold in his Czech cell. But they let him out of the hospital, sending him back to normal routine, after a series of treatments and with the tuberculosis tests all proving negative.

Today the lanky Hoosier is about at his usual weight—127 pounds. That's a few more pounds than he weighed when he left prison. The prison pallor has disappeared. With his own story out of the way, he is soon to start a vacation trip. Tentatively he plans to go to his native Indiana, as well as to Minnesota, where Mrs. Oatis' family lives, and to Arizona, where his father lives. After the vacation he will undertake a new assignment for The Associated Press.

Today there are no Western reporters in Czchoslovakia, and Oatis will of course not go back there—at least while the present Communist regime is running the country.

"Funny thing," he recalled. "I still have the 'lifetime driver's license' the Czechs issued me when I went there as a correspondent in 1950. For some reason they never lifted it. All the time they were presenting me, to their own satisfaction, as a dangerous spy, they evidently never questioned my driving ability."

"Dead" Marine, Family Reunited

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A tall, thin marine came home from Korean captivity today, after being given up for dead by all but his parents. The government even wrote off its life insurance policy on him.

"God is my best friend," said Marine Corp. Sidney Oehl, 23, who broke down and wept at La Guardia field in the embrace of his father and mother.

"This is a truly happy new year for us," exulted his father, Arthur Oehl.

Today is Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish new year.

Corp. Oehl was wounded and captured in Korea 11 months ago. Last January the War Department notified his father the boy had been killed in action.

"But I didn't believe it," said the father. "And when they offered me his insurance money I told them to give it to my son because he was still alive."

The father's faith was confirmed after a returning prisoner brought him word his son was alive.

Mr. Chief Justice Warren?

The death of Chief Justice Vinson inevitably renews speculation on the future of Governor Earl Warren of California. Warren had stated on September 3 that he would not be a candidate for election to a fourth term in California. Immediately a White House spokesman had announced that the first vacancy on the Supreme Court would go to him if he wanted it. Though Governor Warren had turned down a post in the Eisenhower cabinet, the understanding in Washington was that he would accept appointment to the Supreme Court. The formal appointment is not likely to be made, however, until Congress returns to Washington.

There is precedent for making a recess appointment to the court, and to the office of chief justice. President Washington in 1795 appointed as Chief Justice John Rutledge of South Carolina, a former associate justice but not then on the court, the Senate then being in recess. Rutledge actually served as chief justice for one court-term. When Congress reconvened in December of 1795, the formal nomination was rejected, but not on the ground that the appointment had been made during the Senate's recess.

By Article II, Section 3 of the Constitution the President is empowered to "nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, . . . (to) appoint . . . judges of the Supreme Court . . ." The same section provides: "The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during a recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session."

When the Supreme Court convened in October 1938 there was a vacancy caused by the death three months earlier of Justice Cardozo. President Roosevelt delayed filling the vacant seat until Congress reassembled the following January so that the new justice could be confirmed before ascending the bench. The nomination, which then went to Felix Frankfurter, was duly confirmed.

President Roosevelt had no opportunity to make an appointment to the Supreme Court from his inauguration in 1933 until the retirement of Justice VanDeventer in 1937 created a vacancy. His first appointment, which went to Senator Black, aroused a storm of controversy, but Black eventually was confirmed. When President Eisenhower took office in January, he was faced with a Supreme Court of which only one member, Justice Burton, was a Republican.

Governor Warren has a long legal background. He was admitted to the California bar in 1914 and was in active practice until 1938. When first elected governor in 1942, he was serving as state attorney general. He has been vice chairman of the criminal law section of the American Bar Association since 1938, and has been a member of its house of delegates.

While campaigning for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1952 Governor Warren established himself as favoring social progress as distinct from, and to avert, socialism—broad welfare measures if not paternalistic nor detrimental to private enterprise. He argued that the GOP would again be defeated if it followed "the extremists of the right." Specifically, he advocated: unemployment insurance, aid to farmers, government aid for housing "when necessary," medical care available to everybody "on reasonable terms," bipartisanship in foreign policy, world cooperation through the United Nations.

The Expropriators

Washington has formally protested to Guatemala's communist-influenced government over expropriation of 234,000 acres of United Fruit Company property. Taking 40 per cent of the land bought, paid for and deveoped by the company at a cost of more than $50,000,000, Guatemala is "compensating" United Fruit with a mere $60,000 worth of dubious 3 per cent bonds!

American owners of property in foreign lands have been taking it on the chin repeatedly, while Washington "protests"—and later gives money to the long-fingered foreign governments. First Mexico expropriated oil lands and refineries owned by Americans—and ruined the Mexican oil industry. Last year Bolivia expropriated the Patino tin mines, largely owned by Americans.

American companies in foreign lands have been paying high wages and showing much regard for the health, housing and welfare of their employees. Clever politicians of communist hue twisted these facts into campaign arguments, maintaining that if these foreign companies were not exploiting the countries in which they operate they could not pay such high wages!

Thus spreading communism threatens to dry up the source of foreign investment when more of it is badly needed. Foreign aid by the United States must be eliminated, and there seems to be little prospect of an expansion of foreign trade great enough to put national economies on a sound footing. Foreign investment in backward countries will be needed to fill the gap.

But there will be little American capital for investment in foreign countries if the properties are to be seized by communists.

Morale And The "Brass"

What is causing morale among the Army's officer corps to decline, leading to such worrisome trends as the extremely high rate of resignations from West Point? What causes people to group all high ranking officers into the one rather derogatory collective, "brass?"

These are questions which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new Army chief of staff, wants answered and he is setting a couple of surveys in force—so help us—to uncover the reasons. This lack of respect for the officer corps was the main topic of discussion at the general's first Pentagon news conference since assuming the top Army post.

The general said he was almost sure he knew some of the underlying reasons for lowered morale among servicemen. He puts his finger specifically on the loss of free medical attention by the dependents of service personnel and the gradual loss of commissionary privileges.

But the general seems to have taken himself too seriously in complaining about the use of the word "brass" as applied to higher officers. The word "brass" seems to be applied more in the form of affection than dislike, and the general is displaying unwarranted sensitivity.

When the general worries about ways and means of making the services more attractive to young men, he is on the right track. He could find some of his answers in the basic sociological measurements of the American temperament. Young Americans are tough minded and don't go for being punched into molds. But they will turn and fight when the issues are explained to them.

Safe Paint

The most common cause of lead poisoning in children is chewing paint on cribs and other furniture, window sills, and toys. Many cases also are traceable to eating painted wall plaster and nibbling on paint flakes that peel off old walls and are picked up from the floor or ground. We cannot blame the young ones because at certain ages it is natural for them to put anything and everything into the mouth. Occasionally the practice continues in the form of a perverted appetite (pica). At any rate, there is enough lead poisoning from this source to warrant doing something about it.

The federal food, drug, and cosmetic act is designed to protect the consumer against toxic materials used in coloring, preserving, or adulterating foods, drugs, and cosmetics. When this act was passed the lawmakers neglected to take the habits of children into consideration and as a result lead poisoning continues. The New York board of health, for example, recently reported 15 cases of lead poisoning of which 11 were among children with four deaths in the first six months of 1953.

The national bureau of standards has attempted to rectify the situation by designating certain colors as being safe for use in coating children's toys and in printing ink, colored paper, paint sets, chalk, wax crayons, colored clays, and many similar items. Its specifications are utilized as the basis for preparing nontoxic colors and the pigments contain less than one to 200,000 parts of lead. Such coloring materials are made principally from coal tar intermediate products and are precipitated on a lead-free base. Vegetable dyes also are nontoxic but the coal tar nontoxic colors are preferred for commercial purposes because they are more practical. But the manufacturers are not required by law to use the nontoxic pigments in painting toys, furniture, and inside walls. The only way to avoid trouble, therefore, is to look at the label as it is impossible to watch the wee ones closely enough to keep them from putting things in the mouth. In some communities, however, regulations have been adopted on the paints used in classrooms and the interior of other buildings.

However, looking at the label may not give the desired information. Some individuals may not know, for example, that chrome yellow, orange, and green are particularly high in lead chromate. This is the reasoning behind the advice of some authorities who advise that yellow, orange, and green be avoided in the playroom just on the outside chance that the pigment contains lead chromate. Another hazard centers about the common practice of repainting toys, furniture, and other objects. I'll venture to say that nine out of 10 persons who do refinishing in the home never give a second thought to the lead content of the paint used.

The manifestations of lead poisoning vary with the amount ingested and range from fatigue, anemia, and constipation to colic or encephalitis. Lead is a tricky substance in that small quantities accumulate in the system and symptoms will not appear until a certain level is reached. There are many laboratory tests to help in diagnosis. The content of lead in the urine and blood, for example, can be measured accurately; lead is deposited in long bones and when there is X-ray evidence of increased density of the growing ends this is good evidence that the body is saturated.

DAUGHTER KNOWS BEST

S. M. writes: I'm 13 years old and my mother makes me drink tea instead of milk because she says milk is fattening. I have trouble making my mother realize that milk is good for you. Should I be allowed to have it?

REPLY

Yes, and your mother cannot object to skim milk because it contains little fat.

OUT OF KILTER

G. W. writes: What is meant by hormone imbalance?

REPLY

Normally the various glands of the body work in harmony; but when one of these structures secretes too much or too little of its hormone, the other glands are forced to make adjustments. Until this is done, the balance between them is upset.

HYPNOTISM

P. W. writes: Are some people more susceptible than others to hypnotism?

REPLY

Yes, and the process requires considerable cooperation. But don't expect miracles such as happened to Little Orphan Annie's friend, Cindy.

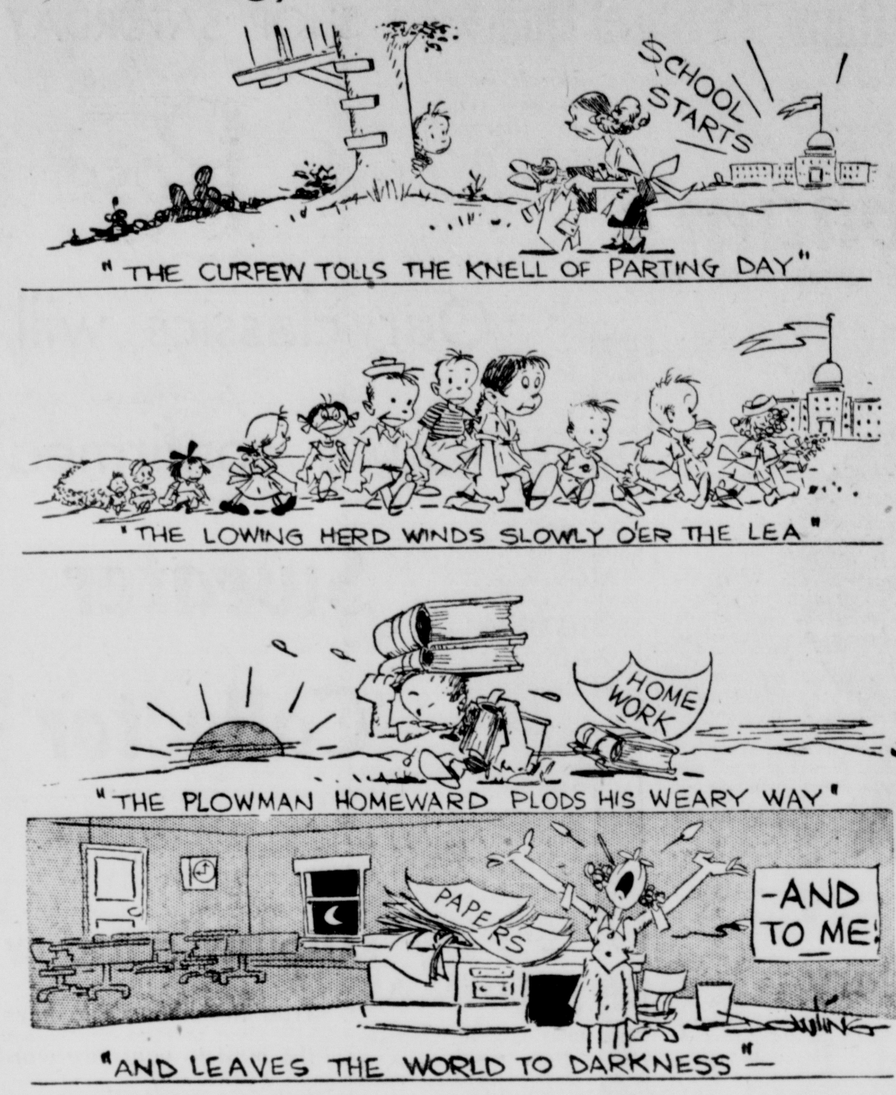

DOUBLE ORDEAL

Mrs. J. writes: How long does it take to regain strength after having pneumonia and a baby?

REPLY

There is no reason to believe that recovery from both will not occur simultaneously. The interval required after confinement varies from a few hours to several months and convalescence from pneumonia may take a month.

Elegy In The School Yard

DREW PEARSON on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Of The Navy Bucks The Brass; Farmer Boss Of The Navy Believes In Fair Deal For Subordinates; Stassen Fires Men Who Scored Highest In His Test.

WASHINGTON—When Bob Anderson of Vernon, Texas, was appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Eisenhower, most of the top brass in the Navy Department figured he would be a pushover.

In the first place, the admirals are pretty good at soft-soaping, sometimes even pushing around their civilian bosses. They have been doing this almost ever since the days of Josephus Daniels, who bucked the admirals on almost everything—from liquor aboard battleships to proposing more opportunity for advancement from the ranks.

In the second place, Anderson is a farmer. True, he is a big-scale farmer, having been manager of the Waggoner 500,000-acre ranch in Texas, where he actually uses helicopters to herd mavericks out of scrub oak. Even so, the Admirals knew the new Navy secretary's nearest approach to battleships was nothing much more than a mud scow on the Brazos River. So they prepared to sit back and run the Navy pretty much as they pleased.

They have experienced, however, a considerable surprise. For the new secretary has started to rein them in with the firmness of a bronco-busting cowboy on his ranch.

When he heard that Capt. George Hyman Rickover, expert on the atomic submarine, had been passed over by the Navy Selection Board for his promotion to admiral because of his religion, Secretary Anderson acted fast. Since he has the power to reject selection board recommendations, he quietly let word drop that Capt. Rickover's name would have to be among those recommended on the next go-around or else other admirals might not get promoted. The admirals took the hint and Rickover now wears the two stars of a rear admiral.

Key West Strip Tease

Again when this column exposed the manner in which certain brass hats planned to railroad their junior officer, Lieut. Comdr. Jerry McDaniel, at Key West, Fla., Anderson also stepped in. McDaniel was jailed for 42 days for staging a strip tease charity benefit at Key West, though some of his superior officers appeared to be quite cognizant of what he was doing.

Anderson has now issued notice of reprimand to Admiral Irving Duke for trying to make McDaniel the scapegoat, and has taken action against other superior officers named in this column.

On another occasion, Anderson called in his Bureau Chiefs, told them certain budget cuts were necessary and asked them to submit figures to achieve these cuts. One Bureau Chief, Admiral Homer N. Wallin of the Bureau of Ships, did not take this seriously. Result: Admiral Wallin was transferred to Seattle.

Secretary Anderson never lost his temper, had no unpleasantness with Admiral Wallin. But he made his point so clear that Admiral Wallin himself requested the transfer.

NOTE 1—Congressman Charles Bennett of Florida had a friendly talk with the Secretary of the Navy regarding the Key West strip tease act, urged a higher standard of morality in the Navy. Anderson vigorously concurred.

NOTE 2—Another recent civilian executive who was not afraid to buck top Navy brass was undersecretary of the Navy Francis Whitehair.

Stassen's Phony Test

Harold Stassen's big hullabaloo about an aptitude test to pick the best men to stay in government turned out to be a wonderful publicity gag, but otherwise the biggest hoax Washington has seen in a long time.

Inside fact is that Stassen's aides were drawing up the list of employes they wanted to fire at exactly the same time the so-called scientific test was being given. And after the tests were taken, Stassen, believe it or not, fired the men who scored the highest marks.

These included top officials. With one or two exceptions, the men with the lower marks were kept.

In the Near Eastern division of the technical cooperative assistance program, for instance, Stassen fired 17 out of the 20 top officials who got the highest marks. He fired the administrator for the Near East, Reeseman Fryer, the assistant administrator for the Near East, and the chiefs of every country except Israel and Iran.

With Eisenhower worrying over what's happening in Morocco, Tunisia, and Africa generally, where vitally important U. S. air bases are in jeopardy, this could be highly dangerous firing. These areas have come to look upon the technical assistance program as one of their biggest aids, and it has won many friends for the U. S. A.—in an area where friends have been scarce.

In the Asia division of TCA, Stassen also fired the five men who scored the highest. This again is an area about which the administration has been worried. The worry was expressed no later than last week in a speech before the American Legion by John Foster Dulles.

Ike's Pledge

The men who scored highest in this division were the assistant administrator, Haldore Hanson, who had been accused by McCarthy but was cleared; Deputy Administrator John Provinse; Charles Wolf, chief economist; Wilfred Williams, chief adviser; Gustav Papanek, No. 2 economist.

No wonder Chairman Rees of the House Civil Service Committee, a staunch Republican, issued a blast at the manner in which men with years of government service and Civil Service rating behind them were being fired.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

There Were Wise Men

The defense of those in government who need to cover their errors is that hindsight is easier than foresight. They contend not only that they were ignorant as to the course of events but that everybody was ignorant, a proposition that is so obviously false that there would be no need to take the official apologists seriously were not the effects of their lack of prescience so tragic for this country.

An investigation of the CIA and other intelligence agencies, going back to 1939 if necessary, might give us a clue to this lack of sound judgment. For instance, if we did not have advance information on Pearl Harbor, why not? If we did not know that the North Koreans planned to attack South Korea, why not? If we did not know that the Chinese Communists would take up the war in November 1950, why not? If we did not know that Syngman Rhee would release Korean prisoners of war, why not? If we have no advance information on the Berlin and Czechoslovakia strikes, why not? If we did not know that our own agencies were supporting Italian Socialists, thus helping to bring on the defeat of the De Gasperi government, why not?

These are routine matters with which intelligence organizations concern themselves constantly. It is their only reason for existence. An intelligence organization is only as valuable as the competence of its evaluators of data. If they are dumb-clucks, they will reject the truth, pursuing their private prejudices against provable facts. If the set-up is such that a man's job depends upon his agreeing with the policies of those who employ him, irrespective of the truth, he will never find the truth.

Charles A. Lindbergh was pilloried and his public life destroyed because he evaluated information at his command correctly and with great wisdom. During the debate preceding World War II, with amazing prescience and wisdom, he foresaw what is so true in 1953. His words were prophetic and whenever one of the bureaucrats tells me that hindsight is easier than foresight, I ask him about Lindbergh's foresight, as I do about Herbert Hoover's.

In 1948, Lindbergh wrote:

". . . For five years, at home and abroad, I spoke, wrote, and argued against a fratricidal war. I advocated that democratic nations stand by and arm while Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia fought out their totalitarian ideas. With Hitler and Stalin wishing to exterminate each other, and with Nazi forces already pointed eastward, it seemed to me the greatest folly to draw German guns to Western Europe against a France and England unprepared. After fighting began, I pleaded that a negotiated peace between Allied and Axis powers would leave free peoples stronger than a victory based on unconditional surrender . . ."

In 1953, it is impossible to question the correctness of Lindbergh's judgment in 1938 and 1939. What he then said has proved to have been a sound judgment of what American policy should have been. But when he spoke these ideas, he was pilloried by those whose propaganda did not fit the truth. As it is, we are now bogged down into the marsh of permanent militarism, with the need of constantly spending more of our earnings in a scientific arms race with Soviet Russia.

Concerning this, Lindbergh wrote in 1948:

"We are in the grip of a scientific materialism, caught in a vicious cycle where our security today seems to depend on regimentation and weapons which will ruin us tomorrow. I believe the values we are creating and the standards we are now following will lead to the end of our civilization, and that if we do not control our science by a higher moral force, it will destroy us with its materialistic values, its rocket aircraft, and its atom bombs—as it has already destroyed large parts of Europe."

Can anyone question the foresight in that statement now that we and the Russians are building weapons which can destroy our civilization and theirs? Who is to hurl the hydrogen bomb on whom first? That is the issue of our generation and it is a product of a war that history will establish was fought for no sure goal and need not have been fought at all.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson has brought back from his trip around the world an impression about the attitude of many of our allies toward the United States which it is not clear how much he himself shares, but his challenge to the Eisenhower administration to line itself up with what looks like an appeasement policy in world affairs is unmistakable.

The presidential nominee of 1952 on the Democratic ticket is quoted in a copyrighted interview in "Newsweek" as saying:

"We must decide whether we are trying to destroy communism or trying to achieve a peaceful coexistence with it. The rest of the free world is alarmed by our seeming inflexibility. There's a suspicion that our objective is to exterminate communism. They see little prospect of obliterating communism except very gradually or by war — and they don't want war."

Viewpoint Distorted

Mr. Stevenson makes the fatal error of assuming that communism as a philosophy or as a social system is under attack by the United States, when the truth is the real enemy is Communist imperialism. He forgets we are allied with Communist Yugoslavia. It is the tyrannical totalitarianism in Moscow — not some theory of economics — which menaces the peace of the world and keeps hundreds of millions of persons in bondage.

The delusion that the free world can appease or can "negotiate" any kind of settlement with a group of evil men who have lost all sense of honor and morality still prevails in many parts of the world and indeed in this hemisphere. Lester Pearson, Canada's representative in the United Nations General Assembly, delivered a speech at Dartmouth College in which he, too, made the erroneous assumption that American policy for the last several years has been aimed merely at the destruction of communism as an intellectual philosophy.

Actually, this is a misrepresentation and distortion of the point of view of the American government, as a rereading of the speech by President Eisenhower before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16 will corroborate.

Mr. Stevenson says our allies "need convincing that we are more interested in settlements by negotiation, in reducing tensions, and in stability, than in force and military action," and he added that the West may have to live in a world with communism for a long time, "perhaps for many years."

The former governor of Illinois says the administration here "must begin to talk to the world in terms of what we are for, rather than what we are against — merely being against communism is old stuff in Europe and will win few hearts in Asia."

This is a sad commentary on all the millions of dollars spent by the Truman - Acheson administration for information services and Voice of America broadcasts abroad. It is a tragic record of the failure of Europeans to take note of most of America's public statements since the Korean War broke out. Evidently, to take Mr. Stevenson's analysis of world opinion, the United States has simply been ranting against an economic philosophy and this is "old stuff." Has Mr. Stevenson read of the free food given away to East Germans recently? Has he read about the promise of President Eisenhower on April 16 to spend for peaceful purposes the billions saved on armament when Soviet Russia adopts the ways of peace — billions that will go toward alleviating poverty and hunger in the world?

Disservice To Country

One would think from reading what is being said about the United States abroad that America is a bellicose, ungenerous nation, bent on making everybody think alike on intellectual doctrine, and that communism as a philosophy is about all the American government has been opposing. It's a palpable piece of propaganda which has been spread around the world about the United States and its aims.

When Mr. Stevenson now calls for a clarification of our aims, he is doing a disservice to his own party as well as to the present administration. For the aims of this country have been made very clear under both the Democratic and Republican administrations in the eight years since World War II ended. What is really wrong is that so-called statesmen abroad in both Europe and Asia are being bluffed by the tyrants in Russia, and are afraid to stand up firmly against despotism. So they call instead either for "neutralism" or "appeasement," or they avoid the issue by talking about communism as a philosophy, or they adopt the Moscow jargon about "peaceful coexistence."

The American government isn't spending billions to build an army, navy and air force just to fight a so-called intellectual doctrine. The 25,000 American dead and 115,000 wounded in Korea weren't fighting an academic battle on the merits of an economic philosophy. They were fighting the real enemy of freedom in the world — Communist imperialism and acts of aggression.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Just about this minute 50 years ago, a couple of brothers named Wright were completing a glider strong enough to hold a 12 horsepower motor and themselves. They were fixing to take the whole she-bang to Kitty Hawk, N. C., where the winds were good and the sand soft to fall on.

Today the American aircraft industry does an eight billion dollar a year business, and is the nation's second largest manufacturing employer, with 750,000 on the payrolls. Last year 1,269 commercial airliners carried 27,000,000 passengers more than 16,000,000,000 passenger miles. Its 234 overseas planes carried 300,000 more passengers last year than were carried by steamships.

The Air Force Materiel Command's yearly purchases are greater than those of General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Telephone and Telegraph, U. S. Steel and duPont.

The Wright plane's first flight covered 120 feet. The wingspan of the B-36 is twice that. Horsepower in a single engine has been stepped up from 12 to 10,000. Jimmy Doolittle, chairman of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Powered Flight, sees an impending construction of U. S. commercial jetliners capable of flying across the country in four hours, and operational jet fighters with speeds beyond 1,000 mph and engines developing the equivalent of 25,000 horsepower.

The Wrights worked hard in their bicycle shop. So did Donald Douglas in the rear end of a barber shop, and Glenn Martin in an abandoned church. The latter two lived on to see the day when incredible "electric brains" were needed to design supersonic craft, and then Boeing spent 3,000,000 man-hours of engineering to create the B-52. If three aeronautical engineers had been assigned to do this job and worked 40 hours a week without vacation, they, too, could have produced a B-52—if they had started the job 13 years before Columbus discovered America. And had an "in" with Ferdinand and Isabella.

The next time you think you see something on the road while driving at night, please feel important. Do you realize that you are the subject of a heavy-domed paper written by Alfred L. Moseley, of the Harvard School of Public Health, and delivered recently in Cleveland before the American Psychological Association, division of industrial psychology?

The paper is called "Hypnogogic Hallucinations in Relation to Industrial Accidents," and it deals with some beauts.

A sample truck driver whose vehicle overturned explained that he was trying to avoid hitting a calf that wasn't there. Prof. Moseley found out something else about this character: "One of the indications of his sleep state is that he sees herds of mules in bright shining harness crossing the roadway in front of him. This necessitates that he make a sudden stop."

This Kinsey of truck drivers gained other confessions:

"I never do see deer on the road until after I pass a deer-crossing sign . . . And so I make a sudden stop to keep from hitting the animals. They could turn over a rig (these non-existent deer)."

An another told Moseley: "Sometimes, just before sunrise when the sky is just beginning to get light and I'm very sleepy and having a hard time trying to stay awake suddenly out in front of me I see the whole area of the windshield covered with red lines that look like millions and millions of red spiders . . . I've seen those spiders over and over again."

Jeeves, put my Velie up on blocks for the winter!

The most spectacular "benefit" ever, I suspect, will be "Hospital Star Night" next Sunday. It will run simultaneously at Belmont race track and Roosevelt raceway, the trotters' hangout. About 60,000 will attend, to help the expansion program of 13 non-profit hospitals on Long Island. The 40 stars of the show will be helicoptered between the two tracks, and the show will be opened by "sonic booms" from jet planes high in the night sky. Makes one a bit faint.

Mr. Chief Justice Warren?

The death of Chief Justice Vinson inevitably renews speculation on the future of Governor Earl Warren of California. Warren had stated on September 3 that he would not be a candidate for election to a fourth term in California. Immediately a White House spokesman had announced that the first vacancy on the Supreme Court would go to him if he wanted it. Though Governor Warren had turned down a post in the Eisenhower cabinet, the understanding in Washington was that he would accept appointment to the Supreme Court. The formal appointment is not likely to be made, however, until Congress returns to Washington.

There is precedent for making a recess appointment to the court, and to the office of chief justice. President Washington in 1795 appointed as Chief Justice John Rutledge of South Carolina, a former associate justice but not then on the court, the Senate then being in recess. Rutledge actually served as chief justice for one court-term. When Congress reconvened in December of 1795, the formal nomination was rejected, but not on the ground that the appointment had been made during the Senate's recess.

By Article II, Section 3 of the Constitution the President is empowered to "nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, . . . (to) appoint . . . judges of the Supreme Court . . ." The same section provides: "The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during a recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session."

When the Supreme Court convened in October 1938 there was a vacancy caused by the death three months earlier of Justice Cardozo. President Roosevelt delayed filling the vacant seat until Congress reassembled the following January so that the new justice could be confirmed before ascending the bench. The nomination, which then went to Felix Frankfurter, was duly confirmed.

President Roosevelt had no opportunity to make an appointment to the Supreme Court from his inauguration in 1933 until the retirement of Justice VanDeventer in 1937 created a vacancy. His first appointment, which went to Senator Black, aroused a storm of controversy, but Black eventually was confirmed. When President Eisenhower took office in January, he was faced with a Supreme Court of which only one member, Justice Burton, was a Republican.

Governor Warren has a long legal background. He was admitted to the California bar in 1914 and was in active practice until 1938. When first elected governor in 1942, he was serving as state attorney general. He has been vice chairman of the criminal law section of the American Bar Association since 1938, and has been a member of its house of delegates.

While campaigning for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1952 Governor Warren established himself as favoring social progress as distinct from, and to avert, socialism—broad welfare measures if not paternalistic nor detrimental to private enterprise. He argued that the GOP would again be defeated if it followed "the extremists of the right." Specifically, he advocated: unemployment insurance, aid to farmers, government aid for housing "when necessary," medical care available to everybody "on reasonable terms," bipartisanship in foreign policy, world cooperation through the United Nations.

The Expropriators

Washington has formally protested to Guatemala's communist-influenced government over expropriation of 234,000 acres of United Fruit Company property. Taking 40 per cent of the land bought, paid for and deveoped by the company at a cost of more than $50,000,000, Guatemala is "compensating" United Fruit with a mere $60,000 worth of dubious 3 per cent bonds!

American owners of property in foreign lands have been taking it on the chin repeatedly, while Washington "protests"—and later gives money to the long-fingered foreign governments. First Mexico expropriated oil lands and refineries owned by Americans—and ruined the Mexican oil industry. Last year Bolivia expropriated the Patino tin mines, largely owned by Americans.

American companies in foreign lands have been paying high wages and showing much regard for the health, housing and welfare of their employees. Clever politicians of communist hue twisted these facts into campaign arguments, maintaining that if these foreign companies were not exploiting the countries in which they operate they could not pay such high wages!

Thus spreading communism threatens to dry up the source of foreign investment when more of it is badly needed. Foreign aid by the United States must be eliminated, and there seems to be little prospect of an expansion of foreign trade great enough to put national economies on a sound footing. Foreign investment in backward countries will be needed to fill the gap.

But there will be little American capital for investment in foreign countries if the properties are to be seized by communists.

Morale And The "Brass"

What is causing morale among the Army's officer corps to decline, leading to such worrisome trends as the extremely high rate of resignations from West Point? What causes people to group all high ranking officers into the one rather derogatory collective, "brass?"

These are questions which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new Army chief of staff, wants answered and he is setting a couple of surveys in force—so help us—to uncover the reasons. This lack of respect for the officer corps was the main topic of discussion at the general's first Pentagon news conference since assuming the top Army post.

The general said he was almost sure he knew some of the underlying reasons for lowered morale among servicemen. He puts his finger specifically on the loss of free medical attention by the dependents of service personnel and the gradual loss of commissionary privileges.

But the general seems to have taken himself too seriously in complaining about the use of the word "brass" as applied to higher officers. The word "brass" seems to be applied more in the form of affection than dislike, and the general is displaying unwarranted sensitivity.

When the general worries about ways and means of making the services more attractive to young men, he is on the right track. He could find some of his answers in the basic sociological measurements of the American temperament. Young Americans are tough minded and don't go for being punched into molds. But they will turn and fight when the issues are explained to them.

Safe Paint

The most common cause of lead poisoning in children is chewing paint on cribs and other furniture, window sills, and toys. Many cases also are traceable to eating painted wall plaster and nibbling on paint flakes that peel off old walls and are picked up from the floor or ground. We cannot blame the young ones because at certain ages it is natural for them to put anything and everything into the mouth. Occasionally the practice continues in the form of a perverted appetite (pica). At any rate, there is enough lead poisoning from this source to warrant doing something about it.

The federal food, drug, and cosmetic act is designed to protect the consumer against toxic materials used in coloring, preserving, or adulterating foods, drugs, and cosmetics. When this act was passed the lawmakers neglected to take the habits of children into consideration and as a result lead poisoning continues. The New York board of health, for example, recently reported 15 cases of lead poisoning of which 11 were among children with four deaths in the first six months of 1953.

The national bureau of standards has attempted to rectify the situation by designating certain colors as being safe for use in coating children's toys and in printing ink, colored paper, paint sets, chalk, wax crayons, colored clays, and many similar items. Its specifications are utilized as the basis for preparing nontoxic colors and the pigments contain less than one to 200,000 parts of lead. Such coloring materials are made principally from coal tar intermediate products and are precipitated on a lead-free base. Vegetable dyes also are nontoxic but the coal tar nontoxic colors are preferred for commercial purposes because they are more practical. But the manufacturers are not required by law to use the nontoxic pigments in painting toys, furniture, and inside walls. The only way to avoid trouble, therefore, is to look at the label as it is impossible to watch the wee ones closely enough to keep them from putting things in the mouth. In some communities, however, regulations have been adopted on the paints used in classrooms and the interior of other buildings.

However, looking at the label may not give the desired information. Some individuals may not know, for example, that chrome yellow, orange, and green are particularly high in lead chromate. This is the reasoning behind the advice of some authorities who advise that yellow, orange, and green be avoided in the playroom just on the outside chance that the pigment contains lead chromate. Another hazard centers about the common practice of repainting toys, furniture, and other objects. I'll venture to say that nine out of 10 persons who do refinishing in the home never give a second thought to the lead content of the paint used.

The manifestations of lead poisoning vary with the amount ingested and range from fatigue, anemia, and constipation to colic or encephalitis. Lead is a tricky substance in that small quantities accumulate in the system and symptoms will not appear until a certain level is reached. There are many laboratory tests to help in diagnosis. The content of lead in the urine and blood, for example, can be measured accurately; lead is deposited in long bones and when there is X-ray evidence of increased density of the growing ends this is good evidence that the body is saturated.

Elegy In The School Yard

DREW PEARSON on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Of The Navy Bucks The Brass; Farmer Boss Of The Navy Believes In Fair Deal For Subordinates; Stassen Fires Men Who Scored Highest In His Test.

WASHINGTON—When Bob Anderson of Vernon, Texas, was appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Eisenhower, most of the top brass in the Navy Department figured he would be a pushover.

In the first place, the admirals are pretty good at soft-soaping, sometimes even pushing around their civilian bosses. They have been doing this almost ever since the days of Josephus Daniels, who bucked the admirals on almost everything—from liquor aboard battleships to proposing more opportunity for advancement from the ranks.

In the second place, Anderson is a farmer. True, he is a big-scale farmer, having been manager of the Waggoner 500,000-acre ranch in Texas, where he actually uses helicopters to herd mavericks out of scrub oak. Even so, the Admirals knew the new Navy secretary's nearest approach to battleships was nothing much more than a mud scow on the Brazos River. So they prepared to sit back and run the Navy pretty much as they pleased.

They have experienced, however, a considerable surprise. For the new secretary has started to rein them in with the firmness of a bronco-busting cowboy on his ranch.

When he heard that Capt. George Hyman Rickover, expert on the atomic submarine, had been passed over by the Navy Selection Board for his promotion to admiral because of his religion, Secretary Anderson acted fast. Since he has the power to reject selection board recommendations, he quietly let word drop that Capt. Rickover's name would have to be among those recommended on the next go-around or else other admirals might not get promoted. The admirals took the hint and Rickover now wears the two stars of a rear admiral.

Key West Strip Tease

Again when this column exposed the manner in which certain brass hats planned to railroad their junior officer, Lieut. Comdr. Jerry McDaniel, at Key West, Fla., Anderson also stepped in. McDaniel was jailed for 42 days for staging a strip tease charity benefit at Key West, though some of his superior officers appeared to be quite cognizant of what he was doing.

Anderson has now issued notice of reprimand to Admiral Irving Duke for trying to make McDaniel the scapegoat, and has taken action against other superior officers named in this column.

On another occasion, Anderson called in his Bureau Chiefs, told them certain budget cuts were necessary and asked them to submit figures to achieve these cuts. One Bureau Chief, Admiral Homer N. Wallin of the Bureau of Ships, did not take this seriously. Result: Admiral Wallin was transferred to Seattle.

Secretary Anderson never lost his temper, had no unpleasantness with Admiral Wallin. But he made his point so clear that Admiral Wallin himself requested the transfer.

NOTE 1—Congressman Charles Bennett of Florida had a friendly talk with the Secretary of the Navy regarding the Key West strip tease act, urged a higher standard of morality in the Navy. Anderson vigorously concurred.

NOTE 2—Another recent civilian executive who was not afraid to buck top Navy brass was undersecretary of the Navy Francis Whitehair.

Stassen's Phony Test

Harold Stassen's big hullabaloo about an aptitude test to pick the best men to stay in government turned out to be a wonderful publicity gag, but otherwise the biggest hoax Washington has seen in a long time.

Inside fact is that Stassen's aides were drawing up the list of employes they wanted to fire at exactly the same time the so-called scientific test was being given. And after the tests were taken, Stassen, believe it or not, fired the men who scored the highest marks.

These included top officials. With one or two exceptions, the men with the lower marks were kept.

In the Near Eastern division of the technical cooperative assistance program, for instance, Stassen fired 17 out of the 20 top officials who got the highest marks. He fired the administrator for the Near East, Reeseman Fryer, the assistant administrator for the Near East, and the chiefs of every country except Israel and Iran.

With Eisenhower worrying over what's happening in Morocco, Tunisia, and Africa generally, where vitally important U. S. air bases are in jeopardy, this could be highly dangerous firing. These areas have come to look upon the technical assistance program as one of their biggest aids, and it has won many friends for the U. S. A. —in an area where friends have been scarce.

In the Asia division of TCA, Stassen also fired the five men who scored the highest. This again is an area about which the administration has been worried. The worry was expressed no later than last week in a speech before the American Legion by John Foster Dulles.

Ike's Pledge

The men who scored highest in this division were the assistant administrator, Haldore Hanson, who had been accused by McCarthy but was cleared; Deputy Administrator John Provinse; Charles Wolf, chief economist; Wilfred Williams, chief adviser; Gustav Papanek, No. 2 economist.

No wonder Chairman Rees of the House Civil Service Committee, a staunch Republican, issued a blast at the manner in which men with years of government service and Civil Service rating behind them were being fired.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

There Were Wise Men

The defense of those in government who need to cover their errors is that hindsight is easier than foresight. They contend not only that they were ignorant as to the course of events but that everybody was ignorant, a proposition that is so obviously false that there would be no need to take the official apologists seriously were not the effects of their lack of prescience so tragic for this country.

An investigation of the CIA and other intelligence agencies, going back to 1939 if necessary, might give us a clue to this lack of sound judgment. For instance, if we did not have advance information on Pearl Harbor, why not? If we did not know that the North Koreans planned to attack South Korea, why not? If we did not know that the Chinese Communists would take up the war in November 1950, why not? If we did not know that Syngman Rhee would release Korean prisoners of war, why not? If we have no advance information on the Berlin and Czechoslovakia strikes, why not? If we did not know that our own agencies were supporting Italian Socialists, thus helping to bring on the defeat of the De Gasperi government, why not?

These are routine matters with which intelligence organizations concern themselves constantly. It is their only reason for existence. An intelligence organization is only as valuable as the competence of its evaluators of data. If they are dumb-clucks, they will reject the truth, pursuing their private prejudices against provable facts. If the set-up is such that a man's job depends upon his agreeing with the policies of those who employ him, irrespective of the truth, he will never find the truth.

Charles A. Lindbergh was pilloried and his public life destroyed because he evaluated information at his command correctly and with great wisdom. During the debate preceding World War II, with amazing prescience and wisdom, he foresaw what is so true in 1953. His words were prophetic and whenever one of the bureaucrats tells me that hindsight is easier than foresight, I ask him about Lindbergh's foresight, as I do about Herbert Hoover's.

In 1948, Lindbergh wrote:

". . . For five years, at home and abroad, I spoke, wrote, and argued against a fratricidal war. I advocated that democratic nations stand by and arm while Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia fought out their totalitarian ideas. With Hitler and Stalin wishing to exterminate each other, and with Nazi forces already pointed eastward, it seemed to me the greatest folly to draw German guns to Western Europe against a France and England unprepared. After fighting began, I pleaded that a negotiated peace between Allied and Axis powers would leave free peoples stronger than a victory based on unconditional surrender . . ."

In 1953, it is impossible to question the correctness of Lindbergh's judgment in 1938 and 1939. What he then said has proved to have been a sound judgment of what American policy should have been. But when he spoke these ideas, he was pilloried by those whose propaganda did not fit the truth. As it is, we are now bogged down into the marsh of permanent militarism, with the need of constantly spending more of our earnings in a scientific arms race with Soviet Russia.

Concerning this, Lindbergh wrote in 1948:

"We are in the grip of a scientific materialism, caught in a vicious cycle where our security today seems to depend on regimentation and weapons which will ruin us tomorrow. I believe the values we are creating and the standards we are now following will lead to the end of our civilization, and that if we do not control our science by a higher moral force, it will destroy us with its materialistic values, its rocket aircraft, and its atom bombs—as it has already destroyed large parts of Europe."

Can anyone question the foresight in that statement now that we and the Russians are building weapons which can destroy our civilization and theirs? Who is to hurl the hydrogen bomb on whom first? That is the issue of our generation and it is a product of a war that history will establish was fought for no sure goal and need not have been fought at all.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson has brought back from his trip around the world an impression about the attitude of many of our allies toward the United States which it is not clear how much he himself shares, but his challenge to the Eisenhower administration to line itself up with what looks like an appeasement policy in world affairs is unmistakable.

The presidential nominee of 1952 on the Democratic ticket is quoted in a copyrighted interview in "Newsweek" as saying:

"We must decide whether we are trying to destroy communism or trying to achieve a peaceful coexistence with it. The rest of the free world is alarmed by our seeming inflexibility. There's a suspicion that our objective is to exterminate communism. They see little prospect of obliterating communism except very gradually or by war — and they don't want war."

Viewpoint Distorted

Mr. Stevenson makes the fatal error of assuming that communism as a philosophy or as a social system is under attack by the United States, when the truth is the real enemy is Communist imperialism. He forgets we are allied with Communist Yugoslavia. It is the tyrannical totalitarianism in Moscow — not some theory of economics — which menaces the peace of the world and keeps hundreds of millions of persons in bondage.

The delusion that the free world can appease or can "negotiate" any kind of settlement with a group of evil men who have lost all sense of honor and morality still prevails in many parts of the world and indeed in this hemisphere. Lester Pearson, Canada's representative in the United Nations General Assembly, delivered a speech at Dartmouth College in which he, too, made the erroneous assumption that American policy for the last several years has been aimed merely at the destruction of communism as an intellectual philosophy.

Actually, this is a misrepresentation and distortion of the point of view of the American government, as a rereading of the speech by President Eisenhower before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16 will corroborate.

Mr. Stevenson says our allies "need convincing that we are more interested in settlements by negotiation, in reducing tensions, and in stability, than in force and military action," and he added that the West may have to live in a world with communism for a long time, "perhaps for many years."

The former governor of Illinois says the administration here "must begin to talk to the world in terms of what we are for, rather than what we are against — merely being against communism is old stuff in Europe and will win few hearts in Asia."

This is a sad commentary on all the millions of dollars spent by the Truman - Acheson administration for information services and Voice of America broadcasts abroad. It is a tragic record of the failure of Europeans to take note of most of America's public statements since the Korean War broke out. Evidently, to take Mr. Stevenson's analysis of world opinion, the United States has simply been ranting against an economic philosophy and this is "old stuff." Has Mr. Stevenson read of the free food given away to East Germans recently? Has he read about the promise of President Eisenhower on April 16 to spend for peaceful purposes the billions saved on armament when Soviet Russia adopts the ways of peace — billions that will go toward alleviating poverty and hunger in the world?

Disservice To Country

One would think from reading what is being said about the United States abroad that America is a bellicose, ungenerous nation, bent on making everybody think alike on intellectual doctrine, and that communism as a philosophy is about all the American government has been opposing. It's a palpable piece of propaganda which has been spread around the world about the United States and its aims.

When Mr. Stevenson now calls for a clarification of our aims, he is doing a disservice to his own party as well as to the present administration. For the aims of this country have been made very clear under both the Democratic and Republican administrations in the eight years since World War II ended. What is really wrong is that so-called statesmen abroad in both Europe and Asia are being bluffed by the tyrants in Russia, and are afraid to stand up firmly against despotism. So they call instead either for "neutralism" or "appeasement," or they avoid the issue by talking about communism as a philosophy, or they adopt the Moscow jargon about "peaceful coexistence."

The American government isn't spending billions to build an army, navy and air force just to fight a so-called intellectual doctrine. The 25,000 American dead and 115,000 wounded in Korea weren't fighting an academic battle on the merits of an economic philosophy. They were fighting the real enemy of freedom in the world — Communist imperialism and acts of aggression.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Just about this minute 50 years ago, a couple of brothers named Wright were completing a glider strong enough to hold a 12 horsepower motor and themselves. They were fixing to take the whole she-bang to Kitty Hawk, N. C., where the winds were good and the sand soft to fall on.

Today the American aircraft industry does an eight billion dollar a year business, and is the nation's second largest manufacturing employer, with 750,000 on the payrolls. Last year 1,269 commercial airliners carried 27,000,000 passengers more than 16,000,000,000 passenger miles. Its 234 overseas planes carried 300,000 more passengers last year than were carried by steamships.

The Air Force Materiel Command's yearly purchases are greater than those of General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Telephone and Telegraph, U. S. Steel and duPont.

The Wright plane's first flight covered 120 feet. The wingspan of the B-36 is twice that. Horsepower in a single engine has been stepped up from 12 to 10,000. Jimmy Doolittle, chairman of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Powered Flight, sees an impending construction of U. S. commercial jetliners capable of flying across the country in four hours, and operational jet fighters with speeds beyond 1,000 mph and engines developing the equivalent of 25,000 horsepower.

The Wrights worked hard in their bicycle shop. So did Donald Douglas in the rear end of a barber shop, and Glenn Martin in an abandoned church. The latter two lived on to see the day when incredible "electric brains" were needed to design supersonic craft, and then Boeing spent 3,000,000 man-hours of engineering to create the B-52. If three aeronautical engineers had been assigned to do this job and worked 40 hours a week without vacation, they, too, could have produced a B-52—if they had started the job 13 years before Columbus discovered America. And had an "in" with Ferdinand and Isabella.

The next time you think you see something on the road while driving at night, please feel important. Do you realize that you are the subject of a heavy-domed paper written by Alfred L. Moseley, of the Harvard School of Public Health, and delivered recently in Cleveland before the American Psychological Association, division of industrial psychology?

The paper is called "Hypnogogic Hallucinations in Relation to Industrial Accidents," and it deals with some beauts.

A sample truck driver whose vehicle overturned explained that he was trying to avoid hitting a calf that wasn't there. Prof. Moseley found out something else about this character: "One of the indications of his sleep state is that he sees herds of mules in bright shining harness crossing the roadway in front of him. This necessitates that he make a sudden stop."

This Kinsey of truck drivers gained other confessions:

"I never do see deer on the road until after I pass a deer-crossing sign . . . And so I make a sudden stop to keep from hitting the animals. They could turn over a rig (these non-existent deer)."

An another told Moseley: "Sometimes, just before sunrise when the sky is just beginning to get light and I'm very sleepy and having a hard time trying to stay awake suddenly out in front of me I see the whole area of the windshield covered with red lines that look like millions and millions of red spiders . . . I've seen those spiders over and over again."

Jeeves, put my Velie up on blocks for the winter!

The most spectacular "benefit" ever, I suspect, will be "Hospital Star Night" next Sunday. It will run simultaneously at Belmont race track and Roosevelt raceway, the trotters' hangout. About 60,000 will attend, to help the expansion program of 13 non-profit hospitals on Long Island. The 40 stars of the show will be helicoptered between the two tracks, and the show will be opened by "sonic booms" from jet planes high in the night sky. Makes one a bit faint.

Political Science Association Head Raps "Political Quacks"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Dr. Pendleton Herring, president of the American Political Science Association, tonight flailed "political quacks" who he said try to make careers for themselves by exploiting public fears of communism.

In a speech prepared for the association's annual meeting, Herring said it is the duty of political scientists to search out, analyze and lay bare political realities.

"As the public understands such matters more clearly," he said, "political quacks should become less persuasive with the voters."

Then, without naming names, he continued:

"We now see such men asking careers for themselves through exploitation of public concern with the Communist contagion. The theory of 'government by conspiracy' can spread a virus of mutual mistrust more enervating and difficult to eradicate than the Red rash now so worrisome."

The association's banquet attracted some 25 diplomats, as well as nearly 2,000 professors and students of politics. Herring is being succeeded as president of the private research organization by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Negro educator who heads the United Nations department of trusteeships.

Other developments at the opening of the three-day session:

1. Preliminary findings of an association study of the various methods of picking presidential nominating convention delegates were made public. The report said the procedure followed in 1952 was "one of intolerable confusion" but that significant changes in primary laws may come before 1960 through discussion and televising of the 1956 conventions.

2. Dr. Paul T. David of the Brookings Institution, who headed the convention delegate research project in cooperation with the association, told a news conference the 1952 conventions made each excellent presidential candidate choices that some of the steam was taken out of the drive for a national primary law.

3. Two out of three American voters identify themselves with the political parties of their parents, said a paper on "Voter Motivation" read to a panel session by Dr. Angus Campbell who, with Drs. Gerald Gurin and Warren E. Miller, collaborated on a study of the 1952 vote for the survey research center of the University of Michigan.

4. Dr. Charles Malik, the Lebanese ambassador to the United States, told a morning session that the present age imposes "significant limitations" upon fundamental democracy and sovereignty of the people. He called for greater trust between the people and their leadership in these "anxious" times.

Herring, in calling for greater public knowledge and understanding of present-day problems, said the "ultimate protection from the demagogue and the conspirator rests in the capacity of each citizen to weigh and to judge."

"A thoughtful and hard-headed approach to affairs governmental constitutes the base upon which security from foreign threats is erected," he declared.

He said the practices of "foreign dictators and domestic demagogues indicate that both draw their strength by playing upon ignorance, fear, and malice."

Miss Patricia Ann Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Murphy, Sr., 467 Goethe Street, is to become the bride of Robert Dean Wright, son of Ira Wright, Bush Addition, Bellefonte, Pa., and the late Mrs. Anna Wright, tonight.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at 7 p. m. in St. Luke's Lutheran Church with Rev. H. Hall Sharp, D. D., officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the church decorations, against a background of ferns.

Business Fears No Slump, Looks For 'New Money'

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Business is out this month actively looking for "new money." The would-be borrowers show nary a sign of fearing a slump and being ready to draw into their shells.

Corporate debt has about doubled in the last seven years as business seeks new money to finance the building of plants and buying of equipment. It also borrows because inflation and growth have boosted its need of working capital.

After the summer lull, September is seeing an active revival of offerings of new corporate securities. Prime example is American Telephone & Telegraph's plan to seek a record 625 million dollars this fall.

New capital issues (excluding refunding) by corporations this year apparently are going to just about equal last year's record total of nearly nine billion dollars, the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago predicts.

In a survey, the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission foresee a slight letdown by year's end in the present record pace of business spending for plant and equipment.

"Capital outlays may fall from current peak levels," the Chicago bank agrees, "but if they do it will probably be because earnings are down — a requirement and source of financing that usually rise and fall together."

Business has been financing its expansion more by using its retained earnings and its increasing depreciation reserves than through issuing new stocks and bonds, however.

A Federal Reserve Board survey of 300 large corporations shows that in the last five years bond and stock financing has raised only one — fifth of the total money spent. Profits put back into the business and depreciation charges furnished three-fifths. Out and out borrowing supplied the rest.

The trial of Melvin Robert Edmonson, of Paw Paw, was continued yesterday in Morgan County Circuit Court at Berkeley Springs until the January term of court.

Edmonson was indicted last April on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of the American Legion Home in Paw Paw. When arraigned several days ago, Edmonson pleaded not guilty.

Red Ship Fired On British Launch Without Warning, Survivors Say

HONG KONG, Friday, Sept. 11 (AP)—Survivors from a Royal Navy launch told yesterday how a small Chinese Red warship opened fire without warning, killing or wounding all but 3 of the 14 aboard.

A navy source, quoting the survivors, said that the corvette scored 12 direct hits in the unprovoked attack Wednesday on the 72-foot launch in international waters about 20 miles southwest of Hong Kong.

A reserve captain aboard on his vacation and five seamen were killed and the skipper and four others were wounded.

Survivors said the stricken launch, No. 1223, never had a chance to return the fire before the corvette, its machine guns and four-inch guns smoking, turned away. The corvette, had vanished by the time the British destroyer Concord arrived in response to a distress call.

The lightly armed little launch docked at this British crown colony yesterday in great secrecy. The navy refused to let newsmen near the launch.

With all senior officers and ratings disabled, the launch was brought limping in by Leading Seaman Gordon R. Cleaver, one of the three aboard who escaped unhurt.

It was believed the navy's secrecy was due to the tense situation. It appeared obvious the British took a grave view of this bloodiest clash involving Britain since China's civil war.

The Admiralty in London announced that Vice Adm. Sir Charles Lambe, commander in chief of Britain's Far East station, had flown to Hong Kong for an urgent investigation. The Foreign Office called for a full report.

The launch was on its usual anti-smuggling and defense patrol when it encountered the Chinese corvette Wednesday afternoon, the navy said. The encounter came seven miles southwest of Lin Ting island, which is 12 miles southwest of Hong Kong.

The corvette, of the type which patrols the Pearl River estuary leading down to Lin Ting, was far too powerful for the launch, which was armed only with a 40-millimeter gun forward and a 20-millimeter gun aft.

House-To-House Tax Dodger Search Halted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews today ordered a halt to any new house-to-house canvasses by revenue agents in a search for tax dodgers.

At the same time, Andrews directed all field offices to report on results and public reaction to door-knocking campaigns already started.

Revenue officials said these reports will be studied to determine a uniform policy for a new national canvass to find people who don't file tax returns.

The house-to-house or business-to-business canvass already has been started in New England and Nebraska, and spread with variations to other points. It has drawn some criticism about "snooping" and invasion of citizens' privacy.

Revenue officials said reports from field offices will be examined to find:

1. Whether the personal canvass is paying off in tax collections.

2. Whether the public reaction is so unfavorable it should be discontinued.

They added, however, that all reports so far indicate the campaigns have been well received generally, although there have been a few complaints.

The field reports will determine whether the national canvass should be a door-to-door type or of some other nature. Officials suggested that city directories, telephone listings, lists of business licenses, etc., could be used without subjecting so many taxpayers to a personal interview.

Andrews, in a letter to Rep. Morano (R-Conn) and some other critics, recently said agents making the door-to-door checks have "plain instructions against 'snooping' or asking personal questions."

"Our men are instructed to be courteous, impartial and helpful in carrying out this difficult task," the Aug. 26 letter continued. "If the taxpayer is unwilling to talk with the agent, that ends it—he does not harass the taxpayer.

"Now then—is this effort unfair — unwarranted — is it, as some have asked, un-American? we feel not. Rather, we feel it would be un-American and unfair for us to stand by and be a party to encouragement of dishonesty by shirkers."

The letter said a canvass in New England paid "big dividends." Of 8,000 taxpayers questioned in two days, Andrews wrote, 1,150 were found to be delinquent. And the 258 agents, working at a salary cost of $10,250, collected $242,000 in back taxes.

Pending receipt of reports from the field, revenue officials said, they could not list all the points where canvasses have been started, or results in other areas.

Red Ship Fired On British Launch Without Warning, Survivors Say

HONG KONG, Friday, Sept. 11 (AP)—Survivors from a Royal Navy launch told yesterday how a small Chinese Red warship opened fire without warning, killing or wounding all but 3 of the 14 aboard.

A navy source, quoting the survivors, said that the corvette scored 12 direct hits in the unprovoked attack Wednesday on the 72-foot launch in international waters about 20 miles southwest of Hong Kong.

A reserve captain aboard on his vacation and five seamen were killed and the skipper and four others were wounded.

Survivors said the stricken launch, No. 1223, never had a chance to return the fire before the corvette, its machine guns and four-inch guns smoking, turned away. The corvette, had vanished by the time the British destroyer Concord arrived in response to a distress call.

The lightly armed little launch docked at this British crown colony yesterday in great secrecy. The navy refused to let newsmen near the launch.

With all senior officers and ratings disabled, the launch was brought limping in by Leading Seaman Gordon R. Cleaver, one of the three aboard who escaped unhurt.

It was believed the navy's secrecy was due to the tense situation. It appeared obvious the British took a grave view of this bloodiest clash involving Britain since China's civil war.

The Admiralty in London announced that Vice Adm. Sir Charles Lambe, commander in chief of Britain's Far East station, had flown to Hong Kong for an urgent investigation. The Foreign Office called for a full report.

The launch was on its usual anti-smuggling and defense patrol when it encountered the Chinese corvette Wednesday afternoon, the navy said. The encounter came seven miles southwest of Lin Ting island, which is 12 miles southwest of Hong Kong.

The corvette, of the type which patrols the Pearl River estuary leading down to Lin Ting, was far too powerful for the launch, which was armed only with a 40-millimeter gun forward and a 20-millimeter gun aft.

House-To-House Tax Dodger Search Halted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews today ordered a halt to any new house-to-house canvasses by revenue agents in a search for tax dodgers.

At the same time, Andrews directed all field offices to report on results and public reaction to door-knocking campaigns already started.

Revenue officials said these reports will be studied to determine a uniform policy for a new national canvass to find people who don't file tax returns.

The house-to-house or business-to-business canvass already has been started in New England and Nebraska, and spread with variations to other points. It has drawn some criticism about "snooping" and invasion of citizens' privacy.

Revenue officials said reports from field offices will be examined to find:

1. Whether the personal canvass is paying off in tax collections.

2. Whether the public reaction is so unfavorable it should be discontinued.

They added, however, that all reports so far indicate the campaigns have been well received generally, although there have been a few complaints.

The field reports will determine whether the national canvass should be a door-to-door type or of some other nature. Officials suggested that city directories, telephone listings, lists of business licenses, etc., could be used without subjecting so many taxpayers to a personal interview.

Andrews, in a letter to Rep. Morano (R-Conn) and some other critics, recently said agents making the door-to-door checks have "plain instructions against 'snooping' or asking personal questions."

"Our men are instructed to be courteous, impartial and helpful in carrying out this difficult task," the Aug. 26 letter continued. "If the taxpayer is unwilling to talk with the agent, that ends it—he does not harass the taxpayer.

"Now then—is this effort unfair — unwarranted — is it, as some have asked, un-American? we feel not. Rather, we feel it would be un-American and unfair for us to stand by and be a party to encouragement of dishonesty by shirkers."

The letter said a canvass in New England paid "big dividends." Of 8,000 taxpayers questioned in two days, Andrews wrote, 1,150 were found to be delinquent. And the 258 agents, working at a salary cost of $10,250, collected $242,000 in back taxes.

Pending receipt of reports from the field, revenue officials said, they could not list all the points where canvasses have been started, or results in other areas.

Pot Roast And Savory Rice Good Eating

Oh, boy, pot roast and rice! That is what you will hear if you let any of your "tribe" "peak" while you are fixing this beef and rice combination for supper.

The tender grains of white rice are spiked with just the right amount of red pimento and mushroom soup to make a perfect accompaniment for mouth watering pot roast and gravy.

Ingredients:

- 3 pounds beef pot roast
- ⅓ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (1¼ cup) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup water
- 1 finely chopped whole canned pimento
- 4½ cups hot cooked rice

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 4½ cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1½ cups of uncooked rice, 3 cups cold water and 1½ teaspoons salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice hot if you are not ready to use it immediately.

Method: Dip the meat in the flour to generously cover both sides. Sprinkle the meat with the salt and pepper. Melt the fat in a large skillet. Brown the meat first on one side then on the other. Add the onion and water. Cover and cook over low heat for 1½ to 2 hours or until very tender when pierced with a fork. Add more water as necessary to keep from cooking dry. Add the Worcestershire sauce toward the end of the cooking.

To prepare the rice to serve with the pot roast: mix together the mushroom soup and water. Heat until boiling. Add the pimento. Stir in the hot cooked rice.

To serve: have the rice on one end of the platter and place the pot roast on the other. Or, arrange the rice and pot roast as you wish on a hot platter. Pour the gravy which remains in the skillet after cooking the post roast, over the pot roast or serve it in a separate dish.

This recipe makes 6 servings.

Sweet Snacks

When the children come home from school with vigorous appetites, have some food ready for them to "munch on." Pre-sweetened cereals are sure to keep them happy — and they're nutritious, too. There are several to choose from; try pre-sweetened corn flakes, pre-sweetened puffed corn cereal, pre-sweetened rice cereal, or pre-sweetened puffed wheat.

Radio And Television

tortured personality with the tragic grandeur that he absolutely has to have if he is to make any sense at all. As Iago, one of the most malevolent in Shakespeare's great gallery of villains, Walter Matthau, a very good actor, was properly sinister, intelligent and almost good-humored in his villainy, though possibly a little lightweight for such a great evil.

Olive Deering is an old hand at Desdemona, having almost made a career out of playing it on television. She's a good actress, but as a personality I can't quite envisage her arousing such tumultous emotions in so many men as she is supposed to in this play. Of course, that's the trouble with a lot of Shakespearean heroines. There aren't many women around who have the stature and sheer physical magnificence that Shakespeare poetry insist they should have.

I'm happy that the director, Mr. Mann, kept things fairly simple and forthright. Mostly when Shakespeare is tackled on television, the director falls in love with the scenery and you get an endless succession of shots of porticos and drawbridges and great fluted columns and vaulted corridors and so on. Mann, while he had a lot of columns and corridors around to fool with, kept them in the background and kept the cameras on the actors. The lighting was excellent but it wasn't, thank God, fancy. Lighting experts have a tendency to run hogwild when they tangle with Shakespeare, too.

"Othello," in short, was a swell show. Let's do it again some time, Philco, with the same cast.

CHECK BREAKFAST HABITS

Back-to-school time prompts a check-up on breakfast habits. It's a long time from breakfast until the lunch bell rings. It's an especially long time to children who have been snacking between meals during vacation months. Wise mothers make sure children are eating healthful breakfasts that will supply plenty of energy for the school day tasks. A good breakfast includes fruit or fruit juice, cereal, eggs or meat, enriched or whole grain, bread, and milk.

Good Old-Fashioned Beefsteak Pie

Editors Note: This recipe will be demonstrated at the Times-News Cooking School, September 15-18.

For good old fashioned eating treat your family to a Beefsteak Pie. It's prepared of hearty chunks of beef chuck combined with an unusual mixture of herbs and spices — basil, thyme, onion, Worcestershire and nutmeg — and topped off with pastry strips.

Actually a meat pie is a stew that boasts a topping. The topping in this case is flaky pastry cut into strips about one-half inch wide and placed over the meat in a table casserole as the spokes of a wheel.

Biscuits may top off your pie. If you want a novel touch, cut the biscuit dough with a doughnut cutter, then just before serving, slip parsley or pimento strips in the holes. Mashed potatoes forming a ring around the edge of the pie is another choice. Crushed potato chips or cornflakes are still other toppings.

Strips of pastry top this beef steak pie, a combination that provides for plenty of wonderful eating. For a bit unusual touch the chunks of beef are seasoned with basil, thyme and sliced onion and simmered until tender. The stew is then transferred to a table casserole, seasoned with Worcestershire and nutmeg, topped with pastry and baked.

Slow Cook

In preparing beef for the pie, the same as a roast or a steak, slow cooking is necessary. After the meat is browned in lard or drippings, add the water and let the meat slowly simmer (below the boiling stage.) Boiling makes the meat dry and stringy.

A stew may be prepared with or without vegetables. If adding vegetables, cook them tender, but do not overcook. Different combinations of vegetables will add interest to the dish. There are many from which to choose such as cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, onions, celery, green peppers, tomatoes, lima beans, navy or green beans, potatoes, peas, turnips. Choose vegetables with an eye to color, shape, texture and flavor interest.

Nutrition really isn't such a technical or difficult idea, though it seems so to many people. It's just a name that scientists give to the work your body does each day in changing the food you eat into parts of you. "Good" nutrition comes from eating a variety of foods, not eating just one or two kinds. We are fortunate that our country has abundant supplies of the various foods recommended for good nutrition. Those recommended foods are: fruit; vegetables; milk and other dairy products; enriched or whole grain bread, flour and cereals; and meats, poultry, fish and eggs. These foods, in combination, are the basis of a health-giving diet.

Pressure Cooked Beef Tongue

Wash beef tongue. Place on rack in pressure cooker. Add 2 cups water and desired seasonings, such as 2 bay leaves, 6 peppercorns, 6 whole cloves and a quartered onion. (Add 1 tablespoon salt if cooking an unsmoked tongue.) Cover and cook under pressure for approximately 45 minutes. (Consult the instruction book for your pressure cooker to estimate the exact length of time to cook tongue.) Allow the cooker to cool gradually. Remove tongue, peel off skin and remove root ends.

Bargain Meat Buy

Most women like a bargain! Whether it's saving money at the meat counter or at the hat bar, there's something stimulating about pitting one's wits against the budget and coming out ahead.

Beef liver is a three-way bargain for summer meals. It's quick and easy to prepare, it's economical (especially during these days of beef plenty) and it's a rich source of many valuable food nutrients. Who can afford to pass up such a bargain?

One favorite way of cooking beef liver (which may be pan-fried, broiled or braised) is to prepare it in the French manner. To do this, remove outer membrane from liver. Flour liver and fry in a little hot butter or margarine until lightly browned on both sides. Add a little more butter or margarine to the skillet and heat until it turns a light brown. To serve, sprinkle liver with lemon juice, pour a little brown butter over each slice and top with finely chopped parsley.

No Age Limit

There's no age limit when it comes to eating a good breakfast. Everyone, old and young alike, needs this morning beginner for top morning efficiency. Often we forget that elderly persons still need to get their full share of nutrients as does the rest of the family. Breakfast helps give them their start for the day's activities, too, just as it insures the young school-goer's good start.

Olive-Cheese Diamond Sandwiches

¼ cup cream cheese
3 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
Dash salt
5 slices enriched bread
5 teaspoons softened butter or margarine

Combine cream cheese, olives, pimiento, mayonnaise and salt. Cut each slice of bread into 2 (2") diamonds with a cookie cutter. Spread each diamond with ½ teaspoon butter, then with 1½ teaspoons olive-cheese mixture.

Yield: 20 Olive-Cheese Diamond Sandwiches.

Thrifty Team

Serve the cereal and milk team at breakfasts often during September, the month of Better Breakfasts. You'll be glad you took advantage of this nutritious and economical combination, not only for the saving, but because the favorite main dish is just plain good eating.

Fresh Peach Pie

A treat for pie lovers is a juicy fresh peach pie. The golden fruit, piled generously into a flaky crust and partly covered with a pastry lattice, makes a queen of pies.

Because peaches are juicy, a little flour is mixed with the sweetening sugar. As the pie bakes, the flour traps most of the juice and makes it jell.

Even the best peaches usually need something to "point up" their flavor. Lemon juice does a fine job. It doesn't take much lemon juice, but what is used should reach all parts of the fruit. An easy way to make sure that it does so is to mix the lemon juice with melted margarine. Then drizzle the combination evenly over the fruit.

FRESH PEACH PIE
(makes 1 9-inch pie)

1 recipe plain pastry
⅔ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
4 cups sliced peaches (6 to 8 peaches)
2 tablespoons melted margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry, leaving a 1-inch overhang. Put trimmings aside to make lattice strips. Mix sugar, salt and flour. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons of this mixture over bottom of pastry. Arrange half the peaches in pastry shell. Sprinkle with half the remaining sugar-flour mixture. Arrange remaining peaches, then sprinkle with rest of sugar-flour mixture. Combine melted margarine, lemon juice and rind. Drizzle evenly over peaches in shell. Cut remaining pastry in strips ½ inch wide and arrange criss-cross on top of fruit. Moisten edge of lower pastry and press down ends of strips to seal them to edge of crust. Turn edges of pastry under and crimp or flute as desired. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375° F. and continue baking 30 minutes.

The little trick of flavoring peach pie with lemon juice and melted margarine works equally well with other fruit and berry pies.

Cranberry Cracker Spread

Beat ⅓ cup jellied cranberry sauce with a fork. Blend with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese and spread on raisin-studded crackers.

For failure-proof baking: Use tested recipes. Follow recipes accurately. Use accurate measuring utensils, such as graded measuring spoons, liquid measuring cups, and nested measuring cups for dry ingredients. Always use level measurements.

Frozen Peaches On Chocolate Cake

Here's a new twist for dessert—yellow ripe slices of frozen peaches served on chocolate cake. Attractive, easy to serve, this different combination is an ideal snack for TV viewers or the teen-age, after-the-game crowd. Or, with colors in keeping with the scheme of things, this fruit 'n cake is perfect for a Hallowe'en Party.

For real ease, bake the cake from one of the popular package mixes. Then, for a tasty yet simple frosting, just blend part of the delicious peach juice with cream cheese. Of if the occasion is really special, use whipped cream in place of the cheese. Top the frosting with an attractive arrangement of the luscious frozen peach slices and there you have it—a snack-time dessert that's really a treat.

Easy Toppings For Chocolate Cake

1 package frozen peaches
1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese

Defrost peaches and drain well. Soften cream cheese by blending in enough peach juice to make nice spreading consistency. Spread on cake and top with drained peach slices. Amount: Frosting for top of one 8-inch layer or 8 to 10 cup cakes.

OR

1 package frozen peaches
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup juice from peaches.

Defrost peaches and drain well. Whip the cream and as it begins to thicken, slowly add ¼ cup peach juice. Continue beating until cream will stand in peaks. Spread on cake and arrange peach slices over top.

Summertime Magic

At times every homemaker needs to be somewhat of a magician. She wants to prepare interesting and nutritious meals, yet at the same time keep herself and her kitchen as cool as an evening breeze.

This summer, let your pressure cooker perform some of your kitchen magic. You can prepare those less tender beef cuts in a fraction of the usual cooking time.

For example, tongue may be speedily prepared in the pressure cooker. 45 minutes cooking time yields enough meat for two dinners. Serve the tongue hot one night; the next, serve it cold with whipped cream-horseradish sauce.

Remove bread and rolls from the baking pan as soon as they come from the oven. If you do this, moisture won't form, and the breads will have a nice crispy underneath crust and a light crumb. To cool bread and rolls before storing them, place them on wire racks or across the edges of baking pans so that air may circulate around them. When thoroughly cooled, bread and rolls may be stored in bread boxes or large crocks. Wrap individual loaves in waxed paper or foil to keep them fresh as long as possible.

Pot Roast And Savory Rice Good Eating

Oh, boy, pot roast and rice! That is what you will hear if you let any of your "tribe" "peak" while you are fixing this beef and rice combination for supper.

The tender grains of white rice are spiked with just the right amount of red pimento and mushroom soup to make a perfect accompaniment for mouth watering pot roast and gravy.

Ingredients:

- 3 pounds beef pot roast
- ⅓ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (1¼ cup) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup water
- 1 finely chopped whole canned pimento
- 4½ cups hot cooked rice

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 4½ cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1½ cups of uncooked rice, 3 cups cold water and 1½ teaspoons salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice hot if you are not ready to use it immediately.

Method: Dip the meat in the flour to generously cover both sides. Sprinkle the meat with the salt and pepper. Melt the fat in a large skillet. Brown the meat first on one side then on the other. Add the onion and water. Cover and cook over low heat for 1½ to 2 hours or until very tender when pierced with a fork. Add more water as necessary to keep from cooking dry. Add the Worcestershire sauce toward the end of the cooking.

To prepare the rice to serve with the pot roast: mix together the mushroom soup and water. Heat until boiling. Add the pimento. Stir in the hot cooked rice.

To serve: have the rice on one end of the platter and place the pot roast on the other. Or, arrange the rice and pot roast as you wish on a hot platter. Pour the gravy which remains in the skillet after cooking the post roast, over the pot roast or serve it in a separate dish.

This recipe makes 6 servings.

Sweet Snacks

When the children come home from school with vigorous appetites, have some food ready for them to "munch on." Pre-sweetened cereals are sure to keep them happy — and they're nutritious, too. There are several to choose from; try pre-sweetened corn flakes, pre-sweetened puffed corn cereal, pre-sweetened rice cereal, or pre-sweetened puffed wheat.

Radio And Television

tortured personality with the tragic grandeur that he absolutely has to have if he is to make any sense at all. As Iago, one of the most malevolent in Shakespeare's great gallery of villains, Walter Matthau, a very good actor, was properly sinister, intelligent and almost good-humored in his villainy, though possibly a little lightweight for such a great evil.

Olive Deering is an old hand at Desdemona, having almost made a career out of playing it on television. She's a good actress, but as a personality I can't quite envisage her arousing such tumultous emotions in so many men as she is supposed to in this play. Of course, that's the trouble with a lot of Shakespearean heroines. There aren't many women around who have the stature and sheer physical magnificence that Shakespeare poetry insist they should have.

I'm happy that the director, Mr. Mann, kept things fairly simple and forthright. Mostly when Shakespeare is tackled on television, the director falls in love with the scenery and you get an endless succession of shots of porticos and drawbridges and great fluted columns and vaulted corridors and so on. Mann, while he had a lot of columns and corridors around to fool with, kept them in the background and kept the cameras on the actors. The lighting was excellent but it wasn't, thank God, fancy. Lighting experts have a tendency to run hogwild when they tangle with Shakespeare, too.

"Othello," in short, was a swell show. Let's do it again some time, Philco, with the same cast.

CHECK BREAKFAST HABITS

Back-to-school time prompts a check-up on breakfast habits. It's a long time from breakfast until the lunch bell rings. It's an especially long time to children who have been snacking between meals during vacation months. Wise mothers make sure children are eating healthful breakfasts that will supply plenty of energy for the school day tasks. A good breakfast includes fruit or fruit juice, cereal, eggs or meat, enriched or whole grain, bread, and milk.

Cream Pie With Graham Cracker Crust

Just let your family sink their teeth into this rice and banana cream pie and you will be their "hero" forever—well, at least you will have to fix this marvelous tasting rice and banana pie for them often, if you want to stay in their good graces. Bananas and cream filling are a perfect compliment to the rice which adds a texture suggestive of nuts. Yes, you will find requests for this rice and banana cream pie coming in at frequent intervals, but this dessert is so easy to fix that it is a real pleasure to prepare it for the family.

Ingredients:

- 12 graham crackers, finely crushed (1 cup)
- ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup all-purpose flour
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, separated
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 large bananas, sliced
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

For extra convenience and economy of time and effort, cook 2 cups of rice, 4 cups of water and 2 teaspoons of salt—keeping the extra cups of unused ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Use this rice as needed in quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Mix together the graham cracker crumbs and the melted butter or margarine. Pack into the bottom and around the sides of a greased 9" pie plate. Bake at 350°F. for 8 to 10 minutes.

Blend flour, the ½ cup of sugar and salt in top of a double boiler; slowly stir in half of the milk blending thoroughly until smooth, before placing over heat. Add rest of milk and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Stir some of the hot mixture into the egg yolks which have been well beaten. Pour this egg yolk mixture back into the top of the double boiler. Add the rice and cook several minutes, stirring constantly. Add the manilla and mix thoroughly. Cool. Place some of the banana slices over the graham cracker crust. Add rice cream filling. Top with the rest of the banana slices. Chill before topping with meringue.

To make the meringue: Beat the egg whites until they peak. Add the ¼ cup of sugar and beat until the whites are stiff and shiny. Fold in the vanilla. Spread the meringue over the top of the filling and crust so that the entire top is covered. Bake at 400°F. until the meringue is brown.

This resipe makes 6 generous servings.

Swedish Fish Casserole

Hearty eaters of Swedish descent call this wonderful rice and fish dish "pudding." They do not usually use the bay leaf, but you will like this added seasoning touch and the lucky eaters of this rice and fish main dish will ask what your secret seasoning is. Then they will want your recipe and will rave and rave about what a wonderful cook you are.

Ingredients:

- 1½ pounds white fish
- ¾ cup uncooked rice
- ⅓ cup ripe olives, sliced
- Dash of Tabasco sauce
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 bay leaves
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 3 cups milk.

Method: Cut the fish into very small pieces almost as small as if the fish were flaked. Frozen fish need not be thawed. Mix together the fish, rice, olives, Tabasco sauce, salt, pepper and bay leaves. Pour into a well greased 2-quart casserole. Mix together the eggs and milk. Pour over the rice and fish. Bake in a preheated 325° F. oven for 1½ hours or until the milk has been absorbed by the rice.

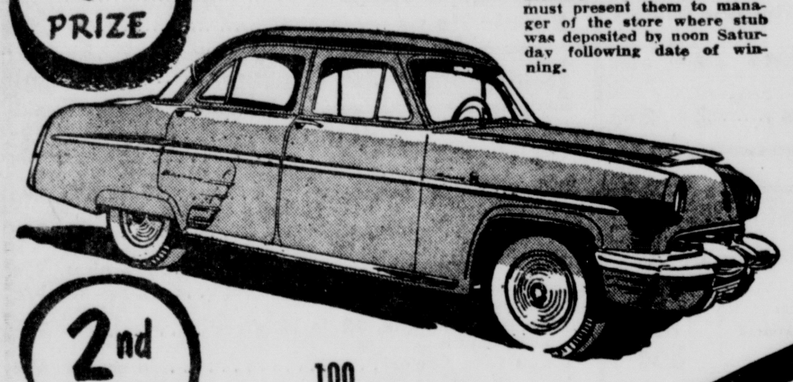

This recipe makes 8 generous servings.

Dough for rolled cookies is easier to handle when it has been chilled thoroughly. Keep the dough you are not using in the refrigerator until you are ready to roll it.

Fresh Peach Pie

A treat for pie lovers is a juicy fresh peach pie. The golden fruit, piled generously into a flaky crust and partly covered with a pastry lattice, makes a queen of pies.

Because peaches are juicy, a little flour is mixed with the sweetening sugar. As the pie bakes, the flour traps most of the juice and makes it jell.

Even the best peaches usually need something to "point up" their flavor. Lemon juice does a fine job. It doesn't take much lemon juice, but what is used should reach all parts of the fruit. An easy way to make sure that it does so is to mix the lemon juice with melted margarine. Then drizzle the combination evenly over the fruit.

FRESH PEACH PIE
(makes 1 9-inch pie)

- 1 recipe plain pastry
- ⅔ cup sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 4 cups sliced peaches (6 to 8 peaches)
- 2 tablespoons melted margarine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry, leaving a 1-inch overhang. Put trimmings aside to make lattice strips. Mix sugar, salt and flour. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons of this mixture over bottom of pastry. Arrange half the peaches in pastry shell. Sprinkle with half the remaining sugar-flour mixture. Arrange remaining peaches, then sprinkle with rest of sugar-flour mixture. Combine melted margarine, lemon juice and rind. Drizzle evenly over peaches in shell. Cut remaining pastry in strips ½ inch wide and arrange criss-cross on top of fruit. Moisten edge of lower pastry and press down ends of strips to seal them to edge of crust. Turn edges of pastry under and crimp or flute as desired. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375° F. and continue baking 30 minutes.

The little trick of flavoring peach pie with lemon juice and melted margarine works equally well with other fruit and berry pies.

Cranberry Cracker Spread

Beat ⅓ cup jellied cranberry sauce with a fork. Blend with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese and spread on raisin-studded crackers.

Frozen Peaches On Chocolate Cake

Here's a new twist for dessert—yellow ripe slices of frozen peaches served on chocolate cake. Attractive, easy to serve, this different combination is an ideal snack for TV viewers or the teen-age, after-the-game crowd. Or, with colors in keeping with the scheme of things, this fruit 'n cake is perfect for a Hallowe'en Party.

For real ease, bake the cake from one of the popular package mixes. Then, for a tasty yet simple frosting, just blend part of the delicious peach juice with cream cheese. Of if the occasion is really special, use whipped cream in place of the cheese. Top the frosting with an attractive arrangement of the luscious frozen peach slices and there you have it—a snack-time dessert that's really a treat.

Easy Toppings For Chocolate Cake

1 package frozen peaches
1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese

Defrost peaches and drain well. Soften cream cheese by blending in enough peach juice to make nice spreading consistency. Spread on cake and top with drained peach slices. Amount: Frosting for top of one 8-inch layer or 8 to 10 cup cakes.

OR

1 package frozen peaches
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup juice from peaches.

Defrost peaches and drain well. Whip the cream and as it begins to thicken, slowly add ¼ cup peach juice. Continue beating until cream will stand in peaks. Spread on cake and arrange peach slices over top.

Summertime Magic

At times every homemaker needs to be somewhat of a magician. She wants to prepare interesting and nutritious meals, yet at the same time keep herself and her kitchen as cool as an evening breeze.

This summer, let your pressure cooker perform some of your kitchen magic. You can prepare those less tender beef cuts in a fraction of the usual cooking time.

For example, tongue may be speedily prepared in the pressure cooker. 45 minutes cooking time yields enough meat for two dinners. Serve the tongue hot one night; the next, serve it cold with whipped cream-horseradish sauce.

Remove bread and rolls from the baking pan as soon as they come from the oven. If you do this, moisture won't form, and the breads will have a nice crispy underneath crust and a light crumb. To cool bread and rolls before storing them, place them on wire racks or across the edges of baking pans so that air may circulate around them. When thoroughly cooled, bread and rolls may be stored in bread boxes or large crocks. Wrap individual loaves in waxed paper or foil to keep them fresh as long as possible.

Brunch Menu Features Ham--Queen Fritters

Editors Note: This recipe will be demonstrated at the Times-News Cooking School, September 15-18.

Slices of ham fit into so many menu plans. They're a perfect choice for dinner, for breakfast or brunch. Here's a ham serving that's teamed with a surprise accompaniment — queen fritters.

These crispy fritters are actually small cream puffs which are deep fat fried. You'll find they are quite easily prepared. Just follow closely the recipe below. Serve them with an assortment of jams and jellies.

Center cut slices of ham are, of course, the largest. However, slices nearly identical to the center cut come from the face of the butt or shank half of ham. These often retail for less than center cut slices. In preparing a ham slice, remember if it is cut ½ inch or less cook by panbroiling. If ham is cut 1 inch thick broil it. If cut thicker, prepare the slice by baking.

Panbroiling

For best results in panbroiling, place the ham in a heavy frying-pan and cook over a low heat, turning the meat occasionally until done. Do not use a cover on the pan. Pour off any excess fat accumulating in the pan.

Beverage

In broiling, these are the steps to follow: Place the ham on your broiler rack, then adjust the pan so that the top surface is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. When the slice is lightly browned, turn and cook on the other side. Broil from 8 to 10 minutes on each side. The result will be a smoked ham slice with a golden tinged exterior.

Interesting variety may be obtained by using fruits in preparing baked ham slices. Tart fruits especially accent the smoky flavor of ham. Cranberry jelly might be spread over the top for a glaze. Apricot puree, crushed pineapple or tart cherries might be used as a sauce for the meat. A tempting combination combines brown sugar with shredded pineapple. Or two ham slices may be fitted together with a fruit stuffing for baking.

Crisp queen fritters are a surprise companion for ham designed for a week-end breakfast or brunch. The fritters, small deep fat-fried editions of cream puffs, are served with assorted jams and jellies.

QUEEN FRITTERS

½ cup lard
1 cup water
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 eggs
Lard for deep-fat frying

Add lard to water and bring to a boil. Add flour and salt all at once and stir vigorously until dough forms a ball. Cool. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Mixture should be stiff. Drop by teaspoonfuls into deep hot lard (360° F.) and fry until delicate brown.

Mac-Chicken Salad

½ cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons French Dressing
¾ teaspoon MSG
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon celery seed
3 cups cooked and cooled elbow macaroni or shells
½ cup chopped sweet pickle
1 cup thinly sliced celery or shredded cabbage
2 cup cooked or canned chicken, cubed

Combine mayonnaise, French dressing, MSG, salt, pepper, and celery seed in serving bowl. Mix well. Add macaroni, pickle, celery, and chicken. Mix lightly. Garnish with parsley or water cress and a few whole walnut meats. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The eucalyptus tree of Australia is a rival of the giant American redwood. Some eucalyptus trees are found that slightly top the redwood in height.

Diet In The Summer

Do you have your favorite remedy for keeping cool in the "good old summertime?" Well, here's a hint which will help you to feel, look and do your best when the temperature rises. Continue to eat plenty of meat.

Some people think they ought to cut way down on the amount of protein foods (meat, chicken, fish and eggs) which they eat during the hot weather. Actually, the need for protein is not affected by the season or the temperature. A diet which supplies a generous amount of meat actually contributes to a feeling of physical fitness, vigor and all 'round well being. The lazy feeling sometimes blamed on the heat often is caused by a diet too low in proteins.

Cream Pie With Graham Cracker Crust

Just let your family sink their teeth into this rice and banana cream pie and you will be their "hero" forever—well, at least you will have to fix this marvelous tasting rice and banana pie for them often, if you want to stay in their good graces. Bananas and cream filling are a perfect compliment to the rice which adds a texture suggestive of nuts. Yes, you will find requests for this rice and banana cream pie coming in at frequent intervals, but this dessert is so easy to fix that it is a real pleasure to prepare it for the family.

Ingredients:

12 graham crackers, finely crushed (1 cup)
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
2 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 large bananas, sliced
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

For extra convenience and economy of time and effort, cook 2 cups of rice, 4 cups of water and 2 teaspoons of salt—keeping the extra cups of unused ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Use this rice as needed in quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Mix together the graham cracker crumbs and the melted butter or margarine. Pack into the bottom and around the sides of a greased 9" pie plate. Bake at 350°F. for 8 to 10 minutes.

Blend flour, the ½ cup of sugar and salt in top of a double boiler; slowly stir in half of the milk blending thoroughly until smooth, before placing over heat. Add rest of milk and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Stir some of the hot mixture into the egg yolks which have been well beaten. Pour this egg yolk mixture back into the top of the double boiler. Add the rice and cook several minutes, stirring constantly. Add the manilla and mix thoroughly. Cool. Place some of the banana slices over the graham cracker crust. Add rice cream filling. Top with the rest of the banana slices. Chill before topping with meringue.

To make the meringue: Beat the egg whites until they peak. Add the ¼ cup of sugar and beat until the whites are stiff and shiny. Fold in the vanilla. Spread the meringue over the top of the filling and crust so that the entire top is covered. Bake at 400°F. until the meringue is brown.

This resipe makes 6 generous servings.

Swedish Fish Casserole

Hearty eaters of Swedish descent call this wonderful rice and fish dish "pudding." They do not usually use the bay leaf, but you will like this added seasoning touch and the lucky eaters of this rice and fish main dish will ask what your secret seasoning is. Then they will want your recipe and will rave and rave about what a wonderful cook you are.

Ingredients:

1½ pounds white fish
¾ cup uncooked rice
⅓ cup ripe olives, sliced
Dash of Tabasco sauce
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups milk.

Method: Cut the fish into very small pieces almost as small as if the fish were flaked. Frozen fish need not be thawed. Mix together the fish, rice, olives, Tabasco sauce, salt, pepper and bay leaves. Pour into a well greased 2-quart casserole. Mix together the eggs and milk. Pour over the rice and fish. Bake in a preheated 325° F. oven for 1½ hours or until the milk has been absorbed by the rice.

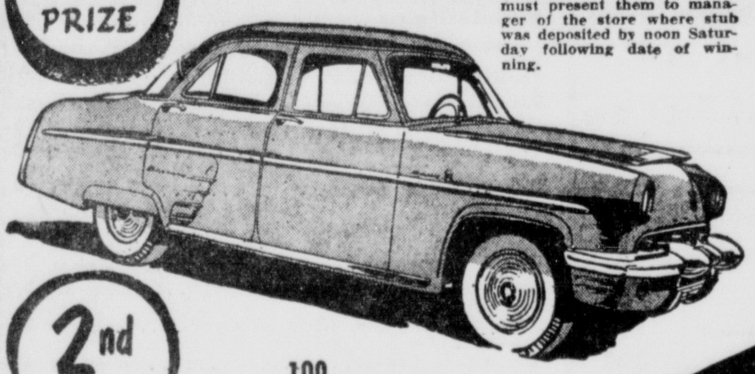

This recipe makes 8 generous servings.

Dough for rolled cookies is easier to handle when it has been chilled thoroughly. Keep the dough you are not using in the refrigerator until you are ready to roll it.

Expanding your charm and keeping it in good working order are lifetime pursuits that are most rewarding.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Charm cannot be measured by a ruler nor can it be weighed on a scale. Yet all of us see it operating in one degree or another every day of our lives. When we are in the presence of charm we are warmed, we feel a reflected inner glow and we know that life is good; it makes us look forward to the next moment, the next hour. We are inspired by charm and expect from it only what is best in life.

While charm cannot be measured or cut into lengths, none of us has any doubt as to what it is, difficult as it may be to put into words.

It was James Matthew Barrie who said that charm is a sort of bloom on a woman. "If you have it, you don't need to have anything else. And if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have."

Source of Charm

I think that charm stems from an attitude toward others, an attitude of consideration, friendliness and love.

Because it affects others pleasurably, we strive to look our best. We seek the lines in clothing that make the figure most pleasing to the eye. We seek harmonious colors that make the most of the coloring with which Nature endowed us.

We strive to use our voices in such manner that they fall easily and musically on the ears of others. We seek works that make it least difficult for others to understand our meaning. We withhold those thoughts that would bore, depress, irritate or annoy those who for one reason or another are or must be in our presence. We share our joys and point to the beauties that we have been lucky enough to witness or experience.

We cover our shortcomings, improve our changeable weaknesses and present our best selves to those around us.

Deep Consideration

We consider the sensitivities of all with whom we come in contact, respect their wishes and idiosyncracies. We generously accord them the rights that we would like to have others accord us.

In essence, charm is the highest awareness of others, combined with the deepest desire not only never to offend but to give consideration, comfort and pleasure in the highest degree. To achieve this goal requires an ever-increasing understanding of the world around us, all types of people and of ourselves. It is a lifetime pursuit but of the most rewarding that any of us can choose. Our own pleasure and happiness in life depend on how much we succeed in expanding our charm and keeping it in good working order.

Storing Late Cabbage To Use In Winter

It may seem to be the wrong time to be talking about something we will be doing several weeks later but frequently unless things are planned and thought over well ahead, they do not get done.

Only good, solid heads of cabbage, free from disease and insect injury, should be stored. Commercial growers have special storage houses, where provision has been made for controlling temperature and humidity. Inexpensive home storage methods have been found to approximate these conditions near enough to be satisfactory. The variety is important. The Danish Ballhead variety is well suited for storage. All Seasons, Hollander and Late Flat Dutch are also good, as they develop firm, solid heads if allowed to remain in the garden until well matured. Cabbage will withstand light frost and even slight freezing. Usually in this area the first half of November is about the right time to store.

Cabbage keeps best when the temperature is slightly above 32 degrees. Because of this I want to caution home gardeners not to be too early with this operation, as the crop will keep better as it grows in the garden until really cool weather comes. Higher temperatures favor decay and heating will result if stored in bulk when such temperatures prevail.

Another factor necessary for successful storage is humidity. Cabbage is slightly over 90 per cent water to begin with. Storage investigations have shown that relative humidity should be kept around 95 per cent for best results. There are several methods of home storage that can be made to approximate these conditions of temperature and moisture.

If the heads are quite mature and firm they may be cut from the stalks and buried in a box of sand which is moist but not wet, to keep from shrivelling. Place the box where it does not actually freeze at night. Cabbage will not freeze at 32 degrees. The garage or any outbuilding will be satisfactory for most of our winter weather. If a bucket of water is left in a closed unheated building, it will seldom freeze in our climate. Commercial growers who store cabbage in the fall do not try to hold it more than a few months. So if we can keep cabbage in home storage until February, we have done a good job.

Another method that the writer has found very satisfactory and especially if the heads are not quite mature, is to pull the entire plant up by the roots and make a trench deep enough so the plant can be placed roots down, at a convenient depth. Bank earth around the stalk so that it is covered right up to the head. Then dig another trench parallel to the first one and fill in more cabbages. Such beds are usually from 6 to 8 feet wide and as long as necessary. Thus the cabbage has been transplanted at or near maturity and crowded into a small area for convenience of protection. Then erect a frame of boards or poles around the bed, a foot or more in height. Lay poles across the top and cover with straw, hay, corn stalks, old carpet or canvas, or combination of these, for protection. If you have grown pole beans use the poles to lay across the top of the enclosure.

When removing the cabbage cut off the head leaving the roots in place. In the spring, when all cabbage has been used up and the protection removed, these cabbage stalks will put out sprouts which make just about the finest greens you ever tasted. For convenience of description this may be called the "transplanting" method of storage.

Other methods are to pull the plants, make a trench, lay plant on side and cover entirely, stalk and head, with about a foot of soil. Still another way is to cut off the heads and store in kilns, in the same way root crops are stored. But I like the transplanting method best of all.

Brunch Menu Features Ham--Queen Fritters

Editors Note: This recipe will be demonstrated at the Times-News Cooking School, September 15-18.

Slices of ham fit into so many menu plans. They're a perfect choice for dinner, for breakfast or brunch. Here's a ham serving that's teamed with a surprise accompaniment — queen fritters.

These crispy fritters are actually small cream puffs which are deep fat fried. You'll find they are quite easily prepared. Just follow closely the recipe below. Serve them with an assortment of jams and jellies.

Center cut slices of ham are, of course, the largest. However, slices nearly identical to the center cut come from the face of the butt or shank half of ham. These often retail for less than center cut slices. In preparing a ham slice, remember if it is cut ½ inch or less cook by panbroiling. If ham is cut 1 inch thick broil it. If cut thicker, prepare the slice by baking.

Panbroiling

For best results in panbroiling, place the ham in a heavy frying-pan and cook over a low heat, turning the meat occasionally until done. Do not use a cover on the pan. Pour off any excess fat accumulating in the pan.

Panbroiled Ham Slice
Queen Fritters

Beverage

In broiling, these are the steps to follow: Place the ham on your broiler rack, then adjust the pan so that the top surface is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. When the slice is lightly browned, turn and cook on the other side. Broil from 8 to 10 minutes on each side. The result will be a smoked ham slice with a golden tinged exterior.

Interesting variety may be obtained by using fruits in preparing baked ham slices. Tart fruits especially accent the smoky flavor of ham. Cranberry jelly might be spread over the top for a glaze. Apricot puree, crushed pineapple or tart cherries might be used as a sauce for the meat. A tempting combination combines brown sugar with shredded pineapple. Or two ham slices may be fitted together with a fruit stuffing for baking.

Crisp queen fritters are a surprise companion for ham designed for a week-end breakfast or brunch. The fritters, small deep fat-fried editions of cream puffs, are served with assorted jams and jellies.

QUEEN FRITTERS
½ cup lard
1 cup water
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 eggs
Lard for deep-fat frying

Add lard to water and bring to a boil. Add flour and salt all at once and stir vigorously until dough forms a ball. Cool. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Mixture should be stiff. Drop by teaspoonfuls into deep hot lard (360° F.) and fry until delicate brown.

Mac-Chicken Salad
½ cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons French Dressing
¾ teaspoon MSG
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon celery seed
3 cups cooked and cooled elbow macaroni or shells
½ cup chopped sweet pickle
1 cup thinly sliced celery or shredded cabbage
2 cup cooked or canned chicken, cubed

Combine mayonnaise, French dressing, MSG, salt, pepper, and celery seed in serving bowl. Mix well. Add macaroni, pickle, celery, and chicken. Mix lightly. Garnish with parsley or water cress and a few whole walnut meats. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The eucalyptus tree of Australia is a rival of the giant American redwood. Some eucalyptus trees are found that slightly top the redwood in height.

Diet In The Summer

Do you have your favorite remedy for keeping cool in the "good old summertime?" Well, here's a hint which will help you to feel, look and do your best when the temperature rises. Continue to eat plenty of meat.

Some people think they ought to cut way down on the amount of protein foods (meat, chicken, fish and eggs) which they eat during the hot weather. Actually, the need for protein is not affected by the season or the temperature. A diet which supplies a generous amount of meat actually contributes to a feeling of physical fitness, vigor and all 'round well being. The lazy feeling sometimes blamed on the heat often is caused by a diet too low in proteins.

New Insecticide Spray Test Scheduled For Area Farmers

Area dairy farmers will attend a demonstration of a new chemical named malathon — which is reputed to be "sure death" to flies.

County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry said the demonstration will be held next Thursday at the Shumaker Brothers dairy farm near Rawlings. The exact time will be announced later.

Dr. George S. Langford, entomologist at the University of Maryland, will come here to put on the demonstration.

Several years ago when DDT was first tested in the county for spraying in dairy barns the insecticide was extremely effective.

Then complications developed. First the DDT was found to be toxic and care had to be used to see that it did not get into the system of humans who were spraying it. Then within a year or so the flies developed an immunity to the DDT. One farmer jokingly said the flies in his barn ate the DDT as the "dessert" course in their meals.

McHenry said DDT still kills some flies, but it has lost some of its effectiveness. The new fly killer, malathon, is not toxic and has the advantage of being usable on concrete floors of barns without resorting to spraying. It also can be used in bait in barns.

The Pure Food and Drug Administration a year or so ago warned against the use of milk from cows which had been sprayed as some of the toxic effects could possibly get into the food. McHenry said that care must be used in the use of all insecticides but that did not mean they were fatal. In most cases small amounts of insecticide which found its way into the human system usually caused illness.

The United States Department of Agriculture has accepted the use of malathon for fly control work in dairy barns. Its use in dwellings is not advised and care must be taken that it is not used where children play or congregate.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Charm cannot be measured by a ruler nor can it be weighed on a scale. Yet all of us see it operating in one degree or another every day of our lives. When we are in the presence of charm we are warmed, we feel a reflected inner glow and we know that life is good; it makes us look forward to the next moment, the next hour. We are inspired by charm and expect from it only what is best in life.

While charm cannot be measured or cut into lengths, none of us has any doubt as to what it is, difficult as it may be to put into words.

It was James Matthew Barrie who said that charm is a sort of bloom on a woman. "If you have it, you don't need to have anything else. And if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have."

Source of Charm

I think that charm stems from an attitude toward others, an attitude of consideration, friendliness and love.

Because it affects others pleasurably, we strive to look our best. We seek the lines in clothing that make the figure most pleasing to the eye. We seek harmonious colors that make the most of the coloring with which Nature endowed us.

We strive to use our voices in such manner that they fall easily and musically on the ears of others. We seek works that make it least difficult for others to understand our meaning. We withhold those thoughts that would bore, depress, irritate or annoy those who for one reason or another are or must be in our presence. We share our joys and point to the beauties that we have been lucky enough to witness or experience.

We cover our shortcomings, improve our changeable weaknesses and present our best selves to those around us.

Deep Consideration

We consider the sensitivities of all with whom we come in contact, respect their wishes and idiosyncracies. We generously accord them the rights that we would like to have others accord us.

In essence, charm is the highest awareness of others, combined with the deepest desire not only never to offend but to give consideration, comfort and pleasure in the highest degree. To achieve this goal requires an ever-increasing understanding of the world around us, all types of people and of ourselves. It is a lifetime pursuit but of the most rewarding that any of us can choose. Our own pleasure and happiness in life depend on how much we succeed in expanding our charm and keeping it in good working order.

Storing Late Cabbage To Use In Winter

It may seem to be the wrong time to be talking about something we will be doing several weeks later but frequently unless things are planned and thought over well ahead, they do not get done.

Only good, solid heads of cabbage, free from disease and insect injury, should be stored. Commercial growers have special storage houses, where provision has been made for controlling temperature and humidity. Inexpensive home storage methods have been found to approximate these conditions near enough to be satisfactory. The variety is important. The Danish Ballhead variety is well suited for storage. All Seasons, Hollander and Late Flat Dutch are also good, as they develop firm, solid heads if allowed to remain in the garden until well matured. Cabbage will withstand light frost and even slight freezing. Usually in this area the first half of November is about the right time to store.

Cabbage keeps best when the temperature is slightly above 32 degrees. Because of this I want to caution home gardeners not to be too early with this operation, as the crop will keep better as it grows in the garden until really cool weather comes. Higher temperatures favor decay and heating will result if stored in bulk when such temperatures prevail.

Another factor necessary for successful storage is humidity. Cabbage is slightly over 90 per cent water to begin with. Storage investigations have shown that relative humidity should be kept around 95 per cent for best results. There are several methods of home storage that can be made to approximate these conditions of temperature and moisture.

If the heads are quite mature and firm they may be cut from the stalks and buried in a box of sand which is moist but not wet, to keep from shrivelling. Place the box where it does not actually freeze at night. Cabbage will not freeze at 32 degrees. The garage or any outbuilding will be satisfactory for most of our winter weather. If a bucket of water is left in a closed unheated building, it will seldom freeze in our climate. Commercial growers who store cabbage in the fall do not try to hold it more than a few months. So if we can keep cabbage in home storage until February, we have done a good job.

Another method that the writer has found very satisfactory and especially if the heads are not quite mature, is to pull the entire plant up by the roots and make a trench deep enough so the plant can be placed roots down, at a convenient depth. Bank earth around the stalk so that it is covered right up to the head. Then dig another trench parallel to the first one and fill in more cabbages. Such beds are usually from 6 to 8 feet wide and as long as necessary. Thus the cabbage has been transplanted at or near maturity and crowded into a small area for convenience of protection. Then erect a frame of boards or poles around the bed, a foot or more in height. Lay poles across the top and cover with straw, hay, corn stalks, old carpet or canvas, or combination of these, for protection. If you have grown pole beans use the poles to lay across the top of the enclosure.

When removing the cabbage cut off the head leaving the roots in place. In the spring, when all cabbage has been used up and the protection removed, these cabbage stalks will put out sprouts which make just about the finest greens you ever tasted. For convenience of description this may be called the "transplanting" method of storage.

Other methods are to pull the plants, make a trench, lay plant on side and cover entirely, stalk and head, with about a foot of soil. Still another way is to cut off the heads and store in kilns, in the same way root crops are stored. But I like the transplanting method best of all.

Celanese Warp Knit Device Is Placed On Open Market

The patent held by Celanese Corporation of America on a quality improvement electronic device designed for more efficient production of warp knit fabrics is being made available on a royalty-free basis to the entire textile industry, K. C. Loughlin, vice president and general manager of the Textile Division of the company, announced yesterday.

The unique device, which electronically scans fabric coming off knitting machines for defects and halts operations when any irregularities are detected, has been in operation at the Bridgewater (Va.) Warp Knitting Plant of the company for a number of years and has proved successful.

The first royalty-free license for the cloth-scanning stop-motion device has been granted by Celanese to Burlington Mills Corporation, one of the country's leading textile enterprises. Inquires on licensing arrangements have been received from a number of other companies. The Photobell Company, New York, has agreed to build the device for all companies licensed by Celanese.

"The automatic stop-motion device is an important contribution to the technological progress of the American textile industry, and its availability on a royalty-free basis should give new stimulus to the warp knit section of that industry," Loughlin said.

"During the last six months, at the invitation of the Textile Division," Loughlin continued, "representatives of the country's leading knitters have been shown the cloth-scanning stop-motion device in actual operation on 36 warp knit machines at the Bridgewater Plant. Interest was expressed toward the development and the decision on free-licensing soon followed."

The stop-motion systems in use are exclusively for uniform cloth having no pattern which can influence the light-reflecting qualities of the top cloth surface. However, certain repetitive patterns also can be examined by a relatively minor increase in the equipment required.

Man Is Sentenced For Assaulting Mother

Willis D. Browning, Allegany Grove, was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to assaulting his mother, Mrs. Edna Browning.

Browning received a suspended 60-day jail term and was paroled August 9 on other charges, Magistrate Donald W. Mason said. The latest incident occurred Wednesday.

Gets State Position In Tax Maps Office

Maynard Hasenbuhler, 511 Eichner Avenue, has been appointed a draftsman in the Department of Tax Mapping for the State Tax Commission for duty in Allegany county.

He took a qualifying examination for the job, and will assist in making tax maps of the county for use by the Assessing Department.

Hasenbuhler was graduated from the Penn Avenue High School and was employed in the register of wills office for five years. He served two years in the Army during World War II.

Campbell Guilty On Motor Charge

A 19-year-old Mt. Savage soldier, Dale Campbell of Slabtown, was fined $55 plus costs and given a suspended six-month sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on five state motor charges.

In suspending the House of Correction term, Magistrate Donald W. Mason paroled him for a year. Campbell is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

The defendant was arrested August 30 by State Police after the car he was driving struck a bridge abutment on Mt. Savage Road. Injured, he escaped from Miners Hospital in Frostburg but surrendered the following day.

His brother, Linwood A. Campbell, also of Slabtown, paid a fine of $25 and costs for exceeding 70 miles an hour. An additional $75 fine was suspended.

Magistrate Mason advised the pair that he would recommend that all driving privileges be revoked.

Seeks Beer License

Pole Gives Up To Area Officer In Korea

An Army major from Westernport figured in a dramatic scene in Korea when a Polish member of the neutral inspection team chose political asylum with the United Nations.

A dispatch from International News Service said Jan Hajdukiewicz, 28, ran to Maj. Edward Moran and declared he was "afraid" to return to Communism.

UN officials said Hajdukiewicz, who served as an interpreter with the Polish delegation at Kangnung, an aerial point of entry on the east coast of Korea, asked for asylum and refused to return to his group. His home is in Lodz, Poland.

His Last Chance

The Pole broke from the Reds at the Kangnung airfield as a plane he was about to board with the delegation was warming up.

Maj. Moran, a member of the Armistice Commission team serving at Kangnung quoted Hajdukiewicz as saying: "It's my last chance."

Moran said the Pole told him he sought asylum because of his "long standing opposition to Communism."

Hajdukiewicz declared he was not a member of the Communist Party but was an employe of the Polish Government Export-Import Agency when selected as an interpreter to serve with the Korea-bound delegation.

In Protective Custody

The Pole stated he arrived in Korea by way of the Siberia-Manchuria train on August 13.

According to Moran, Hajdukiewicz told him he had been at Kangnung since August 24. The escapee was scheduled to board a plane from North Korea when he rushed from the Communist delegation.

The Army announced that in line with "the traditional U. S. policy of protecting and assisting political refugees, Airbase Commander Col. Harold T. Babb of Dalton, Ga., immediately placed the man under protective custody."

New Insecticide Spray Test Scheduled For Area Farmers

Area dairy farmers will attend a demonstration of a new chemical named malathon — which is reputed to be "sure death" to flies.

County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry said the demonstration will be held next Thursday at the Shumaker Brothers dairy farm near Rawlings. The exact time will be announced later.

Dr. George S. Langford, entomologist at the University of Maryland, will come here to put on the demonstration.

Several years ago when DDT was first tested in the county for spraying in dairy barns the insecticide was extremely effective.

Then complications developed. First the DDT was found to be toxic and care had to be used to see that it did not get into the system of humans who were spraying it. Then within a year or so the flies developed an immunity to the DDT. One farmer jokingly said the flies in his barn ate the DDT as the "dessert" course in their meals.

McHenry said DDT still kills some flies, but it has lost some of its effectiveness. The new fly killer, malathon, is not toxic and has the advantage of being usable on concrete floors of barns without resorting to spraying. It also can be used in bait in barns.

The Pure Food and Drug Administration a year or so ago warned against the use of milk from cows which had been sprayed as some of the toxic effects could possibly get into the food. McHenry said that care must be used in the use of all insecticides but that did not mean they were fatal. In most cases small amounts of insecticide which found its way into the human system usually caused illness.

The United States Department of Agriculture has accepted the use of malathon for fly control work in dairy barns. Its use in dwellings is not advised and care must be taken that it is not used where children play or congregate.

Workers Moving Into 4-State Area To Gather Apples

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 10 (AP) — Orchards in the Allgeheny uplands came alive this week as thousands of workers moved in to gather up the 1953 apple harvest.

Most observers say there's a good crop in the four state Appalachian area running from Winchester, Va. up through the West Virginia Panhandle, the narrow part of Central Maryland and into Pennsylvania.

Carroll R. Miller, executive director of Appalachian Apples Inc., a marketing agency, estimated the crop in the four-state area at about 17 million bushels.

That's a little short of the 19 million bushels harvested last year and considerable off from the 10-year average of 22½ bushels, Miller said, but the quality this year is better than it was a year ago.

Jonathans and Grimes are the first of the late varieties to be taken.

Many Jonathans failed to color well and a good percentage of the crop is on the ground due to the hot, dry weather of late August. Consequently, most of them will go to the packing houses, rather than to the fresh market.

Growers expect better of the later varieties—the Romes, Staymens, Winesaps and Yorks. It takes long, cool nights to put the proper color on these, and conditions during the last week have been ideal.

As always, labor is at a premium with growers and packers competing for the available supply.

"According to our figures," Miller said, "It take one man to see every 400 bushels of apples through the whole process, from picking to processing or marketing."

Figured on his estimate of 17 million bushels, that means the apple harvest will employ 42,500 workers.

To answer the demand, thousands of migratory workers have come from the South, Puerto Rico and the Bahamas to help with the harvest.

About 200 Bahamans are quartered in a large camp near Martinsburg. Growers around Hancock, Md., have spent $60,000 on a modern barracks to house workers in their orchards. And there are large camps at Winchester, Va., Chambersburg, Pa. and elsewhere.

The processors, who have been taking a larger percentage of the Appalachian crop each year, probably will buy about half of the apples harvested this season, Miller said, because of the lighter crop and the increasing demand for apple sauce and other canned products.

State Briefs

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Public schools opened in Anne Arundel County today and an estimated 26,500 students reported to teacher and picked up their books.

The exact enrollment wasn't known immediately, but was expected to increase 2,500 over last year.

Classes began in parochial schools two days ago for more youngsters than had been anticipated. St. Mary's elementary school in Annapolis registered 590 and the high school 180. At Riviera Beach 403 checked in at the elementary school.

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 10 (AP) — About 50 new students were expected to register today for the 71st term of the Westminster Theological Seminiary.

Registration of returning students Monday is expected to swell enrollment to about 150.

The Rev. Dr. Norman L. Trott, acting president, announced the appointment of Dr. R. E. Gillmore to be professor of systematic theology, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Paul S. Schilling who is attending Boston Theological Seminary.

Dr. Trott, superintendent of the South Baltimore District of the Methodist Church, is serving as president during the illness of The Rev. Dr. Lester A. Welliver who was granted a 6 month leave of absence.

Phone Company To Expand Its Facilities In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The board of directors of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. has approved expenditure of $3,030,000 for improvement and expansion of telephone facilities in Maryland.

The projects include expenditures of $46,300 and $24,300 for equipment to link additional telephones in Chase and Linthicum in Baltimore and Anne Arundel Counties.

Eastern Shore projects involved $121,300 for equipment to connect additional telephones in Salisbury, $80,900 for cable, poles and wire to establish a new dial central office at Bishopville and $18,500 to meet the demand for new 'phones in Denton.

The company plans to spend $121,000 to keep pace with growth in the Great Mills area and $54,600 in the vicinity of Four Corners near Washington. Expansion of the dial office at Port Deposit was listed as a $7,600 job.

The remainder of the money will be spent in the Baltimore area, the company said.

Disbarred Lawyer's Plea To Be Discussed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Supreme Bench of Baltimore Tuesday will consider a preliminary matter in connection with the petition for reinstatement to the bar filed by Charles T. LeViness, attorney and former state official.

LeViness was disbarred by the Supreme Bench six years ago after his conviction for attempted income tax evasion.

The petition for reinstatement, filed last October, was signed by 45 prominent lawyers, including two former judges, Eli Frank of Baltimore and William J. McWilliams of Annapolis.

No date for the hearing on LeViness' petition has been set. The Baltimore City Bar Association, pointing out that its "general policy" is to oppose reinstatement moves by disbarred lawyers, has filed opposition to the petition.

Marine Whose Auto Killed Boy Convicted

SALISBURY, Sept. 10 (AP) — An 18-year-old Salisbury Marine was fined $300 and given a two-year suspended sentence on a manslaughter charge here today.

The youth, John Edward Dorrell, was the driver of an automobile which struck and killed Jay Cannon, 12, of Delmar, a week ago in Delmar.

Witnesses testified Dorrell shot around a line of cars which had halted for a traffic light, struck a curb, ran through a red light, then mounted a sidewalk and struck the boy as he was standing beside his bicycle in a filling station.

Dorrell testified his brakes failed to hold, but state police said an examination of the brakes showed that they were all right.

Devereux Will Return To Wake

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. James Patrick Devereux, now Republican congressman from Maryland's second district, will return to Wake Island where he and a small garrison of Marines fought against the Japanese in World War II.

Devereux was the major in charge of some 500 men when the island fell to the Japanese Dec. 23, 1941. Before surrendering, the island defenders accounted for 29 enemy planes, a cruiser, two destroyers and an escort vessel.

Now a member of a House Armed Services subcommittee, Devereux will visit Wake on a round the world inspection junket beginning Sept. 16 and ending Nov. 10.

Income Tax Collectors Plan Door-To-Door Check In Md.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Federal income tax collectors plan to launch a door-to-door campaign in Maryland in an attempt to uncover tax dodgers, it was announced today.

Starting time for the house-to-house survey has not been set and several major details must be worked out before the plan can be put into effect.

L. A. Chamberlin, director of the Baltimore office, which includes Washington, said the need for enforcement personnel was one of the biggest problems.

Chamberlin, commenting on an announcement in Washington that house-to-house canvasses are to be halted, said it was his understanding this was temporary and that a check in Maryland probably would be made eventually.

The Baltimore area is now part of the regional office which headquarters at Philadelphia where a conference was held earlier this week concerning the new tax collection drive.

The plan was first tried in Massachusetts where the government took in $24 for each $1 of expense. T. Coleman Andrews, new commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, has said the program ought to be nationwide.

If all problems are solved, the tax collection drive should begin in this area this fall, officials said.

Celanese Warp Knit Device Is Placed On Open Market

The patent held by Celanese Corporation of America on a quality improvement electronic device designed for more efficient production of warp knit fabrics is being made available on a royalty-free basis to the entire textile industry, K. C. Loughlin, vice president and general manager of the Textile Division of the company, announced yesterday.

The unique device, which electronically scans fabric coming off knitting machines for defects and halts operations when any irregularities are detected, has been in operation at the Bridgewater (Va.) Warp Knitting Plant of the company for a number of years and has proved successful.

The first royalty-free license for the cloth-scanning stop-motion device has been granted by Celanese to Burlington Mills Corporation, one of the country's leading textile enterprises. Inquires on licensing arrangements have been received from a number of other companies. The Photobell Company, New York, has agreed to build the device for all companies licensed by Celanese.

"The automatic stop-motion device is an important contribution to the technological progress of the American textile industry, and its availability on a royalty-free basis should give new stimulus to the warp knit section of that industry," Loughlin said.

"During the last six months, at the invitation of the Textile Division," Loughlin continued, "representatives of the country's leading knitters have been shown the cloth-scanning stop-motion device in actual operation on 36 warp knit machines at the Bridgewater Plant. Interest was expressed toward the development and the decision on free-licensing soon followed."

The stop-motion systems in use are exclusively for uniform cloth having no pattern which can influence the light-reflecting qualities of the top cloth surface. However, certain repetitive patterns also can be examined by a relatively minor increase in the equipment required.

Man Is Sentenced For Assaulting Mother

Willis D. Browning, Allegany Grove, was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to assaulting his mother, Mrs. Edna Browning.

Browning received a suspended 60-day jail term and was paroled August 9 on other charges, Magistrate Donald W. Mason said. The latest incident occurred Wednesday.

Gets State Position In Tax Maps Office

Maynard Hasenbuhler, 511 Eichner Avenue, has been appointed a draftsman in the Department of Tax Mapping for the State Tax Commission for duty in Allegany county.

He took a qualifying examination for the job, and will assist in making tax maps of the county for use by the Assessing Department.

Hasenbuhler was graduated from the Penn Avenue High School and was employed in the register of wills office for five years. He served two years in the Army during World War II.

Campbell Guilty On Motor Charge

A 19-year-old Mt. Savage soldier, Dale Campbell of Slabtown, was fined $55 plus costs and given a suspended six-month sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on five state motor charges.

In suspending the House of Correction term, Magistrate Donald W. Mason paroled him for a year. Campbell is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

The defendant was arrested August 30 by State Police after the car he was driving struck a bridge abutment on Mt. Savage Road. Injured, he escaped from Miners Hospital in Frostburg but surrendered the following day.

His brother, Linwood A. Campbell, also of Slabtown, paid a fine of $25 and costs for exceeding 70 miles an hour. An additional $75 fine was suspended.

Magistrate Mason advised the pair that he would recommend that all driving privileges be revoked.

Evening devotions will be held Sunday and Monday at 7:30, Father Kilgannon said. The speaker at both evening services will be Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM, Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery.

Pole Gives Up To Area Officer In Korea

An Army major from Westernport figured in a dramatic scene in Korea when a Polish member of the neutral inspection team chose political asylum with the United Nations.

A dispatch from International News Service said Jan Hajdukiewicz, 28, ran to Maj. Edward Moran and declared he was "afraid" to return to Communism.

UN officials said Hajdukiewicz, who served as an interpreter with the Polish delegation at Kangnung, an aerial point of entry on the east coast of Korea, asked for asylum and refused to return to his group. His home is in Lodz, Poland.

His Last Chance

The Pole broke from the Reds at the Kangnung airfield as a plane he was about to board with the delegation was warming up.

Maj. Moran, a member of the Armistice Commission team serving at Kangnung quoted Hajdukiewicz as saying: "It's my last chance."

Moran said the Pole told him he sought asylum because of his "long standing opposition to Communism."

Hajdukiewicz declared he was not a member of the Communist Party but was an employe of the Polish Government Export-Import Agency when selected as an interpreter to serve with the Korea-bound delegation.

In Protective Custody

The Pole stated he arrived in Korea by way of the Siberia-Manchuria train on August 13.

According to Moran, Hajdukiewicz told him he had been at Kangnung since August 24. The escapee was scheduled to board a plane from North Korea when he rushed from the Communist delegation.

The Army announced that in line with "the traditional U. S. policy of protecting and assisting political refugees, Airbase Commander Col. Harold T. Babb of Dalton, Ga., immediately placed the man under protective custody."

Market Sags As Weakness In Autos Triggers Selling

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Weakness in automobiles triggered selling today in the stock market and started a decline that stopped just short of the low of the year.

The session started on a steady keel, much in the same vein as the past two days.

Studebaker announced a one-third production cut and plans to lay off between 5,000 and 6,000 workers. It opened off a major fraction and then headed lower. At the close Studebaker was off 2⅛ at 25¾ with 11,400 shares traded, the fourth most active issue.

Other motors joined in the fall. Railroads soon were involved. In late stages of trading the higher priced oils fell away and soon were joined by other oils.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1.30 at $102.80, only 40 cents away from the 1953 low. The industrial component of the average was off $1.40, the railroads off $1.80, and the utilities off 40 cents.

The list was composed of 1,084 individual issues, not particularly broad, with 182 gainers and 667 losers. There was one new high — General Railway Signal preferred up 1⅞ at 99⅜ — and 138 new lows for the year registered.

Volume came to 1,010,000 shares, the first time in a week it has been that high. Yesterday's total was 860,000 shares.

B & O Employe Feted On Retirement

More than 200 workers gathered in the B&O roundhouse in South End yesterday to pay tribute to George M. Furstenbuerg, 66, of 115 Fifth Street, who is retiring after 48 years service.

Albert E. Beckman, division master mechanic, presented Furstenburg with a suitcase on behalf of his fellow workers. The ceremony was opened with prayer by Albert Ogden, also a roundhouse employe.

Furstenburg, who was born in Cumberland on August 18, 1887, first went to work at a glass factory in South End when he was 12 years of age. Later he worked at the old N. & G. Taylor Tinplate Mill.

In 1905 he started his long service with the B&O as a laborer. After working in various capacities he was transferred to the boiler department. He was promoted to boilermaker in 1916.

He married the former Clarabelle Rice in 1914 in Emmanuel Episcopal Church here. The couple has three children. James L. Furstenburg resides in Silver Spring where he is employed by a bottling firm; Mrs. Francis Mullan and Mrs. Paul Detrick, both of Baltimore. The Furstenburgs also have 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Furstenburg plans to spend his free time traveling and fishing.

Workers Moving Into 4-State Area To Gather Apples

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 10 (AP) — Orchards in the Allgeheny uplands came alive this week as thousands of workers moved in to gather up the 1953 apple harvest.

Most observers say there's a good crop in the four state Appalachian area running from Winchester, Va. up through the West Virginia Panhandle, the narrow part of Central Maryland and into Pennsylvania.

Carroll R. Miller, executive director of Appalachian Apples Inc., a marketing agency, estimated the crop in the four-state area at about 17 million bushels.

That's a little short of the 19 million bushels harvested last year and considerable off from the 10-year average of 22½ bushels, Miller said, but the quality this year is better than it was a year ago.

Jonathans and Grimes are the first of the late varieties to be taken.

Many Jonathans failed to color well and a good percentage of the crop is on the ground due to the hot, dry weather of late August. Consequently, most of them will go to the packing houses, rather than to the fresh market.

Growers expect better of the later varieties—the Romes, Staymens, Winesaps and Yorks. It takes long, cool nights to put the proper color on these, and conditions during the last week have been ideal.

As always, labor is at a premium with growers and packers competing for the available supply.

"According to our figures," Miller said, "It take one man to see every 400 bushels of apples through the whole process, from picking to processing or marketing."

Figured on his estimate of 17 million bushels, that means the apple harvest will employ 42,500 workers.

To answer the demand, thousands of migratory workers have come from the South, Puerto Rico and the Bahamas to help with the harvest.

About 200 Bahamans are quartered in a large camp near Martinsburg. Growers around Hancock, Md., have spent $60,000 on a modern barracks to house workers in their orchards. And there are large camps at Winchester, Va., Chambersburg, Pa. and elsewhere.

The processors, who have been taking a larger percentage of the Appalachian crop each year, probably will buy about half of the apples harvested this season, Miller said, because of the lighter crop and the increasing demand for apple sauce and other canned products.

Phone Company To Expand Its Facilities In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The board of directors of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. has approved expenditure of $3,030,000 for improvement and expansion of telephone facilities in Maryland.

The projects include expenditures of $46,300 and $24,300 for equipment to link additional telephones in Chase and Linthicum in Baltimore and Anne Arundel Counties.

Eastern Shore projects involved $121,300 for equipment to connect additional telephones in Salisbury, $80,900 for cable, poles and wire to establish a new dial central office at Bishopville and $18,500 to meet the demand for new 'phones in Denton.

The company plans to spend $121,000 to keep pace with growth in the Great Mills area and $54,600 in the vicinity of Four Corners near Washington. Expansion of the dial office at Port Deposit was listed as a $7,600 job.

The remainder of the money will be spent in the Baltimore area, the company said.

Disbarred Lawyer's Plea To Be Discussed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Supreme Bench of Baltimore Tuesday will consider a preliminary matter in connection with the petition for reinstatement to the bar filed by Charles T. LeViness, attorney and former state official.

LeViness was disbarred by the Supreme Bench six years ago after his conviction for attempted income tax evasion.

The petition for reinstatement, filed last October, was signed by 45 prominent lawyers, including two former judges, Eli Frank of Baltimore and William J. McWilliams of Annapolis.

No date for the hearing on LeViness' petition has been set. The Baltimore City Bar Association, pointing out that its "general policy" is to oppose reinstatement moves by disbarred lawyers, has filed opposition to the petition.

Dorrell testified his brakes failed to hold, but state police said an examination of the brakes showed that they were all right.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. James Patrick Devereux, now Republican congressman from Maryland's second district, will return to Wake Island where he and a small garrison of Marines fought against the Japanese in World War II.

Devereux was the major in charge of some 500 men when the island fell to the Japanese Dec. 23, 1941. Before surrendering, the island defenders accounted for 29 enemy planes, a cruiser, two destroyers and an escort vessel.

Income Tax Collectors Plan Door-To-Door Check In Md.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Federal income tax collectors plan to launch a door-to-door campaign in Maryland in an attempt to uncover tax dodgers, it was announced today.

Starting time for the house-to-house survey has not been set and several major details must be worked out before the plan can be put into effect.

L. A. Chamberlin, director of the Baltimore office, which includes Washington, said the need for enforcement personnel was one of the biggest problems.

Chamberlin, commenting on an announcement in Washington that house-to-house canvasses are to be halted, said it was his understanding this was temporary and that a check in Maryland probably would be made eventually.

The Baltimore area is now part of the regional office which headquarters at Philadelphia where a conference was held earlier this week concerning the new tax collection drive.

The plan was first tried in Massachusetts where the government took in $24 for each $1 of expense. T. Coleman Andrews, new commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, has said the program ought to be nationwide.

If all problems are solved, the tax collection drive should begin in this area this fall, officials said.

Presbyterians Plan Church Addition In Lonaconing

LONACONING — The First Presbyterian Church is erecting a Christian Education Building to the east and rear section of the church.

The contract is held by the Marshall Lumber Company. The Junior Department of the Sunday Church School will receive the greatest benefit from this construction.

Last winter the Intermediate Department was improved by having ten classrooms made sound proof in the upstairs of the old part of this building. Also new furnishings in the kitchen largely by the Ladies' Bible Class and up-to-date improvements downstairs in the Annex have greatly modernized the equipment of the church.

The new part to the Educational Building will make the Sunday Church School and Westminster Fellowship auditorium almost equal in size to the sanctuary of the church. A special service of dedication will be held when the new structure is ready for use.

Market Sags As Weakness In Autos Triggers Selling

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Weakness in automobiles triggered selling today in the stock market and started a decline that stopped just short of the low of the year.

The session started on a steady keel, much in the same vein as the past two days.

Studebaker announced a one-third production cut and plans to lay off between 5,000 and 6,000 workers. It opened off a major fraction and then headed lower. At the close Studebaker was off 2⅛ at 25¾ with 11,400 shares traded, the fourth most active issue.

Other motors joined in the fall. Railroads soon were involved. In late stages of trading the higher priced oils fell away and soon were joined by other oils.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $1.30 at $102.80, only 40 cents away from the 1953 low. The industrial component of the average was off $1.40, the railroads off $1.80, and the utilities off 40 cents.

The list was composed of 1,084 individual issues, not particularly broad, with 182 gainers and 667 losers. There was one new high — General Railway Signal preferred up 1⅞ at 99⅜ — and 138 new lows for the year registered.

Volume came to 1,010,000 shares, the first time in a week it has been that high. Yesterday's total was 860,000 shares.

B & O Employe Feted On Retirement

More than 200 workers gathered in the B&O roundhouse in South End yesterday to pay tribute to George M. Furstenbuerg, 66, of 115 Fifth Street, who is retiring after 48 years service.

Albert E. Beckman, division master mechanic, presented Furstenburg with a suitcase on behalf of his fellow workers. The ceremony was opened with prayer by Albert Ogden, also a roundhouse employe.

Furstenburg, who was born in Cumberland on August 18, 1887, first went to work at a glass factory in South End when he was 12 years of age. Later he worked at the old N. & G. Taylor Tinplate Mill.

In 1905 he started his long service with the B&O as a laborer. After working in various capacities he was transferred to the boiler department. He was promoted to boilermaker in 1916.

He married the former Clarabelle Rice in 1914 in Emmanuel Episcopal Church here. The couple has three children. James L. Furstenburg resides in Silver Spring where he is employed by a bottling firm; Mrs. Francis Mullan and Mrs. Paul Detrick, both of Baltimore. The Furstenburgs also have 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Furstenburg plans to spend his free time traveling and fishing.

LONACONING — The First Presbyterian Church is erecting a Christian Education Building to the east and rear section of the church.

The contract is held by the Marshall Lumber Company. The Junior Department of the Sunday Church School will receive the greatest benefit from this construction.

Last winter the Intermediate Department was improved by having ten classrooms made sound proof in the upstairs of the old part of this building. Also new furnishings in the kitchen largely by the Ladies' Bible Class and up-to-date improvements downstairs in the Annex have greatly modernized the equipment of the church.

The new part to the Educational Building will make the Sunday Church School and Westminster Fellowship auditorium almost equal in size to the sanctuary of the church. A special service of dedication will be held when the new structure is ready for use.

Preston Co. Prepares For Buckwheat Fete

12th Annual Festival Starts October 7

The buckwheat bloom is gone, and with the grain on the way to the mills, plans have been completed for the 12th annual celebration of the Preston County Buckwheat Festival October 8, 9 and 10th, at Kingwood, W. Va.

The three-day fete this year is under the direction of J. Donald "Happy" Everly and the steering committee. Sponsored by the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department, full programs for all three days have been arranged.

Things get underway on the evening of October 7, when Woody Herman and his nationally famous New Third Herd will play for the Fireman's Ball. October 8, has been set aside for the firemen in the Tri-State area. The first order of the day is the registration of visiting firemen who are then served free Buckwheat Dinners. A Buckwheat Bowl game is to be played in the afternoon with Kingwood and Masontown High Schools participating. Between halves of the game, Alvin R. Frazee of the Rowlesburg Volunteer Fire Department will be crowned King Fireman. Selected as outstanding by his fellow firemen, Frazee will receive his crown from C. A. Raper, state fire marshal.

One of the most spectacular events of the festival takes place in the evening when a gigantic Fireman's Parade takes place. Departments from all over the Tri-State area will be in attendance. A fireworks display on the festival grounds closes the day's activities.

Friday, October 9, is School-Community Day. Miss Joyce Wiles, lovely senior from Tunnelton will be crowned Queen Ceres XII by Governor William C. Marland.

The coronation, preceded by a parade, is a colorful affair with beautifully gowned princesses, tiny flower girls, train and crown bearers in attendance. The honor guard for Queen Ceres XII and her Court is provided by the Scabbard and Blade, honorary fraternity of the West Virginia University Reserve Officers Training Corps. For the queen's entertainment a pageant depicting the faith that led and held early settlers in this area will be portrayed by the Tunnelton School and community. Special exhibits from various Preston County schools will be on display. Special entertainment in the form of a banquet will be provided by the Kingwood chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

October 10, is Farmer's Day, and it is then that the Preston County farmer whose buckwheat has been adjudged as best will become King Buckwheat. The king will be crowned by Carl N. Gustkey, former Prestonion who now resides in Wheeling, W. Va. Gustkey serves as president of the Imperial Glass Corporation in Bellaire, Ohio. A 33rd degree AASR Mason, he is a director of Class Crafts of America and for three years headed the American Glassware Association of all glass producers in the nation.

Other Farmer's Day events include dairy and beef judging contests, parade, pet show and horse show. The king and queen whose court on this day is attended by Future Farmer chapter boys from all over the county will be entertained at a banquet.

A gay carnival holds forth on the festival grounds all during the three-day event and interesting displays are on exhibit in the basement of the Community Building and in huge tents on the grounds.

Opportunity is ever present for all who come to the festival to enjoy the famous "Buckwheat Dinners" that are served in the Community Building and the Methodist Church. Seating facilities for 1000 at a time have been made, and the ladies groups who volunteer to prepare and serve the barrels of batter have ample knowledge of the age-old receipe for the "buckwheats" that has been handed down from generation to generation.

The Buckwheat Dinner consists of buckwheat cakes, (all you can eat!), pure pork sausage, (ground especially for the event!) pure maple syrup, applesauce, and 432 pounds of coffee.

The little town of Kingwood, population 2500, is a delightfully clean town and each citizen immensely enjoys playing host to all who come.

Paris Smith received a one year pin tab for attendance.

The secretary reported that the local club has increased its membership by 31 percent in the past year, which is the highest percentage increase in the Fifth West Virginia District.

The five new members received into membership, were: John Minnich, florist; Don Seibel and Robert Engler, assistant managers at Murphy's; James Watson, mining engineer, and John Swecker, vocational agriculture instructor at Potomac State College.

Guests invited were John Fox, physical education director at Potomac State and his wife; Attorney Charles Smith and his wife and Charles Cooper, business administration instructor, Potomac State and his wife, as well as the wives of the five new members.

Following the dinner, the group spent the remainder of the evening square dancing.

The committee in charge of the affair included James T. Handlan, Jr., W. E. Michael, Ross W. Prysock, Robert Whitlach and Frederick Dayton.

CREDIT for talking a despondent soldier out of leaping to his death from the top of a 100-foot smokestack in an Army camp near Tokyo is given Maj. Edward Curran of Philadelphia, a Catholic chaplain. The chaplain balanced himself in total darkness atop the chimney for 50 minutes to convince the unidentified GI to climb down. (International)

Bishields Leaves Monday For Month Visit In Italy

MT. SAVAGE — Michael Bishields and his daughter, Mrs. Yolanda Bishields Hutzell, will leave Monday by plane from New York for Cosenza, Italy, his birthplace, where they will stay a month.

They will visit Bishields' son, Gaepano Bishields, whom his father has not seen in 53 years. Bishields left Italy shortly after his first wife died and left his son, then five years old, in care of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaepano Bishields.

The Mt. Savage man's son has seven children, five boys and two girls, and two grandchildren whom Bishields will meet for the first time.

Bishields became naturalized December 16, 1901, and married Congetta Principa of New York. He came to Slabtown and opened a mine which he operated successfully until he opened Mt. Savage's only theatre, the Majestic, in 1926.

Besides the son in Italy, Bishields has five daughters, Mrs. Clara D'Amico, who operates a grocery store in Slabtown; Mrs. Virginia Trimble, who lives at and owns "Evergreens," one of the oldest residences in Western Maryland; Mrs. Anna Folk, Mrs. Matilda Norris and Mrs. Hutzell, mail clerk in the Mt. Savage Post Office, and one son, George Bishields, rural mail carrier in the district. He also has 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild living in this country, all in the Slabtown area.

Mental Health To Be Subject Of TV Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The District of Columbia Public Health Department is about to attempt something new: it's going to try to help people with emotional and mental problems by means of a weekly television show.

For 13 weeks a Sunday night skit will deal with such problems as:

1. Juvenile delinquents, described as "angry boys," who show how they feel in their vandalism and shoplifting.
2. The honeymoon is over, and financial problems bob up.
3. The straw boss who is meek around his superiors or his wife, but likes to lord it over his subordinates.
4. The person who is overweight due to emotional upsets.
5. The boy who runs away from home because he feels he is unwanted.

This is the third television series, each a pioneer, tried by the health department. Previously there was a series on venereal diseases and another on alcoholism.

Both were so successful that they have been repeated elsewhere, and Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director, said already other cities have become interested in the experiment here on mental health even though the first program won't be presented until Sept. 27.

Dr. Leopold Wexberg, mental health director for the district, said this is the theory behind the programs:

If ordinary scenes from real life are presented on the shows, more people will become aware of the problems—and the need for solving them.

For it's the psychiatrists' contention that the accumulation of unsolved problems can eventually lead to disaster. Seeing the problems presented, and possible solutions, may help people with similar troubles, Dr. Wexberg believes, or at least convince them they should get competent professional advice.

I. T. & T. Income Up

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and subsidiaries had consolidated net income of $9,873,217 for the 6 months ended June 30 compared with $9,666,002 for the like period last year, the quarterly statement showed today.

CRUNCH! 44 STOCK CARS PILE UP—Seven drivers were hurt, none of them seriously, when 44 stock cars piled up on the track at Hibbing, Minn., during a 100-lap race. Only 15 of the wrecked cars are shown here.

Riviera Thieves Make New Haul

NICE, France, Sept. 10 (AP) — Thieves hit the jack pot again Tuesday night on the French Riviera, taking jewels valued at 10 million francs ($25,571) from the villa of French Count de Marguenat.

This brought the season's total of thefts and robberies along this famous resort region to a whopping 162 million francs ($462,856).

Practice Is Accepted But It's Still Illegal

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 10 (AP)—Home delivered beer may be "a pattern of life" in suburban St. Matthews, but it's illegal.

Charles B. Zirkle, acting Jefferson County alcohol beverage administrator, said today any further such deliveries will result in license revocation or suspension for offenders.

His ruling was against A. R. Tyler, operator of a home beverage service. Tyler's attorney said the practice was accepted in the community.

Iran Rounds Up 72 Accused Communists

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 10 (AP)—Iran's new government rounded up 72 accused Communists today and disclosed 53 of them had been found hiding out in a hospital. The head doctor was among those arrested.

The government also appointed to the National Oil Council a former oil chief of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's ousted regime who fell out with Mossadegh eventually over his dictatorial ways.

And the government denied that Mossadegh had started a hunger strike in prison where he awaits trial. A spokesman termed the report "A lie."

Preston Co. Prepares For Buckwheat Fete

12th Annual Festival Starts October 7

The buckwheat bloom is gone, and with the grain on the way to the mills, plans have been completed for the 12th annual celebration of the Preston County Buckwheat Festival October 8, 9 and 10th, at Kingwood, W. Va.

The three-day fete this year is under the direction of J. Donald "Happy" Everly and the steering committee. Sponsored by the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department, full programs for all three days have been arranged.

Things get underway on the evening of October 7, when Woody Herman and his nationally famous New Third Herd will play for the Fireman's Ball. October 8, has been set aside for the firemen in the Tri-State area. The first order of the day is the registration of visiting firemen who are then served free Buckwheat Dinners. A Buckwheat Bowl game is to be played in the afternoon with Kingwood and Masontown High Schools participating. Between halves of the game, Alvin R. Frazee of the Rowlesburg Volunteer Fire Department will be crowned King Fireman. Selected as outstanding by his fellow firemen, Frazee will receive his crown from C. A. Raper, state fire marshal.

One of the most spectacular events of the festival takes place in the evening when a gigantic Fireman's Parade takes place. Departments from all over the Tri-State area will be in attendance. A fireworks display on the festival grounds closes the day's activities.

Friday, October 9, is School-Community Day. Miss Joyce Wiles, lovely senior from Tunnelton will be crowned Queen Ceres XII by Governor William C. Marland.

The coronation, preceded by a parade, is a colorful affair with beautifully gowned princesses, tiny flower girls, train and crown bearers in attendance. The honor guard for Queen Ceres XII and her Court is provided by the Scabbard and Blade, honorary fraternity of the West Virginia University Reserve Officers Training Corps. For the queen's entertainment a pageant depicting the faith that led and held early settlers in this area will be portrayed by the Tunnelton School and community. Special exhibits from various Preston County schools will be on display. Special entertainment in the form of a banquet will be provided by the Kingwood chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

October 10, is Farmer's Day, and it is then that the Preston County farmer whose buckwheat has been adjudged as best will become King Buckwheat. The king will be crowned by Carl N. Gustkey, former Prestonion who now resides in Wheeling, W. Va. Gustkey serves as president of the Imperial Glass Corporation in Bellaire, Ohio. A 33rd degree AASR Mason, he is a director of Class Crafts of America and for three years headed the American Glassware Association of all glass producers in the nation.

Other Farmer's Day events include dairy and beef judging contests, parade, pet show and horse show. The king and queen whose court on this day is attended by Future Farmer chapter boys from all over the county will be entertained at a banquet.

A gay carnival holds forth on the festival grounds all during the three-day event and interesting displays are on exhibit in the basement of the Community Building and in huge tents on the grounds.

Opportunity is ever present for all who come to the festival to enjoy the famous "Buckwheat Dinners" that are served in the Community Building and the Methodist Church. Seating facilities for 1000 at a time have been made, and the ladies groups who volunteer to prepare and serve the barrels of batter have ample knowledge of the age-old receipe for the "buckwheats" that has been handed down from generation to generation.

The Buckwheat Dinner consists of buckwheat cakes, (all you can eat!), pure pork sausage, (ground especially for the event!) pure maple syrup, applesauce, and 432 pounds of coffee.

The little town of Kingwood, population 2500, is a delightfully clean town and each citizen immensely enjoys playing host to all who come.

Fort Hill And LaSalle Will Open Football Season Tonight

Sentinels Are Undefeated In City Games Since 1945

Win 14 And Tied One In 7 Years; Contest Tonight At 8 O'Clock

Seven years have elapsed since a local schoolboy eleven defeated Fort Hill's Sentinels and LaSalle High's Explorers will try to break the monotony when they tackle their city rivals as the 1953 grid season gets under way tonight at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

Thanksgiving Day 1945 marked the last time that the Greenway Avenue boys had their colors lowered in an intra-city contest and Allegany turned the trick in a 13-12 squeaker.

Since that reversal Fort Hill teams have met LaSalle and Allegany 15 times, winning 14 and playing one tie. The 6-6 stalemate was with Allegany in the Turkey Day contest of 1948.

Last year Fort Hill defeated its city rivals by convincing scores, whipping LaSalle, 32-6, and Allegany, 37-13.

Hard Hit By Graduation

Both LaSalle and Fort Hill were hard hit by graduation in June. The only regulars the Sentinels retain from 1952 are four ends, namely, Richard Bittner, Gene Weber, Bill Steppe and Wayne Couter. The last named player was shifted to tackle but suffered a knee injury and is not expected to play in the opener. Altogether, the Sentinels lost nine regulars among whom were Athey, Schade, Alderton, Martin and Barnes on the line and Farris, McVicker, Hull and Burke in the backfield.

Coach Hahn's starting backfield tonight will find Paul Reitmeier at quarter; Stanley Teets and Bob Andrews, halfbacks, and Russell Poling, fullback. Up front will be Bill Steppe or Kenny Poling and Dick Bittner or Gene Weber, ends; Dale Hillegas or Edgar Dawson and Tom House or Jim Roe, guards; Edward Cookerly and Bill Murphy, tackles and Neil Bechtol, center.

Seven of the LaSalle players who started in the 33-0 rout of Beall at Frostburg last Thanksgiving Day will be missing from the Explorers' lineup tonight. They are Ackerman, Setgmaier, Crowe, W. Smith, Kienhofer, Quarterback, Marty Mullaney and Right Halfback Loibel.

In the line with Harris and Lennox will be Kenneth Lowery and Phil Geatz, ends; Edgar Kegg and Bill Dove, tackles and Jack Long, guard. Dennis Shuck is slated to start at quarter and John Blake will be the right halfback.

Fort Hill will sport red jerseys for the lid-lifter while the Explorers will do white.

Change Made In Officials

One change was made last night in the list of officials for the contest. Hubert Feeney will serve as head linesman in place of William "Bee" Orndorff, who is ailing. John Shelton of Keyser will be the referee with Jim Gaffney as umpire and Bob Pence as field judge.

The opener is expected to attract a large crowd.

Redlegs Score Over Brooklyn In 11th Frame

Walk With Bases Full Decides Contest, 7-6

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cincinnati let loose with an 18-hit barrage against three Brooklyn pitchers today to defeat the pennant-bound Brooklyn Dodgers in 11 innings, 6-5, but it took a bases loaded walk to give the Redlegs their victory.

A Dodger victory would have assured the club of at least a tie for the National League pennant. They will go to Milwaukee tomorrow to meet the second-place Braves in the first of a two-game series.

The only consolation the Brooks got out of today's long tussle was the establishment of a new club record of 195 homers in a season and the breaking of the league record of 1,100 home runs by all clubs.

Frank Smith, the third pitcher used by Cincinnati, was the winning moundsman and Clem Labine was the loser.

The winning run came when Labine walked Andy Seminick with the bags loaded with none out in the 11th.

A four-run rally by the locals in the fifth inning, featured by Jim Greengrass' 18th homer of the year, put Cincinnati ahead of starting pitcher Preacher Roe, 4 to 2. Greengrass drove in three runs with his blast.

The Preach, who had won 10 consecutive games and lost only two this season, bowed out in the sixth.

Gus Bell, who hit safely five times for the Redlegs, greeted Ben Wade, his successor, with his 30th homer of the year. It was his 11th off Brooklyn pitchers.

Fiore Faces Womber

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, who hasn't won a fight since he upset welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in May, hopes to get back on the winning track tomorrow night at Carmine Fiore's expense.

The two welterweights meet at the St. Nicholas Arena in a ten rounder. Starting at 9 p.m., EST, the scrap will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast.

Will File Suit

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 10 (INS) — Wayne Smart, head driver-trainer for Castleton Farms trotting horses, said today in Indianapolis that he had been cleared of horse doping charges by a lie detector test.

Smart declared that he will file suit in Detroit Circuit Court to lift his suspension and will take no further action until the suit is decided.

Cards Beat Giants, 7-6

Worthington Walks 11, Loses 8th Straight

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Enos Slaughter's fourth home run of the season broke up a 4-4 ball game and led to a hectic three-run eighth inning today by the St. Louis Cardinals that proved just enough for a 7-6 victory over the New York Giants, who staged an uprising of their own in the ninth.

The Cards finally salvaged the game when Daryl Spencer bounced out with the bases loaded and two runs home.

Rookie Al Worthington, who walked 11 batters, just three short of the modern National League record, was the loser. It was his eighth consecutive defeat since hurling shutout victories in his first two starts for the Giants.

Slaughter's homer came with two out and the bases empty in the eighth. An error by Alvin Dark followed by a Steve Bilko double brought home the second St. Louis run of the inning and Spencer's throwing error on Rip Repulski's ground ball enabled Bilko to score what was the winning run. Hal White, who relieved starter Stu Miller in the sixth, was the winner.

O'Briens Join Army

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, South Amboy's basketball and baseball twins, left today for their third dual careers of 1953—with the Army this time.

The inseparable brothers, stars of Seattle University's basketball team and more recently bonus rookies with the Pittsburgh Pirates, were with 27 other inductees when it left here for Ft. Dix.

They were feted at a dinner last night that saw 125 hometowners give them a sendoff.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is considered the best two-strike hitter in the National league?

2—Can you tell how a major league ball player rates by where his locker is in the dressing room?

3—Ball players who used to be known as "clubhouse lawyers," meaning the ones who stirred up dissent, are now called what?

HOOHEE?

HE spent five seasons in the minors and had two unsuccessful trials in the majors before he clicked as an outfielder with the New York Yankees. A native of Akron, O., he originally signed with the Cleveland Indians. Who is he?

ANSWERS

1—Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey of the Cards, who struck out the fewest times of any player in his league last season.

2—Yes. The "big names" generally draw the lockers closest to the shower—so they won't have so far to walk.

Red Top Davis Defeats Arujo

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Spoiler Teddy (Red Top) Davis, 130, of Hartford, Conn., became the New England lightweight boxing champion tonight by storming from behind for a unanimous 10 round decision over George Araujo, 135½ of Providence, R. I., tonight at the Boston Garden. It was Araujo's first start since being knocked out by lightweight titlist Jimmy Carter in June.

Referee Jim McCarron gave Davis 96 points to Araujo's 95, while Judges Joe Santarpio and Jim Carrig favored Davis by 95-94 and 96-92 margins.

Since the Davis-Araujo rematch had been postponed twice during the recent heat spell, it wound up as a dismal financial failure. The battlers divided about half of the $5,790 net receipts provided by the 3,141 crowd. The gross was $7,800.

Champ Looks Bad

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 10 (INS) — Former Middleweight Champion Billy Soose said heavyweight king Rocky Marciano "looked bad" in training today and "maybe is tired and needs some extra rest."

Soose watched Marciano go through six unimpressive rounds against three sparring partners in preparation for his Sept. 24 title bout with Roland LaStarza.

Keyser To Open 11th Year With Clark At Helm

Hosts Charles Town; Other Games Carded

Fred "Tack" Clark, one-time Allegany High School grid, baseball and track star, will begin his 11th season as football mentor at Keyser High School when the "Golden Tornado" faces Coach "Zip" Lorenz's Charles Town High School Purple Panthers today at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 1:30 o'clock.

Clark coached four seasons at Moorefield before taking over the reins at Keyser. Thus, he will be starting his 15th year of grid coaching today.

Keyser Holds 5-3 Edge

The game will be the ninth of the series between Charles Town and Keyser and the Mineral Countians hold a 5-3 edge in victories. The Clarkmen copped the 1952 contest, 33 to 6. Charles Town scored a 26-6 victory in 1951. The Jefferson Countians have seven lettermen on the squad.

Eight of Keyser's starters were regulars on the 1952 team that won six, lost three and tied one, captured the P.V.C. title and had the conference's top scorer in Ernie Courrier. The only starters who were not regulars last season are Webb, right halfback; Blackburn, tackle, and Tom Karras, quarterback. Others in the lineup named by Clark are: Wilson and Burns, ends; Raines, tackle; Landis and Athey, guards; Mason, center; Morris, left half, and Courrier, fullback.

Jackets Host Green Bank

Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets kick off the lid today with Green Bank High School of Pocahontas County, a school that has given the Hardy Countians trouble in the past. Green Bank whipped Moorefield last year, 21-12 and in 1950 by the score of 12-7. The Jackets won the 1951 and 1949 contests, 26-13 and 14-0. Today's game is scheduled for Moorefield.

Vikings Invade Thomas

Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High Vikings and Thomas High, coached by Ed Supak, launch the 17th Potomac Valley Conference campaign today at Thomas at 2 p. m., EST.

Petersburg won the 1952 and 1951 games from the Bears, 27-0 and 7-0 but lost the five previous games, 7-0, 13-7, 13-0 and 19-12 and 13-0.

Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers invade Berkeley Springs for their opener today.

Seek Seventh In Row

The Pioneers have won six consecutive games from Berkeley since the teams battled to a scoreless tie in 1946. Last year the score was 33-13.

Dodgers To Accept Orders For Tickets

BROOKLYN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today they will accept mail orders immediately for reserved seats to the three World Series games to be played at Ebbets Field Oct. 2, 3 and 4. No orders postmarked later than Sept. 15 will be accepted.

Tickets will be sold only in strips of three, with each customer limited to two strips. The price is $21 per strip, plus $1 to cover mailing costs. Only certified checks or money orders will be honored.

All orders must be addressed to the Dodgers' business office at 215 Montague St., Brooklyn. Those addressed to individuals in the organization will be tossed into the waste basket, the Dodgers say.

SLATED to fill the shoes of Pee-wee Reese at short for the Dodgers when the veteran hangs up his shoes, Don Zimmer (above), St. Paul shortstop, has been picked as American Association "rookie of the year" although his season play ended July 7. Zimmer, who suffered a skull fracture in a game that day, has been out ever since and won't return to action until next year, probably with the Dodgers. When he was hurt Zimmer was leading the league in homers and was hitting .300. (International)

Ralph Lomeli Leads Eastern Open Tourney

Californian Posts 66 In First Round

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — Ralph Lomeli, a Fresno, Calif., golf driving range owner using an improvised bent putter, zoomed out of a pack of unknowns with a score of 66, one off the course record, to lead the first round of the Eastern Open today.

The swarthy 33-year-old comparative stranger to the professional golfing trail had a perfect putting day with a club he twisted to suit himself earlier this week.

He tapped the ball only 27 times on the 18 greens in taking six strokes less than the Mount Pleasant course par. There remain three more days of 18 holes each in the $15,000 tourney ending the summer circuit.

Boros Tied For Second

Julius Boros, the 1952 golfer of the year and disappointment of 1953, had a real chance to catch Lomeli late in the afternoon. He was five strokes under par through 16 holes and then took a bogey four on the 17th to wind up with 68 and tied for second with John O'Donnell, a stay-at-home golfer from Norfolk, Va.

Avery Beck of Kinston, N. C., among the last of the 120 starters to come in, also blew an opportunity to get up alongside Lomeli. Beck had five strokes on par after only 12 holes, but lost two of them in the stretch for 69 and a four-way tie for fourth.

Deadlocked with Beck were Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., Andy Gibson, Baltimore, and Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Eight Shoot 70s

There was an eight-way tie at 70, including Walter Romans, Baltimore, 34-36—70 and Jack Isaacs, Langley Field, Va., 38-32—70. Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., shot a 38-33—71 and also tied with seven others.

County Tenpin League To Open With 10 Clubs

Five Matches Are Scheduled Tonight

The County Tenpin League will open its seventh season today with a five-match slate for the 10-club circuit.

The 10 teams which will open this season are a reduction from last year's 12-team loop. Cas Taylor's pinmen, winners of the regular season flag, and Art Blank's of Frostburg have dropped from the league.

Returning teams are the Golden Nuggets of Frostburg, formerly Clarysville Inn, Cresap Tavern, Del's Bowling Center, formerly Hy-Burger's, Workman's Restaurant, Green Chevrolet, Music Shop, Allegany Ballistics, Frostburg DAV, Silver Lanes of Cresaptown and Mason's Dairy.

The Clarysville team, now the Golden Nuggets, are the defending champions, having won the Shaughnessy playoffs last year.

Officials of the league said yesterday that team rosters must be completed and turned in to the league by the second Friday playing date of the season. Captains of the respective teams will be elected at future dates.

Today's schedule finds Golden Nuggets at Cresap Tavern on the Cresaptown alleys; Del's at Workman's in Frostburg; Green's Chevrolet at Music Shop on the Bowling Green alleys; Allegany Ballistics at Frostburg DAV; and Silver Lanes at Mason's Dairy at Cresaptown.

All three-game matches will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Bassford Named To Boxing Body

Hagerstown Man Is McKeldin's Choice

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — A Washington County Republican, Morris Bassford of Hagerstown, today was named to the State Athletic Commission by Gov. McKeldin.

The governor also announced that John Marshall Boone, Baltimore Republican, and a commission member has been named chairman.

Bassford's appointment puts two Republicans on the three-man board. The third member is James W. Mullen, a Democrat.

The governor said a secretary to succeed the late Joseph M. Kelly, will be named later.

Bassford, who is 51, a director of the Maryland Insurance Association, and a member of his county's Republican State Central Committee, succeeds James T. Holmes on the commission. The term of Holmes, who was chairman and a Democrat, expired this year.

Bassford, a former Baltimorean, has been active in sports and has been a member of the American Olympic Committee.

Mental Health To Be Subject Of TV Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The District of Columbia Public Health Department is about to attempt something new: it's going to try to help people with emotional and mental problems by means of a weekly television show.

For 13 weeks a Sunday night skit will deal with such problems as:

1. Juvenile delinquents, described as "angry boys," who show how they feel in their vandalism and shoplifting.
2. The honeymoon is over, and financial problems bob up.
3. The straw boss who is meek around his superiors or his wife, but likes to lord it over his subordinates.
4. The person who is overweight due to emotional upsets.
5. The boy who runs away from home because he feels he is unwanted.

This is the third television series, each a pioneer, tried by the health department. Previously there was a series on venereal diseases and another on alcoholism.

Both were so successful that they have been repeated elsewhere, and Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director, said already other cities have become interested in the experiment here on mental health even though the first program won't be presented until Sept. 27.

Dr. Leopold Wexberg, mental health director for the district, said this is the theory behind the programs:

If ordinary scenes from real life are presented on the shows, more people will become aware of the problems—and the need for solving them.

For it's the psychiatrists' contention that the accumulation of unsolved problems can eventually lead to disaster. Seeing the problems presented, and possible solutions, may help people with similar troubles, Dr. Wexberg believes, or at least convince them they should get competent professional advice.

I. T. & T. Income Up

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and subsidiaries had consolidated net income of $9,873,217 for the 6 months ended June 30 compared with $9,666,002 for the like period last year, the quarterly statement showed today.

Riviera Thieves Make New Haul

NICE, France, Sept. 10 (AP) — Thieves hit the jack pot again Tuesday night on the French Riviera, taking jewels valued at 10 million francs ($25,571) from the villa of French Count de Marguenat.

This brought the season's total of thefts and robberies along this famous resort region to a whopping 162 million francs ($462,856).

Practice Is Accepted But It's Still Illegal

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 10 (AP)—Home delivered beer may be "a pattern of life" in suburban St. Matthews, but it's illegal.

Charles B. Zirkle, acting Jefferson County alcohol beverage administrator, said today any further such deliveries will result in license revocation or suspension for offenders.

His ruling was against A. R. Tyler, operator of a home beverage service. Tyler's attorney said the practice was accepted in the community.

Iran Rounds Up 72 Accused Communists

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 10 (AP)—Iran's new government rounded up 72 accused Communists today and disclosed 53 of them had been found hiding out in a hospital. The head doctor was among those arrested.

The government also appointed to the National Oil Council a former oil chief of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's ousted regime who fell out with Mossadegh eventually over his dictatorial ways.

Gene Woodling And Ed Lopat Beat Chicago

Yankee Lefthander Bags 15th Win, 1-0, On Circuit Wallop

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Steady Eddie Lopat needed only one hit, a home run by reliable Gene Woodling in the second inning, to rack up his 15th victory today as he pitched the New York Yankees to a thrilling 1-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The veteran slow-balling southpaw permitted only four hits, three by Chico Carrasquel, as he recorded his fourth straight success against the Sox this season without a defeat. The shutout was his third of the year and reduced his earned run average to 2.50, best in the American League.

The triumph narrowed the Yankees' "magic number" to seven games they just win of their remaining 16 to mathematically clinch their fifth successive pennant. Of course, every time the Cleveland Indians lose, it cuts the Yankees' magic number that much more.

Lopat found Sandy Consuegra, the little Cuban righthander, a tough antagonist. Consuegra, who had the misfortune to lose a heart-breaking 1-0 decision to Eddie Ford the last time he faced the world champions at Yankee Stadium, pitched a whale of a game too. He allowed only six hits, two of them bloopers that dropped over the infield.

One of the Yankee hits, however, was a "wrong field" homer by Woodling after two were out in the second inning. Woodling, a lefthanded batter, connected with an outside pitch and sent it arching into the lower left field stands for his ninth homer of the year.

Lopat walked only one and struck out two as he registered his 15th win against only three losses this season. Only one Chicago runner reached third base as the Yankees reeled off two double plays to help Lopat hurl the team's 17th shutout of the season.

Tatum Sees Films Of Squad In Action

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—The docs are going to keep Maryland Coach Jim Tatum in the hospital for at least another day but tonight he saw his squad in action—via film.

Doctors also have been studying film—x-ray pictures of Tatum's recovery.

Tatum underwent a minor operation Tuesday for the freeing of a kidney stone. He reported today he was feeling "pretty good" although still somewhat uncomfortable. Doctors said he'll be hospitalized at least another 24 hours for further observation and treatment. They don't want him to take to the field too soon.

Tonight Tatum saw films of yesterday's scrimmage. Acting Coach Warren Giese brought them to the hospital after the squad saw them.

For the Sept. 19 opener with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., Tatum plans to take 39 players. The squad now totals 67.

Williams Hits Two Home Runs As Red Sox Win

McDermott Posts 17th Win Over Tribe, 14-4

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—After being silenced for a game by Cleveland pitching, Ted Williams connected for his 10th and 11th homers today as the Boston Red Sox said their 1953 farewells to the Indians with a 14-4 victory. While gaining his 17th pitching decision against eight losses, Lefty Maury McDermott drove in four runs with three hits and held the Indians to nine safeties.

While the second-place Indians were losing only their fourth game in their last 24 starts, thereby dropping 10 games behind the New York Yankees, Boston's durable Ellis Kinder crashed the American League record book.

Kinder took over for McDermott in the ninth inning to make his 64th relief appearance of the season. By so doing, he erased the 63-mark Joe Heving set as a Cleveland fireman in 1944.

The Red Sox clubbed four Cleveland pitchers for 17 hits. Early Wynn, seeking his 18th victory, was the starter and he managed to make Williams fly out on his first two batting trips. Last night Mike Garcia had held Williams hitless on four tries and it was the first time Williams had been blanked in the 15 games he had started in left field since returning from his Korean jet-fighter pilot service.

U. S. Net Aces Open Series With Canada

Trabert And Seixas Play Singles Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MONTREAL, Sept. 10 (AP)—Taking no chances, the United States will send its two biggest tennis guns—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas— against Canada tomorrow in opening singles matches of the American Zone Davis Cup final.

Trabert, the new national champion, will face left-handed Henri Rochon in the first tilt at 12:30 p.m. (EST) and Seixas, the Wimbledon titlist, will follow against little Lorne Main, the Dominion's No. 1 performer.

The matches at the Mount Royal Tennis Club are expected to be no more than an American warmup for the challenge round against Australia in December.

The doubles match is scheduled Saturday with the final two singles Sunday. If Uncle Sam has clinched a decision by Sunday, as anticipated, the two Davis Cup subs, Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., may be thrown into action.

In the tandem match Saturday, the Trabert-Seixas combination will oppose Main and young Paul Willey, a freshman member of the Canadian squad.

Rochon, Trabert's foe, is a veteran of the Canadian Davis squad, having been a member since 1946. A slender, 28-year-old Montreal player, he goes in for a lot of slices and chop shots which are effective on grass. However, he hasn't the strokes to bother the 23-year-old ex-sailor from Cincinnati, who swept through the nationals at Forest Hills last week without loss of a set.

Larry MacPhail Sues Operators Of Bowie Track

Fired Last Spring, Now Asks $257,148

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Larry MacPhail today filed two suits against the operators of Bowie race track asking a total of $257,148.43.

The former head of the Southern Maryland track asked $200,000 based on an agreement he alleged existed between himself and the track management calling for payment to him of five per cent of the difference in gross income at the track between a period when he was not in charge and the period during which he operated Bowie.

He also seeks $3,500 for use of two pieces of equipment from his Bel Air farm and the services of his farm manager for the benefit of the track. Other claims include an expense account, his April salary, unpaid salary for 1953 and an additional $25,000 for 1954.

MacPhail was fired from Bowie last spring after an argument with state police as to how traffic should be handled on a county road after a race. He forefeited $250 on a charge of assaulting a state trooper. Track officials said the former major league baseball magnate had used loud and abusive language at the track on that same day.

Maroon Dads Win

The fathers of the LaVale Maroons of the Pen Mar Little League swamped the Orange fathers yesterday by the score of 30 to 7 at LaVale.

Lynch paced the winners 27-hit attack with three doubles and two singles. Henry Lowery had two of the Orange team's seven blows.

The teams meet again next Wednesday night. Score:

MAROONS ..... 023 380 31(10)—30 27 5
ORANGE ..... 000 003 220 — 7 7 12

Bobby Raines Beats Germans For 5th Time

Ryan, Shockey Lead Attack As Westvaco Squares Series, 10-6

Bobby Raines defeated Cumberland's Old Germans for the fifth time this season when he pitched the Westvaco Papermakers to a 10-6 victory over the locals yesterday at Penn Avenue Field to even up the Bi-State League's playoff series for first place at one-all.

Cumberland held a 5-3 lead going into the 6th inning when Westvaco exploded for six runs on two walks, two hits and three errors to put the game on ice.

Leo Ryan and Jim Shockey were the "big guns" for the Papermakers, batting in seven of the visitors' ten tallies. Ryan belted two doubles and a single in five trips and drove home four runs while Shockey hammered home three markers with a two-run triple in the second and also a single. Inskeep had two hits for the victors.

Raines Scores 15th Win

In notching his 15th victory of the year, Raines gave up 12 hits, struck out 12 and issued four bases on balls. His record against the Old Germans is now 5-1.

Ronnie Sisk, the Old G's starting pitcher, was charged with the defeat. He was replaced by Jack Kauffman in the fifth and Norman Geatz took over in the 7th inning of the game halted by darkness at the end of the eighth.

Manager Frank Urbas paced the losers at the plate with a double and two singles and pounded over four of the locals' six runs. George Geatz rapped two singles and "Woody" Woodson larruped a triple.

It was "Donnie Lease Day" and the local player received a cash gift from the home team.

Third Game Set Saturday

The third and deciding game is set for Saturday at 3 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field and will be observed as "Jack Kauffman Day" in honor of the Old Germans' undefeated pitcher.

League playoffs begin Sunday with Westvaco and the Old Germans as the host teams. Frostburg and Mt. Savage are the other teams in the playoffs and their opponents will be unknown until the conclusion of the Saturday contest. The first place finisher faces Frostburg while the second place team will oppose Mt. Savage.

Yesterday's score:

WESTVACO ..... 030 061 00—10 11 1
OLD GERMANS ..... 202 101 00— 6 12 7
(Game Called end of 8th)

Raines and Shockey. Sisk, Kauffman (5), N. Geatz (7) and Langan.
LP—Sisk.

Durocher, Furillo Will Bury Hatchet

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Another baseball "fight" has ended with outfielder Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn Dodgers and manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants at peace with each other.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, made certain of that today in a telephone conversation with Furillo.

The league head was concerned over statements the player would resume the tussle which occurred in the Polo Grounds last Sunday whenever he met Durocher.

Furillo told Giles he made the statement "in the heat of anger" and that so far as he is concerned, the matter is ended. Furillo spoke from his home in Stony Creek Mills, Pa.

"That's fine with me," said Durocher in St. Louis. "I have nothing else to say."

Open Series Sunday

The playoff series for the championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League between Barrelville and Hyndman will get under way Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at Hyndman instead of Saturday as previously announced by the teams.

Fort Hill And LaSalle Will Open Football Season Tonight

Sentinels Are Undefeated In City Games Since 1945

Win 14 And Tied One In 7 Years; Contest Tonight At 8 O'Clock

Seven years have elapsed since a local schoolboy eleven defeated Fort Hill's Sentinels and LaSalle High's Explorers will try to break the monotony when they tackle their city rivals as the 1953 grid season gets under way tonight at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

Thanksgiving Day 1945 marked the last time that the Greenway Avenue boys had their colors lowered in an intra-city contest and Allegany turned the trick in a 13-12 squeaker.

Since that reversal Fort Hill teams have met LaSalle and Allegany 15 times, winning 14 and playing one tie. The 6-6 stalemate was with Allegany in the Turkey Day contest of 1948.

Last year Fort Hill defeated its city rivals by convincing scores, whipping LaSalle, 32-6, and Allegany, 37-13.

Hard Hit By Graduation

Both LaSalle and Fort Hill were hard hit by graduation in June. The only regulars the Sentinels retain from 1952 are four ends, namely, Richard Bittner, Gene Weber, Bill Steppe and Wayne Couter. The last named player was shifted to tackle but suffered a knee injury and is not expected to play in the opener. Altogether, the Sentinels lost nine regulars among whom were Athey, Schade, Alderton, Martin and Barnes on the line and Farris, McVicker, Hull and Burke in the backfield.

Coach Hahn's starting backfield tonight will find Paul Reitmeier at quarter; Stanley Teets and Bob Andrews, halfbacks, and Russell Poling, fullback. Up front will be Bill Steppe or Kenny Poling and Dick Bittner or Gene Weber, ends; Dale Hillegas or Edgar Dawson and Tom House or Jim Roe, guards; Edward Cookerly and Bill Murphy, tackles and Neil Bechtol, center.

Seven of the LaSalle players who started in the 33-0 rout of Beall at Frostburg last Thanksgiving Day will be missing from the Explorers' lineup tonight. They are Ackerman, Setgmaier, Crowe, W. Smith, Kienhofer, Quarterback, Marty Mullaney and Right Halfback Loibel.

In the line with Harris and Lennox will be Kenneth Lowery and Phil Geatz, ends; Edgar Kegg and Bill Dove, tackles and Jack Long, guard. Dennis Shuck is slated to start at quarter and John Blake will be the right halfback.

Fort Hill will sport red jerseys for the lid-lifter while the Explorers will do white.

Change Made In Officials

One change was made last night in the list of officials for the contest. Hubert Feeney will serve as head linesman in place of William "Bee" Orndorff, who is ailing. John Shelton of Keyser will be the referee with Jim Gaffney as umpire and Bob Pence as field judge.

The opener is expected to attract a large crowd.

Walk With Bases Full Decides Contest, 7-6

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cincinnati let loose with an 18-hit barrage against three Brooklyn pitchers today to defeat the pennant-bound Brooklyn Dodgers in 11 innings, 6-5, but it took a bases loaded walk to give the Redlegs their victory.

A Dodger victory would have assured the club of at least a tie for the National League pennant. They will go to Milwaukee tomorrow to meet the second-place Braves in the first of a two-game series.

The only consolation the Brooks got out of today's long tussle was the establishment of a new club record of 195 homers in a season and the breaking of the league record of 1,100 home runs by all clubs.

Frank Smith, the third pitcher used by Cincinnati, was the winning moundsman and Clem Labine was the loser.

The winning run came when Labine walked Andy Seminick with the bags loaded with none out in the 11th.

A four-run rally by the locals in the fifth inning, featured by Jim Greengrass' 18th homer of the year, put Cincinnati ahead of starting pitcher Preacher Roe, 4 to 2. Greengrass drove in three runs with his blast.

The Preach, who had won 10 consecutive games and lost only two this season, bowed out in the sixth.

Gus Bell, who hit safely five times for the Redlegs, greeted Ben Wade, his successor, with his 30th homer of the year. It was his 11th off Brooklyn pitchers.

Fiore Faces Womber

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, who hasn't won a fight since he upset welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in May, hopes to get back on the winning track tomorrow night at Carmine Fiore's expense.

The two welterweights meet at the St. Nicholas Arena in a ten rounder. Starting at 9 p.m., EST, the scrap will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast.

Will File Suit

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 10 (INS) — Wayne Smart, head driver-trainer for Castleton Farms trotting horses, said today in Indianapolis that he had been cleared of horse doping charges by a lie detector test.

Smart declared that he will file suit in Detroit Circuit Court to lift his suspension and will take no further action until the suit is decided.

Cards Beat Giants, 7-6

Worthington Walks 11, Loses 8th Straight

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Enos Slaughter's fourth home run of the season broke up a 4-4 ball game and led to a hectic three-run eighth inning today by the St. Louis Cardinals that proved just enough for a 7-6 victory over the New York Giants, who staged an uprising of their own in the ninth.

The Cards finally salvaged the game when Daryl Spencer bounced out with the bases loaded and two runs home.

Rookie Al Worthington,, who walked 11 batters, just three short of the modern National League record, was the loser. It was his eighth consecutive defeat since hurling shutout victories in his first two starts for the Giants.

Slaughter's homer came with two out and the bases empty in the eighth. An error by Alvin Dark followed by a Steve Bilko double brought home the second St. Louis run of the inning and Spencer's throwing error on Rip Repulski's ground ball enabled Bilko to score what was the winning run. Hal White, who relieved starter Stu Miller in the sixth, was the winner.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, South Amboy's basketball and baseball twins, left today for their third dual careers of 1953—with the Army this time.

The inseparable brothers, stars of Seattle University's basketball team and more recently bonus rookies with the Pittsburgh Pirates, were with 27 other inductees when it left here for Ft. Dix.

They were feted at a dinner last night that saw 125 hometowners give them a sendoff.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is considered the best two-strike hitter in the National league?

2—Can you tell how a major league ball player rates by where his locker is in the dressing room?

HOOHEE?

HE spent five seasons in the minors and had two unsuccessful trials in the majors before he clicked as an outfielder with the New York Yankees. A native of Akron, O., he originally signed with the Cleveland Indians. Who is he?

ANSWERS

1—Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey of the Cards, who struck out the fewest times of any player in his league last season.

2—Yes. The "big names" generally draw the lockers closest to the shower—so they won't have so far to walk.

Red Top Davis Defeats Arujo

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Spoiler Teddy (Red Top) Davis, 130, of Hartford, Conn., became the New England lightweight boxing champion tonight by storming from behind for a unanimous 10 round decision over George Araujo, 135½ of Providence, R. I., tonight at the Boston Garden. It was Araujo's first start since being knocked out by lightweight titlist Jimmy Carter in June.

Referee Jim McCarron gave Davis 96 points to Araujo's 95, while Judges Joe Santarpio and Jim Carrig favored Davis by 95-94 and 96-92 margins.

Since the Davis-Araujo rematch had been postponed twice during the recent heat spell, it wound up as a dismal financial failure. The battlers divided about half of the $5,790 net receipts provided by the 3,141 crowd. The gross was $7,800.

Champ Looks Bad

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 10 (INS) — Former Middleweight Champion Billy Soose said heavyweight king Rocky Marciano "looked bad" in training today and "maybe is tired and needs some extra rest."

Soose watched Marciano go through six unimpressive rounds against three sparring partners in preparation for his Sept. 24 title bout with Roland LaStarza.

Keyser To Open 11th Year With Clark At Helm

Hosts Charles Town; Other Games Carded

Fred "Tack" Clark, one-time Allegany High School grid, baseball and track star, will begin his 11th season as football mentor at Keyser High School when the "Golden Tornado" faces Coach "Zip" Lorenz's Charles Town High School Purple Panthers today at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 1:30 o'clock.

Keyser Holds 5-3 Edge

The game will be the ninth of the series between Charles Town and Keyser and the Mineral Countians hold a 5-3 edge in victories. The Clarkmen copped the 1952 contest, 33 to 6. Charles Town scored a 26-6 victory in 1951. The Jefferson Countians have seven lettermen on the squad.

Eight of Keyser's starters were regulars on the 1952 team that won six, lost three and tied one, captured the P.V.C. title and had the conference's top scorer in Ernie Courrier. The only starters who were not regulars last season are Webb, right halfback; Blackburn, tackle, and Tom Karras, quarterback. Others in the lineup named by Clark are: Wilson and Burns, ends; Raines, tackle; Landis and Athey, guards; Mason, center; Morris, left half, and Courrier, fullback.

Jackets Host Green Bank

Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets kick off the lid today with Green Bank High School of Pocahontas County, a school that has given the Hardy Countians trouble in the past. Green Bank whipped Moorefield last year, 21-12 and in 1950 by the score of 12-7. The Jackets won the 1951 and 1949 contests, 26-13 and 14-0. Today's game is scheduled for Moorefield.

Vikings Invade Thomas

Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High Vikings and Thomas High, coached by Ed Supak, launch the 17th Potomac Valley Conference campaign today at Thomas at 2 p. m., EST.

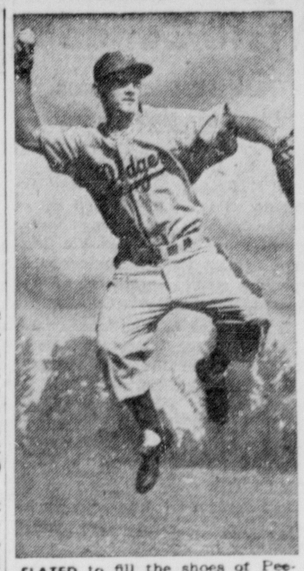

Petersburg won the 1952 and 1951 games from the Bears, 27-0 and 7-0 but lost the five previous games, 7-0, 13-7, 13-0 and 19-12 and 13-0.

Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers invade Berkeley Springs for their opener today.

Seek Seventh In Row

The Pioneers have won six consecutive games from Berkeley since the teams battled to a scoreless tie in 1946. Last year the score was 33-13.

In games scheduled tonight, Hagerstown High School's Hubs, coached by Mel Henry, visit Chambersburg, and Bedford High's Bisons host Boswell.

SLATED to fill the shoes of Peewee Reese at short for the Dodgers when the veteran hangs up his shoes, Don Zimmer (above), St. Paul shortstop, has been picked as American Association "rookie of the year" although his season play ended July 7. Zimmer, who suffered a skull fracture in a game that day, has been out ever since and won't return to action until next year, probably with the Dodgers. When he was hurt Zimmer was leading the league in homers and was hitting .300. (International)

Ralph Lomeli Leads Eastern Open Tourney

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — Ralph Lomeli, a Fresno, Calif., golf driving range owner using an improvised bent putter, zoomed out of a pack of unknowns with a score of 66, one off the course record, to lead the first round of the Eastern Open today.

The swarthy 33-year-old comparative stranger to the professional golfing trail had a perfect putting day with a club he twisted to suit himself earlier this week.

He tapped the ball only 27 times on the 18 greens in taking six strokes less than the Mount Pleasant course par. There remain three more days of 18 holes each in the $15,000 tourney ending the summer circuit.

Boros Tied For Second

Julius Boros, the 1952 golfer of the year and disappointment of 1953, had a real chance to catch Lomeli late in the afternoon. He was five strokes under par through 16 holes and then took a bogey four on the 17th to wind up with 68 and tied for second with John O'Donnell, a stay-at-home golfer from Norfolk, Va.

Avery Beck of Kinston, N. C., among the last of the 120 starters to come in, also blew an opportunity to get up alongside Lomeli. Beck had five strokes on par after only 12 holes, but lost two of them in the stretch for 69 and a four-way tie for fourth.

Deadlocked with Beck were Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., Andy Gibson, Baltimore, and Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Eight Shoot 70s

There was an eight-way tie at 70, including Walter Romans, Baltimore, 34-36—70 and Jack Isaacs, Langley Field, Va., 38-32—70. Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., shot a 38-33—71 and also tied with seven others.

Tickets will be sold only in strips of three, with each customer limited to two strips. The price is $21 per strip, plus $1 to cover mailing costs. Only certified checks or money orders will be honored.

All orders must be addressed to the Dodgers' business office at 215 Montague St., Brooklyn. Those addressed to individuals in the organization will be tossed into the waste basket, the Dodgers say.

County Tenpin League To Open With 10 Clubs

Five Matches Are Scheduled Tonight

The County Tenpin League will open its seventh season today with a five-match slate for the 10-club circuit.

The 10 teams which will open this season are a reduction from last year's 12-team loop. Cas Taylor's pinmen, winners of the regular season flag, and Art Blank's of Frostburg have dropped from the league.

Returning teams are the Golden Nuggets of Frostburg, formerly Clarysville Inn, Cresap Tavern, Del's Bowling Center, formerly Hy-Burger's, Workman's Restaurant, Green Chevrolet, Music Shop, Allegany Ballistics, Frostburg DAV, Silver Lanes of Cresaptown and Mason's Dairy.

The Clarysville team, now the Golden Nuggets, are the defending champions, having won the Shaughnessy playoffs last year.

Officials of the league said yesterday that team rosters must be completed and turned in to the league by the second Friday playing date of the season. Captains of the respective teams will be elected at future dates.

Today's schedule finds Golden Nuggets at Cresap Tavern on the Cresaptown alleys; Del's at Workman's in Frostburg; Green's Chevrolet at Music Shop on the Bowling Green alleys; Allegany Ballistics at Frostburg DAV; and Silver Lanes at Mason's Dairy at Cresaptown.

All three-game matches will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Bassford Named To Boxing Body

Hagerstown Man Is McKeldin's Choice

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — A Washington County Republican, Morris Bassford of Hagerstown, today was named to the State Athletic Commission by Gov. McKeldin.

The governor also announced that John Marshall Boone, Baltimore Republican, and a commission member has been named chairman.

Bassford's appointment puts two Republicans on the three-man board. The third member is James W. Mullen, a Democrat.

The governor said a secretary to succeed the late Joseph M. Kelly, will be named later.

Bassford, who is 51, a director of the Maryland Insurance Association, and a member of his county's Republican State Central Committee, succeeds James T. Holmes on the commission. The term of Holmes, who was chairman and a Democrat, expired this year.

Bassford, a former Baltimorean, has been active in sports and has been a member of the American Olympic Committee.

McKee Trial Planned Today

Howard McKee, 22, of 65 East Main Street, Frostburg, is scheduled before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. today on a charge of breaking into the tavern of "Big Lou" Riley in Frostburg July 14.

Captured in Ohio, McKee has been confined in the County Jail since July 17. A petition asking for an immediate trial and a criminal information prepared by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, were filed yesterday in Circuit Court.

McKee will be represented by his court-appointed attorney, Noel Speir Cook.

The young man's father, James McKee, 58, and his younger brother, Lawrence, 19, were tried August 13 before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on charges of drinking whisky stolen from Riley's place. They were placed on two years probation.

Another suspect in the Riley burglary, which resulted in theft of $150 from his cash box, Eugene Jeffries, has been free under bond since July 25.

Gene Woodling And Ed Lopat Beat Chicago

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Steady Eddie Lopat needed only one hit, a home run by reliable Gene Woodling in the second inning, to rack up his 15th victory today as he pitched the New York Yankees to a thrilling 1-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The veteran slow-balling southpaw permitted only four hits, three by Chico Carrasquel, as he recorded his fourth straight success against the Sox this season without a defeat. The shutout was his third of the year and reduced his earned run average to 2.50, best in the American League.

The triumph narrowed the Yankees' "magic number" to seven games they just win of their remaining 16 to mathematically clinch their fifth successive pennant. Of course, every time the Cleveland Indians lose, it cuts the Yankees' magic number that much more.

Lopat found Sandy Consuegra, the little Cuban righthander, a tough antagonist. Consuegra, who had the misfortune to lose a heart-breaking 1-0 decision to Eddie Ford the last time he faced the world champions at Yankee Stadium, pitched a whale of a game too. He allowed only six hits, two of them bloopers that dropped over the infield.

One of the Yankee hits, however, was a "wrong field" homer by Woodling after two were out in the second inning. Woodling, a lefthanded batter, connected with an outside pitch and sent it arching into the lower left field stands for his ninth homer of the year.

Lopat walked only one and struck out two as he registered his 15th win against only three losses this season. Only one Chicago runner reached third base as the Yankees reeled off two double plays to help Lopat hurl the team's 17th shutout of the season.

Tatum Sees Films Of Squad In Action

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—The docs are going to keep Maryland Coach Jim Tatum in the hospital for at least another day but tonight he saw his squad in action—via film.

Doctors also have been studying film—x-ray pictures of Tatum's recovery.

Tatum underwent a minor operation Tuesday for the freeing of a kidney stone. He reported today he was feeling "pretty good" although still somewhat uncomfortable. Doctors said he'll be hospitalized at least another 24 hours for further observation and treatment. They don't want him to take to the field too soon.

Tonight Tatum saw films of yesterday's scrimmage. Acting Coach Warren Giese brought them to the hospital after the squad saw them.

For the Sept. 19 opener with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., Tatum plans to take 39 players. The squad now totals 67.

Chuck Dressen Wants To Rest Three Players

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Chuck Dressen said he hopes his Brooklyn Dodgers clinch the National League pennant against Milwaukee tomorrow or Saturday.

He wants to give catcher Roy Campanella, shortstop Peewee Reese and first baseman-outfielder Gil Hodges a rest.

McDermott Posts 17th Win Over Tribe, 14-4

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—After being silenced for a game by Cleveland pitching, Ted Williams connected for his 10th and 11th homers today as the Boston Red Sox said their 1953 farewells to the Indians with a 14-4 victory. While gaining his 17th pitching decision against eight losses, Lefty Maury McDermott drove in four runs with three hits and held the Indians to nine safeties.

While the second-place Indians were losing only their fourth game in their last 24 starts, thereby dropping 10 games behind the New York Yankees, Boston's durable Ellis Kinder crashed the American League record book.

Kinder took over for McDermott in the ninth inning to make his 64th relief appearance of the season. By so doing, he erased the 63-mark Joe Heving set as a Cleveland fireman in 1944.

The Red Sox clubbed four Cleveland pitchers for 17 hits. Early Wynn, seeking his 18th victory, was the starter and he managed to make Williams fly out on his first two batting trips. Last night Mike Garcia had held Williams hitless on four tries and it was the first time Williams had been blanked in the 15 games he had started in left field since returning from his Korean jet-fighter pilot service.

U. S. Net Aces Open Series With Canada

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MONTREAL, Sept. 10 (AP)—Taking no chances, the United States will send its two biggest tennis guns—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas— against Canada tomorrow in opening singles matches of the American Zone Davis Cup final.

Trabert, the new national champion, will face left-handed Henri Rochon in the first tilt at 12:30 p.m. (EST) and Seixas, the Wimbledon titlist, will follow against little Lorne Main, the Dominion's No. 1 performer.

The matches at the Mount Royal Tennis Club are expected to be no more than an American warm-up for the challenge round against Australia in December.

The doubles match is scheduled Saturday with the final two singles Sunday. If Uncle Sam has clinched a decision by Sunday, as anticipated, the two Davis Cup subs, Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., may be thrown into action.

In the tandem match Saturday, the Trabert-Seixas combination will oppose Main and young Paul Willey, a freshman member of the Canadian squad.

Rochon, Trabert's foe, is a veteran of the Canadian Davis squad, having been a member since 1946. A slender, 28-year-old Montreal player, he goes in for a lot of slices and chop shots which are effective on grass. However, he hasn't the strokes to bother the 23-year-old ex-sailor from Cincinnati, who swept through the nationals at Forest Hills last week without loss of a set.

Larry MacPhail Sues Operators Of Bowie Track

Fired Last Spring, Now Asks $257,148

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Larry MacPhail today filed two suits against the operators of Bowie race track asking a total of $257,148.43.

The former head of the Southern Maryland track asked $200,000 based on an agreement he alleged existed between himself and the track management calling for payment to him of five per cent of the difference in gross income at the track between a period when he was not in charge and the period during which he operated Bowie.

He also seeks $3,500 for use of two pieces of equipment from his Bel Air farm and the services of his farm manager for the benefit of the track. Other claims include an expense account, his April salary, unpaid salary for 1953 and an additional $25,000 for 1954.

MacPhail was fired from Bowie last spring after an argument with state police as to how traffic should be handled on a county road after a race. He forefeited $250 on a charge of assaulting a state trooper. Track officials said the former major league baseball magnate had used loud and abusive language at the track on that same day.

Maroon Dads Win

The fathers of the LaVale Maroons of the Pen Mar Little League swamped the Orange fathers yesterday by the score of 30 to 7 at LaVale.

Lynch paced the winners 27-hit attack with three doubles and two singles. Henry Lowery had two of the Orange team's seven blows.

The teams meet again next Wednesday night. Score:

MAROONS	023	380	31(10)—30 27 5
ORANGE	000	003	220 — 7 7 12

Bobby Raines Beats Germans For 5th Time

Ryan, Shockey Lead Attack As Westvaco Squares Series, 10-6

Bobby Raines defeated Cumberland's Old Germans for the fifth time this season when he pitched the Westvaco Papermakers to a 10-6 victory over the locals yesterday at Penn Avenue Field to even up the Bi-State League's playoff series for first place at one-all.

Cumberland held a 5-3 lead going into the 6th inning when Westvaco exploded for six runs on two walks, two hits and three errors to put the game on ice.

Leo Ryan and Jim Shockey were the "big guns" for the Papermakers, batting in seven of the visitors' ten tallies. Ryan belted two doubles and a single in five trips and drove home four runs while Shockey hammered home three markers with a two-run triple in the second and also a single. Inskeep had two hits for the victors.

Raines Scores 15th Win

In notching his 15th victory of the year, Raines gave up 12 hits, struck out 12 and issued four bases on balls. His record against the Old Germans is now 5-1.

Ronnie Sisk, the Old G's starting pitcher, was charged with the defeat. He was replaced by Jack Kauffman in the fifth and Norman Geatz took over in the 7th inning of the game halted by darkness at the end of the eighth.

Manager Frank Urbas paced the losers at the plate with a double and two singles and pounded over four of the locals' six runs. George Geatz rapped two singles and "Woody" Woodson larruped a triple.

It was "Donnie Lease Day" and the local player received a cash gift from the home team.

Third Game Set Saturday

The third and deciding game is set for Saturday at 3 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field and will be observed as "Jack Kauffman Day" in honor of the Old Germans' undefeated pitcher.

League playoffs begin Sunday with Westvaco and the Old Germans as the host teams. Frostburg and Mt. Savage are the other teams in the playoffs and their opponents will be unknown until the conclusion of the Saturday contest. The first place finisher faces Frostburg while the second place team will oppose Mt. Savage.

Yesterday's score:

WESTVACO	030	061	00—10 11 1
OLD GERMANS	202	101	00— 6 12 7

(Game Called end of 8th)

Raines and Shockey, Sisk, Kauffman (5), N. Geatz (7) and Langan.
LP—Sisk.

Durocher, Furillo Will Bury Hatchet

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Another baseball "fight" has ended with outfielder Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn Dodgers and manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants at peace with each other.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, made certain of that today in a telephone conversation with Furillo.

The league head was concerned over statements the player would resume the tussle which occurred in the Polo Grounds last Sunday whenever he met Durocher.

Furillo told Giles he made the statement "in the heat of anger" and that so far as he is concerned, the matter is ended. Furillo spoke from his home in Stony Creek Mills, Pa.

"That's fine with me," said Durocher in St. Louis. "I have nothing else to say."

Open Series Sunday

The playoff series for the championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League between Barrelville and Hyndman will get under way Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at Hyndman instead of Saturday as previously announced by the teams.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (INS) — Robert Taylor, who has been decked out in armor and bows and arrows for his medieval pictures, gets back into bow ties and suits in Steve Frazee's modern adventure story, "Many Rivers to Cross."

Bob, expected back from England this month after the final camera crank on "Knights of the Round Table," reports to MGM and Producer Jack Cummings immediately to discuss this story, planned for a November starting date.

You can be sure Bob will get a little time off to polish up his romance with Ursula Thiess before going back to work.

If you can keep your face straight (in view of the current hassle between Rita Hayworth and her studio over Dick Haymes) Harry Cohn announces that her next picture is "The Human Beast"!!!

Despite the unintentional (I'm sure) humor, Emil Zola's classic about an evil woman whose husband commits a murder to defend her supposed honor, starts in October.

It's been shoved ahead of "Valentina" and "Mary Magdalene," which remain on Rita's slate for 1954 production.

Producer Lewis Rachmil has already assigned Fritz Lang to direct Rita in the Zola drama which will be given a modern day setting.

Socially speaking: San Francisco really put out the red, purple and blue carpets for Jimmy McHugh's opening at the Fairmont Hotel — a wonderful first night — preceded by the delightful dinner Frances Diehl gave in Jimmy's honor.

So many people I love on the newspapers attended both affairs.

There was Randolph Hearst, one of my favorite people, who came without his lovely wife, Katherine, who was ill. San Francisco Examiner Charlie Mayer and Toni were present as were the Joseph Packmans (of the Cali Bulletin) and their pretty daughter, Barbara.

Margaret Trumbull, columnist on the Chronicle, and popular Herb Caen of the Examiner, were among the reporters covering the parties and having a good time.

Herb introduced Louis B. Mayer who never made a better speech in his life. Mr. Mayer in turn introduced Janie Wyman who introduced Jimmy McHugh and his singing stars.

How good it was to see the Ben Swigs and their son, Dick, with his pretty wife and my old friends Hart Smith of the Mark Hopkins.

I had forgotten how much I love San Francisco and it's hospitable people — which the S. F. Chamber of Commerce may copy and which, probably, the L. A. Chamber of Commerce will ignore.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Absolutely and definitely no stork visit for Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer at this time—and this is straight from the stork.

Thanks to Robert Young for mentioning me so often and so nicely on his "Father Knows Best" radio show.

June Allyson has agreed to two weeks of personal appearances for "The Glenn Miller Story."

Dorothy Dandridge's opening at the Mocambo and Jane Powell's the same night at the Cocoanut Grove divided the ringsiders. Applauding Dorothy were Nora Haymes with Jerry Orbach; Olivia De Havilland with her devoted Pierre Gallante and Ginny Simms with Oil Biggie Art Olsen.

Bert Friedlob was there with Maureen O'Hara, their second date in a week and Maureen's the first lovely he's looked at since the Eleanor Parker rift.

Mervyn Le Roy, back from "Rose Marie" in Canada, played a gag on George Sidney and erected a teepee in George's office.

Darryl Zanuck cables from Munich that all is serene with the "Night People" company. Darryl is just the boy who could patch up the differences between Nunnally Johnson and Gregory Peck.

Preston Foster and his missus put on an impromptu show at the Kings, with Preston playing the guitar and Mrs. P. singing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Gas Co. Safety Record Praised

They are part of a group of over 3,300 gas workers who accumulated a total of 620,000 man-hours during the month without an industrial "lost-time" accident — an injury which forces them to lose work.

The commendations were made by John C. Peterson, president of the Pittsburgh Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System.

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is a member of the Pittsburgh Group.

C. C. Robbins, manager here for the gas company, said Columbia's August safety campaign is part of a national effort to cut down on the number of industrial accidents during August. Statistics prove it has traditionally been the month during which most "lost-time" accidents occur.

Some 279 company employes worked over 51,000 man-hours without an industrial "lost-time" accident last month, the manager said.

Ridgeley School Enrollment Drops

Student enrollment at Ridgeley Elementary and High Schools is "slightly off," according to M. M. Heiskell, principal.

Heiskell said there were about 12 fewer pupils in both schools as classes got underway. However, he anticipated that others will sign up within the next week.

The six higher grades have 275 students. Some 225 boys and girls have been enrolled in the elementary grades.

Heiskell said results of a census taken by teachers to acquire an outlook on future needs or possible expansion have not been completed. Reports are being summarized.

Record Peak Set By PE

Potomac Edison System customers set a new all-time, one-hour record peak on August 31 when a mark of 194,900 kilowatts was reached, it was announced yesterday by R. Paul Smith, PE President.

According to Smith, the previous record was hit in December of 1952 when the one-hour demand of 191,200 kilowatts was reached.

It was also announced that on September 1, a new all-time 24-hour load was recorded by the Potomac Edison System, when utility company generators sent out 3,750,800 kwh in a 24-hour period. Last year's record was hit in December when the figure rose to 3,496,800 kwh.

McKee Trial Planned Today

Howard McKee, 22, of 65 East Main Street, Frostburg, is scheduled before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. today on a charge of breaking into the tavern of "Big Lou" Riley in Frostburg July 14.

Captured in Ohio, McKee has been confined in the County Jail since July 17. A petition asking for an immediate trial and a criminal information prepared by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, were filed yesterday in Circuit Court.

McKee will be represented by his court-appointed attorney, Noel Speir Cook.

The young man's father, James McKee, 58, and his younger brother, Lawrence, 19, were tried August 13 before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on charges of drinking whisky stolen from Riley's place. They were placed on two years probation.

Another suspect in the Riley burglary, which resulted in theft of $150 from his cash box, Eugene Jeffries, has been free under bond since July 25.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

A Memorable Othello

Television has had some fairly calamitous encounters with William Shakespeare, several of which left the Bard bleeding from a dozen wounds. "Julius Caesar" was made into a Fascist morality play which had me tossing in my bed sleepless for several days. "Macbeth" was done by I forget who at a half crouch, the actors grimacing like lunatics. And "Hamlet" was transformed into a costumed nightmare in which the actors managed to extinguish virtually all of the dignity and grandeur of the poetry.

John Crosby

For some reason, "Othello" manages to escape virtually unscathed when a television producer gets his hands on it. "Othello"—both the play and the opera—have been on television several times, and all the ones I have seen have been memorable occasions. The most recent was the Philco production of "Othello" Sunday night and I thought it was terrific, a word that is not bandied around here very often.

Compressing the play into an hour — or more accurately its actual running time of 50 minutes —presents some rather special problems, "Othello" being one of Shakespeare's pretty concise plays. Much of the opulence and many of the minor characters had to land on the cutting room floor, an operation that may have left some Shakespeare devotees restive.

But it's a job that had to be done and I think the producer, Fred Coe, and the director, Delbert Mann, did an awfully good job. The play was pruned down to its great scenes; it plunged immediately right into the heart of the matter with Iago, almost matter of factly, announcing his intention to destroy the Moor; and it marched on inexorably toward tragedy, taut as a bow string. There was not a wasted minute, not a moment in which I was not caught and held. There is something to be said for cutting Shakespeare down to its bones.

With such drastic cutting, of course, some of the motivation is bound to disappear but I have always felt strongly that this was Shakespear's fault. Along with Somerset Maugham, I've always regarded the jealousy of the Moor as being more than slightly improbable, that a strayed handkerchief was not sufficient cause for homicide. But I expect I'm in the minority there.

There have been finer casts than those in the Philco production but this was a darned good one by anyone's standards. Torin Thatcher was flown over from England to play Othello and he endowed that

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

TEACHING TRUMP LEADS

ONE very effective way of teaching is to show the pupil what happens if a thing is done one way and then contrast it with the result if the opposite method is used. That is the case with the number of tricks takeable by means of a side's trumps. If each of them is used for ruffing, the total is equal to the number of trumps held by the side, since only one trump is consumed each time. If, however, those same cards are used for trump leads, the total of tricks taken is reduced by one each time there are two trumps on a trick.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

Disliking leads from his minor suit honors, and finding no reason to lead a trump, West opened the heart 10, which the declarer won with the K.

That was the situation outlined by an instructor to his student. He pointed out that, if South also scored the heart A and then ran four trump tricks, he would have a total of six only, so his contract would be down four.

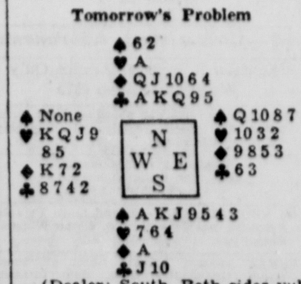

But suppose he could use all of those trumps for ruffing. That would make eight tricks with trumps. These, plus two in hearts, would give him ten and game.

So, let's suppose that after the first two hearts, he trumps a heart in dummy and leads a club to his K. If West wins that with the A and then returns a diamond to the A, whereupon East returns another club, the declarer could criss-cross, ruffing clubs in one hand and diamonds in the other. That would make the contract.

But if the defenders led trumps once, that would cut down the tricks by trumps to seven instead of eight. If they led trumps twice, they would cause two trumps each to be consumed on two tricks. That would reduce tricks by trumps to six, defeating the contract two tricks. Of course, if they got a chance to lead trumps three times, it would cut trump tricks to five and beat the contract three tricks.

What is the right way to play for 6-Spades after West leads the heart K?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (INS) — Robert Taylor, who has been decked out in armor and bows and arrows for his medieval pictures, gets back into bow ties and suits in Steve Frazee's modern adventure story, "Many Rivers to Cross."

Bob, expected back from England this month after the final camera crank on "Knights of the Round Table," reports to MGM and Producer Jack Cummings immediately to discuss this story, planned for a November starting date.

You can be sure Bob will get a little time off to polish up his romance with Ursula Thiess before going back to work.

If you can keep your face straight (in view of the current hassle between Rita Hayworth and her studio over Dick Haymes) Harry Cohn announces that her next picture is "The Human Beast"!!!

Despite the unintentional (I'm sure) humor, Emil Zola's classic about an evil woman whose husband commits a murder to defend her supposed honor, starts in October.

It's been shoved ahead of "Valentina" and "Mary Magdalene," which remain on Rita's slate for 1954 production.

Producer Lewis Rachmil has already assigned Fritz Lang to direct Rita in the Zola drama which will be given a modern day setting.

Socially speaking: San Francisco really put out the red, purple and blue carpets for Jimmy McHugh's opening at the Fairmont Hotel — a wonderful first night — preceded by the delightful dinner Frances Diehl gave in Jimmy's honor.

So many people I love on the newspapers attended both affairs.

There was Randolph Hearst, one of my favorite people, who came without his lovely wife, Katherine, who was ill. San Francisco Examiner Charlie Mayer and Toni were present as were the Joseph Packmans (of the Cali Bulletin) and their pretty daughter, Barbara.

Margaret Trumbull, columnist on the Chronicle, and popular Herb Caen of the Examiner, were among the reporters covering the parties and having a good time.

Herb introduced Louis B. Mayer who never made a better speech in his life. Mr. Mayer in turn introduced Janie Wyman who introduced Jimmy McHugh and his singing stars.

How good it was to see the Ben Swigs and their son, Dick, with his pretty wife and my old friends Hart Smith of the Mark Hopkins.

I had forgotten how much I love San Francisco and it's hospitable people — which the S. F. Chamber of Commerce may copy and which, probably, the L. A. Chamber of Commerce will ignore.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Absolutely and definitely no stork visit for Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer at this time—and this is straight from the stork.

Thanks to Robert Young for mentioning me so often and so nicely on his "Father Knows Best" radio show.

Dorothy Dandridge's opening at the Mocambo and Jane Powell's the same night at the Cocoanut Grove divided the ringsiders. Applauding Dorothy were Nora Haymes with Jerry Orbach: Olivia De Havilland with her devoted Pierre Gallante and Ginny Simms with Oil Biggie Art Olsen.

Bert Friedlob was there with Maureen O'Hara, their second date in a week and Maureen's the first lovely he's looked at since the Eleanor Parker rift.

Mervyn Le Roy, back from "Rose Marie" in Canada, played a gag on George Sidney and erected a teepee in George's office.

Darryl Zanuck cables from Munich that all is serene with the "Night People" company. Darryl is just the boy who could patch up the differences between Nunnally Johnson and Gregory Peck.

Preston Foster and his missus put on an impromptu show at the Kings, with Preston playing the guitar and Mrs. P. singing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Gas Co. Safety Record Praised

They are part of a group of over 3,300 gas workers who accumulated a total of 620,000 man-hours during the month without an industrial "lost-time" accident — an injury which forces them to lose work.

The commendations were made by John C. Peterson, president of the Pittsburgh Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System.

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is a member of the Pittsburgh Group.

C. C. Robbins, manager here for the gas company, said Columbia's August safety campaign is part of a national effort to cut down on the number of industrial accidents during August. Statistics prove it has traditionally been the month during which most "lost-time" accidents occur.

Some 279 company employes worked over 51,000 man-hours without an industrial "lost-time" accident last month, the manager said.

Ridgeley School Enrollment Drops

Student enrollment at Ridgeley Elementary and High Schools is "slightly off," according to M. M. Heiskell, principal.

Heiskell said there were about 12 fewer pupils in both schools as classes got underway. However, he anticipated that others will sign up within the next week.

The six higher grades have 275 students. Some 225 boys and girls have been enrolled in the elementary grades.

Heiskell said results of a census taken by teachers to acquire an outlook on future needs or possible expansion have not been completed. Reports are being summarized.

Record Peak Set By PE

Potomac Edison System customers set a new all-time, one-hour record peak on August 31 when a mark of 194,900 kilowatts was reached, it was announced yesterday by R. Paul Smith, PE President.

According to Smith, the previous record was hit in December of 1952 when the one-hour demand of 191,200 kilowatts was reached.

It was also announced that on September 1, a new all-time 24-hour load was recorded by the Potomac Edison System, when utility company generators sent out 3,750,800 kwh in a 24-hour period. Last year's record was hit in December when the figure rose to 3,496,800 kwh.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, James E. Twigg, who passed away, September 7, 1947.

The chair you sat in and the place you filled,
Still hold your memory though your voice be stilled.
And we who knew you, know you still, and share
The peace you know, who have passed over there.

The children,
Thurman, Kermit, Phyllis
Mrs. Erwin Shrout

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

A Memorable Othello

Television has had some fairly calamitous encounters with William Shakespeare, several of which left the Bard bleeding from a dozen wounds. "Julius Caesar" was made into a Fascist morality play which had me tossing in my bed sleepless for several days. "Macbeth" was done by I forget who at a half crouch, the actors grimacing like lunatics. And "Hamlet" was transformed into a costumed nightmare in which the actors managed to extinguish virtually all of the dignity and grandeur of the poetry.

John Crosby

For some reason, "Othello" manages to escape virtually unscathed when a television producer gets his hands on it. "Othello"—both the play and the opera—have been on television several times, and all the ones I have seen have been memorable occasions. The most recent was the Philco production of "Othello" Sunday night and I thought it was terrific, a word that is not bandied around here very often.

Compressing the play into an hour — or more accurately its actual running time of 50 minutes —presents some rather special problems, "Othello" being one of Shakespeare's pretty concise plays. Much of the opulence and many of the minor characters had to land on the cutting room floor, an operation that may have left some Shakespeare devotees restive.

But it's a job that had to be done and I think the producer, Fred Coe, and the director, Delbert Mann, did an awfully good job. The play was pruned down to its great scenes; it plunged immediately right into the heart of the matter with Iago, almost matter of factly, announcing his intention to destroy the Moor; and it marched on inexorably toward tragedy, taut as a bow string. There was not a wasted minute, not a moment in which I was not caught and held. There is something to be said for cutting Shakespeare down to its bones.

With such drastic cutting, of course, some of the motivation is bound to disappear but I have always felt strongly that this was Shakespear's fault. Along with Somerset Maugham, I've always regarded the jealousy of the Moor as being more than slightly improbable, that a strayed handkerchief was not sufficient cause for homicide. But I expect I'm in the minority there.

There have been finer casts than those in the Philco production but this was a darned good one by anyone's standards. Torin Thatcher was flown over from England to play Othello and he endowed that

Daily Bridge Lesson

TEACHING TRUMP LEADS

ONE very effective way of teaching is to show the pupil what happens if a thing is done one way and then contrast it with the result if the opposite method is used. That is the case with the number of tricks takeable by means of a side's trumps. If each of them is used for ruffing, the total is equal to the number of trumps held by the side, since only one trump is consumed each time. If, however, those same cards are used for trump leads, the total of tricks taken is reduced by one each time there are two trumps on a trick.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

Disliking leads from his minor suit honors, and finding no reason to lead a trump, West opened the heart 10, which the declarer won with the K.

That was the situation outlined by an instructor to his student. He pointed out that, if South also scored the heart A and then ran four trump tricks, he would have a total of six only, so his contract would be down four.

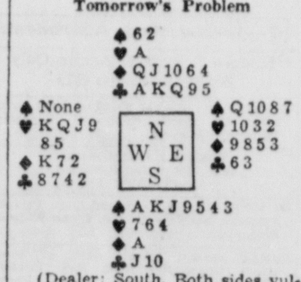

But suppose he could use all of those trumps for ruffing. That would make eight tricks with trumps. These, plus two in hearts, would give him ten and game.

So, let's suppose that after the first two hearts, he trumps a heart in dummy and leads a club to his K. If West wins that with the A and then returns a diamond to the A, whereupon East returns another club, the declarer could criss-cross, ruffing clubs in one hand and diamonds in the other. That would make the contract.

But if the defenders led trumps once, that would cut down the tricks by trumps to seven instead of eight. If they led trumps twice, they would cause two trumps each to be consumed on two tricks. That would reduce tricks by trumps to six, defeating the contract two tricks. Of course, if they got a chance to lead trumps three times, it would cut trump tricks to five and beat the contract three tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

Local POW Re-Enlists In Armed Forces

What does a prisoner of war think about after returning home to family and friends following more than two years behind Communist barbed wire encampments?

Cpl. William H. Rhodes, 31, the first Cumberland soldier released in the Korean POW exchange, may be an exception but he plans to make a career of the Army.

The likeable GI has re-enlisted for six years and will report September 26 at Fort Meade for assignment. He has been in service a half-dozen years, dating back to October 2, 1942.

Following his first hitch which ended in 1945, Cpl. Rhodes signed up again a year later. After nine months he was discharged due to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Rhodes, who resides at the Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street.

Cpl. Rhodes re-enlisted in 1950 and later was sent to Korea. After being wounded in action and hospitalized in Japan, he returned to battle and was captured by the Reds in April, 1951.

Cpl. Rhodes admitted that the Army advised him not to divulge all details of his imprisonment for fear of enemy reprisals toward other American POWs. He displayed a definite dislike for the Chinese Reds.

Of his new apartment in the colored housing project, the corporal remarked:

However, his generosity is getting the best of him. He heard of a woman with a television set and no money for the initial cable fee. She was handed $100 by the repatriate.

Yesterday, Cpl. Rhodes said he "couldn't thank the people of Cumberland enough for everything that has been done for me."

Antibiotics Curb Diseases In Plants, Improve Meats

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP) — Antibiotics are becoming wonder drugs to save food crops from costly plant disease, give us more and tastier meats, even aid in making beer and whisky.

Only a fraction of one per cent of streptomycin sulfate was used in the spray under field tests, said Dr. W. J. Zaumeyer, Dr. H. Rex Thomas, and J. R. Mitchell, U. S. Department of Agriculture Plant Industry Station, Beltsville, Md. Dr. Zaumeyer said it is the "first antibiotic to control a plant disease."

Antibiotics are part of new methods to improve tenderness, juiciness and flavor and keeping qualities of meats, said Dr. F. E. Deatherage, H. H. Wiser and Prof. L. E. Kunkle of Ohio State University.

The drugs and other meat-curing materials are distributed through the arteries and veins of animals right after slaughtering. The antibiotics help prevent spoilage.

Penicillin can actually increase yields of whisky, benefitting yeasts in the fermenting mash. None of the drug goes into the whisky, said W. H. Day, W. C. Zerjak, J. R. Stratton, and L. Stone of Hiram Walker & Sons, Peoria, Ill. And a combination of polymixin and Thiolutin completely eliminates the danger of microbiological spoilage of beer, said Fred B. Strandskov and John B. Bockelmann of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, James E. Twigg, who passed away, September 7, 1947.

The chair you sat in and the place you filled.
Still hold your memory though your voice be stilled.
And we who knew you, know you still, and share
The peace you know, who have passed over there.

The children,

Two More POWs Home

Crowd Greets James Dickel At Airport

Mt. Savage To Hold Celebration Saturday

Cpl. James P. Dickel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dickel, Mt. Savage, alighted from an Allegheny Airlines plane, walked past a guard of honor formerly the Maryland National Guard and into the arms of his mother.

Nieces Meet Uncle

Overwhelmed by emotion, the mother and son embraced each other for a full minute as his father and other relatives crowded around tearfully shouting, "Welcome home, Jimmy."

Two little nieces, daughters of Cpl. Dickel's brother, Robert, who the hero had never seen, recognized the soldier by pictures at home and were there to hug their uncle.

Cpl. Dickel was placed in the lead jeep of a three-jeep National Guard escort for the ride home. Riding with him to Mt. Savage were Mr. and Mrs. Dickel and his niece, Bonnie Dickel, about 4, who had told Mrs. Dickel that "when Uncle Jimmy comes home I'm going to hug and kiss him."

Away Six Years

Mrs. Dickel said the family hadn't seen the POW since he enlisted over six years ago. He joined the U. S. Army on July 14, 1947, and after taking his basic training in California was sent overseas to Japan in January of 1948 with the 24th Infantry Division.

He was later sent to Korea soon after the conflict with the Communists broke out. He was captured July 24, 1950. The area soldier arrived Wednesday in San Francisco from Korea aboard the transport Gen. John Pope.

The Mt. Savage American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts, their auxiliaries, the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company and auxiliary and other organizations in Mt. Savage have scheduled a celebration, "Dickel Day," for Saturday.

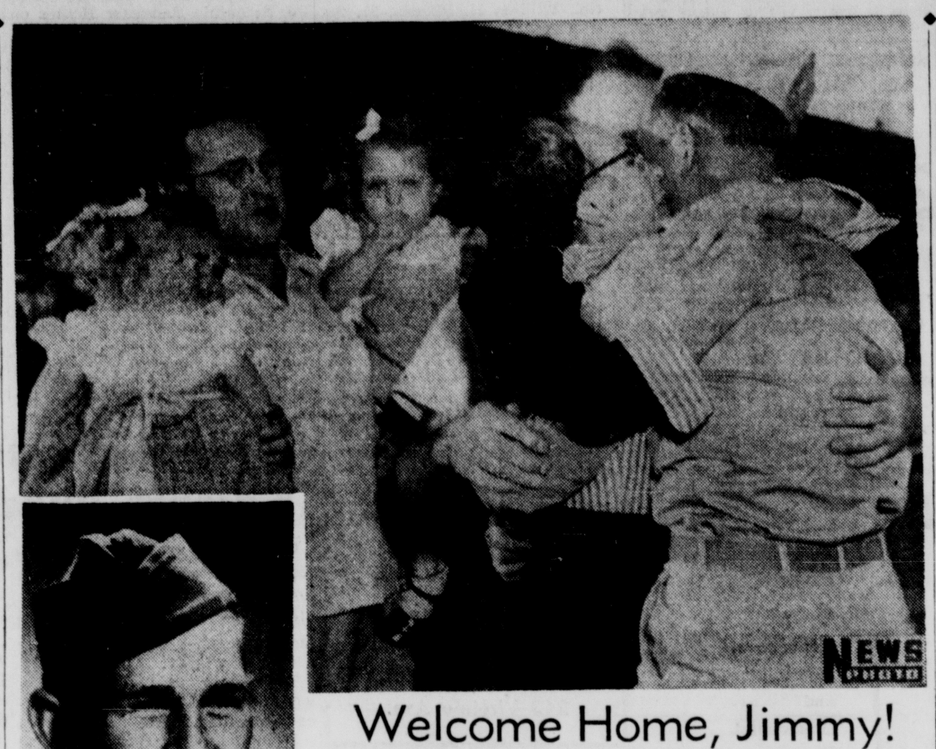

Banquet Saturday

Three Mt. Savage clergymen will speak at ceremonies in front of the town monument. They are Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church; Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of St. George's Episcopal Church, and Rev. L. J. Moore, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church.

A banquet for the immediate family and guest speakers will be served at 6 p. m. Saturday at the Legion Home.

The welcome speech wil be made by Del. Lester B. Reed of Mt. Savage, and other chief speakers include Col. Randolph Millholland of Cumberland.

Welcome Home, Jimmy!

Cpl. James P. Dickel, a prisoner of the Reds for 27 months in Korea, embraces his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickel, Mt. Savage, after arriving at the Cumberland Municipal Airport last evening. At left is shown his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickel, who are holding his two nieces whom he had never seen. The 23-year-old area hero (also shown in inset) had not been home for over six years, and was sent overseas soon after enlisting. The repatriated prisoner arrived Wednesday by transport in San Francisco.

POW Greeted By Family

Sgt. John S. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, Midlothian, sits with his parents and sisters after arriving home unexpectedly last night by taxi. The 22-year-old repatriated POW arrived in San Francisco Wednesday, and notified his parents he would arrive home Saturday, but through connections with plane, bus and cab, he surprised his mother and father by showing up last night. In the photo (left to right) are Mr. Evans, Sgt. Evans, his little sister, Sandra, his mother and his sister, Mrs. Lois Patterson. He was a prisoner of the Reds for 27 months.

Midlothian POW Arrives Home By Cab

Sgt. John S. Evans Surprises Parents

A Midlothian prisoner of war, released by the Communists in Operation Big Switch in Korea, surprised his mother and father last night when he arrived home two days ahead of schedule.

Sgt. John S. Evans, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, Midlothian, arrived at about 8 p. m. by taxi from Frostburg. The area hero flew to Pittsburgh, took a bus to Frostburg and arrived home by cab.

After reaching San Francisco from Korea aboard the transport Gen. John Pope, Sgt. Evans had notified his parents he would be home Saturday.

The Evans home was crowded with relatives and friends last night as they called on the veteran to welcome him back home. Mrs. Evans had just taken two layers of a cake from her oven when he arrived. She was planning to surprise her son with the cake when he arrived home Saturday.

Mrs. Evans said the last three years were the "hardest I have put in in my life."

Sgt. Evans said after he was captured May 18, 1951, he was held at Camp No. 1 in North Korea. For the first eight months, he said, prisoners were compelled to attend lectures on communism.

After that, he added, "we all got together and refused to go to their classes." Then only about 15 out of every company listened to those lectures. They were all volunteers and the others were not forced to attend, he said.

He explained that a few were taken in by the Communists' propaganda. "I guess they were those who didn't have much back home."

Sgt. Evans enlisted in the Army in November of 1948 and took his basic training at Camp Pickett, Va. After two furloughs home, he was transferred to Fort Lewis, Wash.

He was shipped to Korea with the 38th Infantry, Second Division, arriving there in September 1950. Previously wounded, he was captured and held prisoner for 27 months.

While he was in the hands of the Reds, Mr. and Mrs. Evans received several letters from him. The last one was on May 14, 1953, in which Sgt. Evans said he was in good health.

Sgt. Evans also was greeted by his two sisters, Sandra Evans and Mrs. Lois Patterson. He also has a brother, George Bernard Evans, who resides in Pennsylvania.

Sgt. Evans arrived in the United States aboard a transport carrying other repatriated prisoners. Among them was Cpl. James P. Dickel, of Mt. Savage, but the two area soldiers did not meet on the vessel.

Cpl. Dickel was met at the Cumberland Municipal Airport after word was received here of his arrival. Sgt. Evans arrived unexpectedly to surprise his parents at their home.

NEW TEACHER—Mrs. Bertha Smith Graham of Midland has been appointed to teach third and fourth grades at Mt. Savage School, filling a vacancy which occurred at the last minute. A graduate of the old Midland High School and the old Frostburg State Normal School she returned to Frostburg State Teachers College two years ago and received her degree in June.

Many Notables Attend Funeral Of J. J. Cornwell

Former Governor Buried In Romney

Several hundred persons, includnig the governor, state treasurer and commissioner of agriculture of West Virginia, attended the funeral services yesterday for former Governor John J. Cornwell, 86, at his home in Romney, W. Va.

Rt. Rev. Robert E. L. Strider, Episcopal bishop of the Diocese of West Virginia, officiated at the final rites for the prominent Hampshire County attorney who succumbed Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he had been hospitalized since July.

Rites of the Masonic Order were solemnized by the Romney Clinton Lodge No. 86, A. F. & A. M., with John L. Shroeder, Martinsburg, W. Va., past grand master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of West Virginia, in charge of the ceremony. Clarence R. Wolford, worshipful master of Clinton lodge, assisted.

A cordon of state policemen, who attended in a body, both as friends of the Cornwell family and in an official capacity to maintain order and direct traffic, were present as the huge throng milled in and out of the Cornwell home, jamming the lawn and roadway to overflowing.

Served Four-Year Term

Cornwell, who served as West Virginia governor for a four-year term from 1917 to 1921, was instrumental in getting the West Virginia law passed setting up the state police as a law enforcement agency during his administration.

Among the notables present as the publisher of the Hampshire County Review, weekly newspaper in Romney, was laid to rest in Indian Mound Cemetery on the outskirts of the Hampshire County seat, were Governor William C. Marland of the State of West Virginia; W. H. Ansel Jr., West Virginia state treasurer; J. Blaine McLaughlin, commissioner of agriculture of the State of West Virginia; Col. Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, former secretary of Defense during the Truman administration; Joseph C. Perrell, Clarksburg, former president of the West Virginia State Board of Control; F. Roy Yoke, Parkersburg, former state collector of internal revenue; Arthur B. Koontz, Democratic national committeeman from West Virginia; Owen E. Hitchins, Maryland State Tax Commission.

Lacy W. Rice, Martinsburg, member of the West Virginia State Board of Education; James W. Weir, Elkins, secretary of the West Virginia Publishers Association and executive secretary of state during Cornwell's administration; Houston G. Young, Charleston, former secretary of state who served in Cornwell's cabinet, and Harvey W. Harmer, Clarksburg, who served with Cornwell when the latter was in the West Virginia Senate, 1901-03.

Top Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials who attended the rites to pay their last respects to former Gov. Cornwell, who had served the railroad as vice president, director and general counsel, were headed by Howard E. Simpson, newly elected president of the railroad.

Others in the B & O delegation included Roy B. White, former president and now chairman of the board; W. C. Baker, vice president in charge of operations; C. W. Van Horn, former vice president; E. H. Burgess, vice president and general counsel; E. D. Turnbull Jr., executive assistant to the president; A. W. Schell, secretary to the president; Richard Hart, member of the board of directors; Eugene S. Williams, chairman of the board of the Western Maryland Railway; Paul C. Garrott, general claim agent; and J. Harry Garmer, tax agent.

Pallbearers were Paul Harmison, Paul Milleson, C. J. Powell, William A. Powers, John I. Pancake and Paul Garrott.

Civic Leaders Hear Proposals For Speeding Local Traffic

Crosstown Bridge, Planning Commission Programs Outlined At C. Of C. Event

Details of two plans designed to speed through traffic and alleviate internal traffic in Cumberland were presented to business and civic leaders of this city last night.

The programs were outlined at a meeting of the directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The plans were presented by the State Roads Commission, which advocates a $9,000,000 plan tied in with the crosstown facility, and the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, which advocates an alternate route which would funnel traffic through the city, avoiding the downtown area.

Present as observers were the Mayor and City Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Chamber, said either proposal would entail considerable costs to the city and that all should take a definite interest in the programs.

Presents SRC Plan

Norman O. Pritchett, SRC location engineer, outlined the plan for the crosstown bridge which is included in the SRC's 12-year construction program.

The crosstown route, he said, would connect with Route 40, cross the city south of the Queen City Hotel, cross the B. and O. and Western Maryland tracks and return to grade near the Johnson Street bridge.

From there, a road would follow the flood control levees and proceed south and intersect with an improved Braddock Road and to Route 40.

The plan includes the construction of the Industrial Highway and connections with the proposed C. and O. Canal parkway, with ramps provided for downtown traffic.

Explains Alternate Plan

Albert S. Paye, a member of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, presented the commission's alternate plan. This would pick up Route 40 at Evitts Creek, take it past Naves Crossroads and to the city near the county farm.

The route would then cross Shriver and Columbia Streets and cross the railroad tracks, Route 40 and Wills Creek and follow the side of Haystack Mountain to Braddock Road. He also suggested that Route 220 traffic be brought from the Pennsylvania line by way of Valley Road.

The SRC plan, Paye said, cuts through the heart of the city and removes valuable land from the tax books, while the alternate plan will open up areas for homes and businesses.

He also suggested that internal traffic be alleviated by opening the Canal Street and extending North George Street.

Terms Project Urgent

Pritchett pointed out that the alternate plan would require about 6½ miles more road than the bridge and that the SRC plan would accomplish all that the alternate plan provides, plus take care of Route 28 traffic and the Industrial Boulevard.

He added that unless something is done soon to relieve congestion, tax values will drop in Cumberland.

Pritchett quoted figures from the 1949-50 traffic survey to show that only 12 per cent of Cumberland traffic can be bypassed and that the rest of the vehicles want to stop in the city.

All studies made of Cumberland's traffic, he said, show the same basic crosstown route advocated by the SRC.

"The funds are available now. Let's build it," Pritchett said.

Suggests Subways

S. Russ Minter, local architect, pointed out the congestion which would result on the bridge of all those attending an event, such as a football game at Fort Hill Stadium, decided to use the facili.y.

By-pass roads, he said, are the modern trend, and he suggested underpasses as the easiest solution to the downtown traffic.

At the request of C. William Gilchrist, Pritchett outlined a number of suggested plans to improve internal traffic, such as less parking, automatic signals on Henderson Avenue and improvements of several South Cumberland streets.

Pritchett, in reply to a question of W. Earle Cobey on local costs of either plan, said the SRC is now studying a plan concerning the local burdens of such projects.

He said the bridge plan will cost about $9,000,000 and estimated the alternate plan will cost about $5,000,000.

Objections Are Cited

The bridge, he said, will remove 150 homes and drop $2,000,000 of property from the tax books and halt future business development south of Harrison Street.

In closing the meeting, Burke urged all to study plans, adding that a decision cannot be delayed much longer.

Paye pointed out following the meeting that the Planning Commission plan can be built without a moment's interruption to business or traffic and with very minor utility relocation.

Judge To Settle Wildcat Hollow Road Status

All-Day Trial Marks Equity Action Here

Is the Wildcat Hollow Road private or public?

That question will be decided by Associate Judge George Henderson who yesterday heard the testimony of some 20 witnesses and arguments of four attorneys in an all-day trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

County Records

As the trial came to an end Judge Henderson did grant permission to Harold E. Naughton and Matthew J. Mullaney, attorneys for Mrs. Geraldine M. Messersmith, permission to file any additional records they can obtain from the Board of County Commissioners concerning maintenance of the road.

Yesterday's trial resulted from an equity suit brought July 30 by Mrs. Messersmith. In her bill of complaint she asks for a permanent injunction preventing Michael H. Pryor and Margaret B. Pryor, her next-door neighbors on Wildcat Hollow Road, from using her road which she asserted was private.

Witnesses offered contradictory testimony yesterday. A number called by Earl E. Manges and George R. Hughes, Jr., attorneys for the Pryors, stated that the road was a public artery as long as they could remember. They recalled that a portion of the road was relocated after a 1932 cloudburst washed out part of it.

Not Relocated

On the other hand witnesses for Mrs. Messersmith recalled that in 1937 and 1938 the road had not been relocated to its present spot. They said there had been a gate on the road, indicating it was a private route.

One of the last witnesses yesterday, Emory VanMeter of Oldtown, a grader operator for the County Roads Department, testified that he had graded the Wildcat Hollow Road on several occasions on the orders of three different men who had served as county engineer.

A stipulation agreed upon by contending attorneys before the trial started stated that Mrs. Messersmith acted on the premise the roadway was owned by her and therefore private and not usable by the Pryors.

Admit Road Blocked

Naughton and Mullaney also admit their client has blocked the roadway with chains and padlock and also by the parking of a truck on the road in front of her residence. They claim she has that right on the basis the road is private.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pryor took the stand yesterday to testify how they purchased their property in May of 1945 and up until March of this year there had been no question of its use. They said that the general public has also used the road. They cited its use by lumber trucks, workmen for a utility company and others.

It was also testified by Mr. Pryor that the mail truck only comes into the road to a point near the Messersmith property. The Pryors live beyond the plaintiff in the case. The school bus also only goes to the same point as the mail trucks.

No Other Outlet

Mr. Pryor said he has five children who use the road as a means of getting to the school bus. He said there is no other outlet in the area without the costly building of a roadway out to the Oldtown Road. It was brought out by questioning by Judge Henderson that about two miles of road which would be required to reach the Oldtown Road would be over property owned by some other person. The owner in question is not known by Pryor. The Pryors now exit from their property on the Wildcat Hollow Road to the Williams Road and thence into Cumberland.

The case attracted quite a bit of attention with more than 50 spectators in the court room. Most of these are witnesses in the case and before the testimony was started they were excluded from the court room on motion of Attorney Naughton. The witnesses sat in the hall until called to testify.

Medical Care Waiting List Exceeds 400

Allegany County Medical Care waiting lists—which stood at the 427 mark yesterday—have ranged from 300 to more than 400 since the quota system was adopted by the State Board of Health several months ago.

The adoption of the quota system followed a cut in state appropriations to provide medical care for those who cannot afford to pay for it.

In this county, it meant that only 2,402 persons were authorized to receive free medical and dental care at one time.

To Meet Emergencies

However, when the system was adopted, provisions were made to take care of emergency cases, so that those in dire need of medical attention and drugs would not suffer. Officials said such needs are being met.

Medical care is provided by the state for two groups—those who are receiving assistance from the Allegany County Welfare Board, and the medically indigent. The last group includes persons who have some income but are unable to make it stretch to meet the costs of medical attention.

Early in August, the Allegany County Health Department stopped issuing new Medical Care cards until the rolls dropped to the 2,402 mark.

Nobody was dropped from the program, but as six-month authorizations expired, persons were placed on the waiting list.

Will Mail Cards

New applicants are placed on the list after renewals and will be issued cards as their names come up.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said that except in cases of emergencies, it is useless to contact the Health Department about Medical Care cards, since they are issued and mailed auto-

YoungDemocrats To Hear State Candidates

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two potential candidates for governor were slated today for official appearances at a convention of Maryland's young Democrats.

All other possible contenders in the 1954 state election also were expected unofficially, but certainly to show themselves at the two-day meeting in Ocean City next week.

Meet Sept. 18

Members of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland assemble there Sept. 18 for their biennial convention. It will be the first major party function in the political season leading up to the nominations next June.

It could reflect the pattern of what shapes up as a fierce primary campaign as the Democrats struggle to recover from two straight shattering elections.

Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. was announced as speaker at the convention banquet on opening night. He hasn't given any indication he wants to run for the office he lost in 1950, but has support in some quarters.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore will deliver the keynote address the first afternoon. He already has declared he will seek the nomination, the only one to take such a formal step.

Byrd To Attend

Not listed for official functions but sure bets to attend are Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland; George P. Maheney, ex-national committeeman, and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

County Delegation To Attend Lonaconing Business Men's Meet

Members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly will be special guests at a meeting of the Lonaconing Business Men's Association to be held Thursday, October 1, at 6:30 p. m. in the Pythian Hall, Lonaconing.

Charles M. See, chairman of the delegation, said the group will discuss general issues affecting the Lonaconing area including the George's Creek recreation area.

Attending the meeting will be See, Senator Robert B. Kimble, Noel Speir Cook, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley, Lester B. Reed and Horace P. Whitworth Jr.

Chest Drive Office Opened

Lynn C. Lashley, president of the Cumberland Community Chest, announced last night following a meeting of the Chest's executive committee, that headquarters for the 1953-54 fund-raising campaign will be opened in the Union Street County Building today.

William H. Buchholtz is chairman and director of the drive which has set a goal of $108,492. 75 following approval of the budget by the committee last month.

The nine agencies of the Chest will be seeking $6,000 more than the $102,000 which was raised during last year's drive, Buchholtz stated.

The final organization of the drive will be completed at the next executive board meeting and the official drive will get underway in October.

Attending last night's session in the county building office were Lashley, Buchholtz, James W. Bishop, Henry C. Swearingen, Edward L. Ewald, and Mrs. Ann Everline.

Area Airman On Way Home, Parents Told

First Lt. Francis A. Strieby, who was repatriated in Korea last week, has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strieby, Okonoko, W. Va., that he will arrive home in about two weeks.

In a news-packed wire from Tokyo, Lt. Strieby informed his parents that it was "good to be free," that he was not wounded, was leaving by boat and would arrive in two weeks.

He also sent greetings to "all the gang."

It was the first message from the Okonoko flier since he reached Freedom Village Saturday.

The 23-year-old Fort Hill High School graduate previously had been reported as missing in action since July 4, 1952, until he was returned among a group of American airmen who were repatriated on the final day of the POW exchange in Korea.

Lt. Strieby was a B-29 pilot. Prior to entering the Air Force he was majoring in engineering at Johns Hopkins University.

A sister, Vivian A. Strieby, served with the Army Nurse Corps in Korea and a brother, Lt. Eugene A. Strieby, is now serving with the Army. Another brother, Oscar N. Strieby Jr. served as a tail gunner with the Eighth Air Force in Europe during World War II.

Union May Take Strike Vote Today

William G. Rice, president, said Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will take a strike vote today unless wage issues with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company are settled this morning.

Special meetings have been scheduled at the union hall at 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. for a report on negotiations and possible strike vote.

The local opened talks with the company July 29 for a general wage increase. Union officials said a pattern has been set by 12-cent package deals agreed on by the Goodrich, Goodyear and Firestone rubber companies.

Cadet Youth To Lead CAP

Cadet Captain Joseph Boyd, 17, will temporarily be given command of Fort Cumberland Flight of the Civil Air Patrol under supervision, Commandant of the Cadets John F. Wagner announced last night.

The decision to extend the leadership of the local cadet corps to Boyd was made at a meeting of the corps last night at Municipal Airport.

Also planned at last night's meeting was a picnic party for all cadets who have completed studies and work details to the present time, Wagner said. The picnic is tentatively scheduled for Sunday, September 20, and final plans for the affair will be made at a meeting September 17.

City Firemen Take CD Oaths

All members of the Cumberland Fire Department are taking the Civil Defense oath in preparation for Operation Checkup, the statewide air raid alert scheduled September 22 at 2:01 p. m.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said most of the 53-man staff of the Fire Department have already taken the CD oaths and that all will be pledged by the end of the week.

The fire fighters, he said, will be issued CD cards which will entitle them to take part in the alert.

When the alert sounds — from big sirens at South End Fire Station and Fayette Street and Plum Alley — all firemen will report immediately to their nearest fire station, Chief Parker said.

The alert, he said, will give the department an idea of how many men will be available at each station to work during emergencies.

Election Is Planned

Local 568, Iron Workers (AFL), will hold a run-off election at Allegany Trades Council Hall September 19 from 6 to 10 p. m. to elect a business agent. Nominees are Lewis L. Kreps and George E. Clark.

Will Open Shop

AFL Meeting Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Local POW Re-Enlists In Armed Forces

What does a prisoner of war think about after returning home to family and friends following more than two years behind Communist barbed wire encampments?

Cpl. William H. Rhodes, 31, the first Cumberland soldier released in the Korean POW exchange, may be an exception but he plans to make a career of the Army.

The likeable GI has re-enlisted for six years and will report September 26 at Fort Meade for assignment. He has been in service a half-dozen years, dating back to October 2, 1942.

Following his first hitch which ended in 1945, Cpl. Rhodes signed up again a year later. After nine months he was discharged due to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Rhodes, who resides at the Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street.

Cpl. Rhodes re-enlisted in 1950 and later was sent to Korea. After being wounded in action and hospitalized in Japan, he returned to battle and was captured by the Reds in April, 1951.

Concerning his captivity, he said:

"A still tongue is something wonderful. It doesn't pay to talk much."

Cpl. Rhodes admitted that the Army advised him not to divulge all details of his imprisonment for fear of enemy reprisals toward other American POWs. He displayed a definite dislike for the Chinese Reds.

Of his new apartment in the colored housing project, the corporal remarked:

"It's wonderful. I hope they (occupants) keep it in good shape."

Cpl. Rhodes is still on a homecoming "merry-go-round." Well wishers continue to flock to the Rhodes apartment where the mother is bed-ridden with an arthritic ailment.

However, his generosity is getting the best of him. He heard of a woman with a television set and no money for the initial cable fee. She was handed $100 by the repatriate.

That's just one incident.

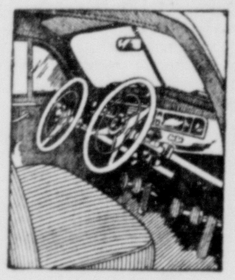

Yesterday, Cpl. Rhodes said he "couldn't thank the people of Cumberland enough for everything that has been done for me."

"But I'm no hero," he kept repeating.

Antibiotics Curb Diseases In Plants, Improve Meats

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP) — Antibiotics are becoming wonder drugs to save food crops from costly plant disease, give us more and tastier meats, even aid in making beer and whisky.

These new uses of antibiotics were described today to the American Chemical Society.

Bean plants sprayed several times with streptomycin — a TB fighter in man — were completely protected against halo bright, a serious bacterial infection.

Only a fraction of one per cent of streptomycin sulfate was used in the spray under field tests, said Dr. W. J. Zaumeyer, Dr. H. Rex Thomas, and J. R. Mitchell, U. S. Department of Agriculture Plant Industry Station, Beltsville, Md. Dr. Zaumeyer said it is the "first antibiotic to control a plant disease."

Antibiotics are part of new methods to improve tenderness, juiciness and flavor and keeping qualities of meats, said Dr. F. E. Deatherage, H. H. Wiser and Prof. L. E. Kunkle of Ohio State University.

The drugs and other meat-curing materials are distributed through the arteries and veins of animals right after slaughtering. The antibiotics help prevent spoilage.

Penicillin can actually increase yields of whisky, benefitting yeasts in the fermenting mash. None of the drug goes into the whisky, said W. H. Day, W. C. Zerjak, J. R. Stratton, and L. Stone of Hiram Walker & Sons, Peoria, Ill. And a combination of polymixin and Thiolutin completely eliminates the danger of microbiological spoilage of beer, said Fred B. Strandskov and John B. Bockelmann of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Two More POWs Home

Crowd Greets James Dickel At Airport

Mt. Savage To Hold Celebration Saturday

A 23-year-old Mt. Savage prisoner of war arrived home yesterday evening and was met at Cumberland Municipal Airport by a tearful but joyous crowd of relatives and friends.

Cpl. James P. Dickel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dickel, Mt. Savage, alighted from an Allegheny Airlines plane, walked past a guard of honor formerly the Maryland National Guard and into the arms of his mother.

Nieces Meet Uncle

Overwhelmed by emotion, the mother and son embraced each other for a full minute as his father and other relatives crowded around tearfully shouting, "Welcome home, Jimmy."

Two little nieces, daughters of Cpl. Dickel's brother, Robert, who the hero had never seen, recognized the soldier by pictures at home and were there to hug their uncle.

Also in the crowd, making up about 20 car loads, were close friends and members of Mt. Savage veteran and civic organizations.

Cpl. Dickel was placed in the lead jeep of a three-jeep National Guard escort for the ride home. Riding with him to Mt. Savage were Mr. and Mrs. Dickel and his niece, Bonnie Dickel, about 4, who had told Mrs. Dickel that "when Uncle Jimmy comes home I'm going to hug and kiss him."

Away Six Years

Mrs. Dickel said the family hadn't seen the POW since he enlisted over six years ago. He joined the U. S. Army on July 14, 1947, and after taking his basic training in California was sent overseas to Japan in January of 1948 with the 24th Infantry Division.

He was later sent to Korea soon after the conflict with the Communists broke out. He was captured July 24, 1950. The area soldier arrived Wednesday in San Francisco from Korea aboard the transport Gen. John Pope.

The Mt. Savage American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts, their auxiliaries, the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company and auxiliary and other organizations in Mt. Savage have scheduled a celebration, "Dickel Day," for Saturday.

Banquet Saturday

Three Mt. Savage clergymen will speak at ceremonies in front of the town monument. They are Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church; Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of St. George's Episcopal Church, and Rev. L. J. Moore, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church.

A banquet for the immediate family and guest speakers will be served at 6 p. m. Saturday at the Legion Home.

The welcome speech wil be made by Del. Lester B. Reed of Mt. Savage, and other chief speakers include Col. Randolph Millholland of Cumberland.

Welcome Home, Jimmy!

Cpl. James P. Dickel, a prisoner of the Reds for 27 months in Korea, embraces his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickel, Mt. Savage, after arriving at the Cumberland Municipal Airport last evening. At left is shown his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickel, who are holding his two nieces whom he had never seen. The 23-year-old area hero (also shown in inset) had not been home for over six years, and was sent overseas soon after enlisting. The repatriated prisoner arrived Wednesday by transport in San Francisco.

POW Greeted By Family

Sgt. John S. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, Midlothian, sits with his parents and sisters after arriving home unexpectedly last night by taxi. The 22-year-old repatriated POW arrived in San Francisco Wednesday, and notified his parents he would arrive home Saturday, but through connections with plane, bus and cab, he surprised his mother and father by showing up last night. In the photo (left to right) are Mr. Evans, Sgt. Evans, his little sister, Sandra, his mother and his sister, Mrs. Lois Patterson. He was a prisoner of the Reds for 27 months.

Midlothian POW Arrives Home By Cab

Sgt. John S. Evans Surprises Parents

A Midlothian prisoner of war, released by the Communists in Operation Big Switch in Korea, surprised his mother and father last night when he arrived home two days ahead of schedule.

Sgt. John S. Evans, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, Midlothian, arrived at about 8 p. m. by taxi from Frostburg. The area hero flew to Pittsburgh, took a bus to Frostburg and arrived home by cab.

After reaching San Francisco from Korea aboard the transport Gen. John Pope, Sgt. Evans had notified his parents he would be home Saturday.

The Evans home was crowded with relatives and friends last night as they called on the veteran to welcome him back home. Mrs. Evans had just taken two layers of a cake from her oven when he arrived. She was planning to surprise her son with the cake when he arrived home Saturday.

Mrs. Evans said the last three years were the "hardest I have put in in my life."

Sgt. Evans said after he was captured May 18, 1951, he was held at Camp No. 1 in North Korea. For the first eight months, he said, prisoners were compelled to attend lectures on communism.

After that, he added, "we all got together and refused to go to their classes." Then only about 15 out of every company listened to those lectures. They were all volunteers and the others were not forced to attend, he said.

He explained that a few were taken in by the Communists' propaganda. "I guess they were those who didn't have much back home."

Sgt. Evans enlisted in the Army in November of 1948 and took his basic training at Camp Pickett, Va. After two furloughs home, he was transferred to Fort Lewis, Wash.

He was shipped to Korea with the 38th Infantry, Second Division, arriving there in September 1950. Previously wounded, he was captured and held prisoner for 27 months.

While he was in the hands of the Reds, Mr. and Mrs. Evans received several letters from him. The last one was on May 14, 1953, in which Sgt. Evans said he was in good health.

Sgt. Evans also was greeted by his two sisters, Sandra Evans and Mrs. Lois Patterson. He also has a brother, George Bernard Evans, who resides in Pennsylvania.

Sgt. Evans arrived in the United States aboard a transport carrying other repatriated prisoners. Among them was Cpl. James P. Dickel, of Mt. Savage, but the two area soldiers did not meet on the vessel.

Cpl. Dickel was met at the Cumberland Municipal Airport after word was received here of his arrival. Sgt. Evans arrived unexpectedly to surprise his parents at their home.

NEW TEACHER—Mrs. Bertha Smith Graham of Midland has been appointed to teach third and fourth grades at Mt. Savage School, filling a vacancy which occurred at the last minute. A graduate of the old Midland High School and the old Frostburg State Normal School she returned to Frostburg State Teachers College two years ago and received her degree in June.

Many Notables Attend Funeral Of J. J. Cornwell

Former Governor Buried In Romney

Several hundred persons, including the governor, state treasurer and commissioner of agriculture of West Virginia, attended the funeral services yesterday for former Governor John J. Cornwell, 86, at his home in Romney, W. Va.

Rt. Rev. Robert E. L. Strider, Episcopal bishop of the Diocese of West Virginia, officiated at the final rites for the prominent Hampshire County attorney who succumbed Tuesday in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he had been hospitalized since July.

Rites of the Masonic Order were solemnized by the Romney Clinton Lodge No. 86, A. F. & A. M., with John L. Shroeder, Martinsburg, W. Va., past grand master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of West Virginia, in charge of the ceremony. Clarence R. Wolford, worshipful master of Clinton lodge, assisted.

A cordon of state policemen, who attended in a body, both as friends of the Cornwell family and in an official capacity to maintain order and direct traffic, were present as the huge throng milled in and out of the Cornwell home, jamming the lawn and roadway to overflowing.

Served Four-Year Term

Cornwell, who served as West Virginia governor for a four-year term from 1917 to 1921, was instrumental in getting the West Virginia law passed setting up the state police as a law enforcement agency during his administration.

Among the notables present as the publisher of the Hampshire County Review, weekly newspaper in Romney, was laid to rest in Indian Mound Cemetery on the outskirts of the Hampshire County seat, were Governor William C. Marland of the State of West Virginia; W. H. Ansel Jr., West Virginia state treasurer; J. Blaine McLaughlin, commissioner of agriculture of the State of West Virginia; Col. Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, former secretary of Defense during the Truman administration; Joseph C. Perrell, Clarksburg, former president of the West Virginia State Board of Control; F. Roy Yoke, Parkersburg, former state collector of internal revenue; Arthur B. Koontz, Democratic national committeeman from West Virginia; Owen E. Hitchins, Maryland State Tax Commission.

Lacy W. Rice, Martinsburg, member of the West Virginia State Board of Education; James W. Weir, Elkins, secretary of the West Virginia Publishers Association and executive secretary of state during Cornwell's administration; Houston G. Young, Charleston, former secretary of state who served in Cornwell's cabinet, and Harvey W. Harmer, Clarksburg, who served with Cornwell when the latter was in the West Virginia Senate, 1901-03.

Top Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials who attended the rites to pay their last respects to former Gov. Cornwell, who had served the railroad as vice president, director and general counsel, were headed by Howard E. Simpson, newly elected president of the railroad.

Others in the B & O delegation included Roy B. White, former president and now chairman of the board; W. C. Baker, vice president in charge of operations; C. W. Van Horn, former vice president; E. H. Burgess, vice president and general counsel; E. D. Turnbull Jr., executive assistant to the president; A. W. Schell, secretary to the president; Richard Hart, member of the board of directors; Eugene S. Williams, chairman of the board of the Western Maryland Railway; Paul C. Garrott, general claim agent; and J. Harry Garmer, tax agent.

Pallbearers were Paul Harmison, Paul Milleson, C. J. Powell, William A. Powers, John I. Pancake and Paul Garrott.

Civic Leaders Hear Proposals For Speeding Local Traffic

Crosstown Bridge, Planning Commission Programs Outlined At C. Of C. Event

Details of two plans designed to speed through traffic and alleviate internal traffic in Cumberland were presented to business and civic leaders of this city last night.

The programs were outlined at a meeting of the directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The plans were presented by the State Roads Commission, which advocates a $9,000,000 plan tied in with the crosstown facility, and the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, which advocates an alternate route which would funnel traffic through the city, avoiding the downtown area.

Present as observers were the Mayor and City Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Chamber, said either proposal would entail considerable costs to the city and that all should take a definite interest in the programs.

Presents SRC Plan

Norman O. Pritchett, SRC location engineer, outlined the plan for the crosstown bridge which is included in the SRC's 12-year construction program.

The crosstown route, he said, would connect with Route 40, cross the city south of the Queen City Hotel, cross the B. and O. and Western Maryland tracks and return to grade near the Johnson Street bridge.

From there, a road would follow the flood control levees and proceed south and intersect with an improved Braddock Road and to Route 40.

The plan includes the construction of the Industrial Highway and connections with the proposed C. and O. Canal parkway, with ramps provided for downtown traffic.

Explains Alternate Plan

Albert S. Paye, a member of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, presented the commission's alternate plan. This would pick up Route 40 at Evitts Creek, take it past Naves Crossroads and to the city near the county farm.

The route would then cross Shriver and Columbia Streets and cross the railroad tracks, Route 40 and Wills Creek and follow the side of Haystack Mountain to Braddock Road. He also suggested that Route 220 traffic be brought from the Pennsylvania line by way of Valley Road.

The SRC plan, Paye said, cuts through the heart of the city and removes valuable land from the tax books, while the alternate plan will open up areas for homes and businesses.

He also suggested that internal traffic be alleviated by opening the Canal Street and extending North George Street.

Terms Project Urgent

Pritchett pointed out that the alternate plan would require about 6½ miles more road than the bridge and that the SRC plan would accomplish all that the alternate plan provides, plus take care of Route 28 traffic and the Industrial Boulevard.

He added that unless something is done soon to relieve congestion, tax values will drop in Cumberland.

Pritchett quoted figures from the 1949-50 traffic survey to show that only 12 per cent of Cumberland traffic can be bypassed and that the rest of the vehicles want to stop in the city.

All studies made of Cumberland's traffic, he said, show the same basic crosstown route advocated by the SRC.

"The funds are available now. Let's build it," Pritchett said.

Suggests Subways

S. Russ Minter, local architect, pointed out the congestion which would result on the bridge of all those attending an event, such as a football game at Fort Hill Stadium, decided to use the facili.y.

By-pass roads, he said, are the modern trend, and he suggested underpasses as the easiest solution to the downtown traffic.

At the request of C. William Gilchrist, Pritchett outlined a number of suggested plans to improve internal traffic, such as less parking, automatic signals on Henderson Avenue and improvements of several South Cumberland streets.

Pritchett, in reply to a question of W. Earle Cobey on local costs of either plan, said the SRC is now studying a plan concerning the local burdens of such projects.

He said the bridge plan will cost about $9,000,000 and estimated the alternate plan will cost about $5,000,000.

Objections Are Cited

Avirett summarized the objections of the Planning Commission as this:

The alternate plan developed by Paye is superior in engineering, economic and scenic values.

Internal traffic could be alleviated through opening Canal Street opening North George Street to the viaduct and through a modern subway at Williams Street.

The bridge, he said, will remove 150 homes and drop $2,000,000 of property from the tax books and halt future business development south of Harrison Street.

In closing the meeting, Burke urged all to study plans, adding that a decision cannot be delayed much longer.

Paye pointed out following the meeting that the Planning Commission plan can be built without a moment's interruption to business or traffic and with very minor utility relocation.

Judge To Settle Wildcat Hollow Road Status

All-Day Trial Marks Equity Action Here

Is the Wildcat Hollow Road private or public?

That question will be decided by Associate Judge George Henderson who yesterday heard the testimony of some 20 witnesses and arguments of four attorneys in an all-day trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

County Records

As the trial came to an end Judge Henderson did grant permission to Harold E. Naughton and Matthew J. Mullaney, attorneys for Mrs. Geraldine M. Messersmith, permission to file any additional records they can obtain from the Board of County Commissioners concerning maintenance of the road.

Yesterday's trial resulted from an equity suit brought July 30 by Mrs. Messersmith. In her bill of complaint she asks for a permanent injunction preventing Michael H. Pryor and Margaret B. Pryor, her next-door neighbors on Wildcat Hollow Road, from using her road which she asserted was private.

The Pryors filed a cross-bill of complaint August 17 asserting that the road was public and requesting an injunction granting free use of the road.

Witnesses offered contradictory testimony yesterday. A number called by Earl E. Manges and George R. Hughes, Jr., attorneys for the Pryors, stated that the road was a public artery as long as they could remember. They recalled that a portion of the road was relocated after a 1932 cloudburst washed out part of it.

Not Relocated

On the other hand witnesses for Mrs. Messersmith recalled that in 1937 and 1938 the road had not been relocated to its present spot. They said there had been a gate on the road, indicating it was a private route.

One of the last witnesses yesterday, Emory VanMeter of Oldtown, a grader operator for the County Roads Department, testified that he had graded the Wildcat Hollow Road on several occasions on the orders of three different men who had served as county engineer.

A stipulation agreed upon by contending attorneys before the trial started stated that Mrs. Messersmith acted on the premise the roadway was owned by her and therefore private and not usable by the Pryors.

Admit Road Blocked

Naughton and Mullaney also admit their client has blocked the roadway with chains and padlock and also by the parking of a truck on the road in front of her residence. They claim she has that right on the basis the road is private.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pryor took the stand yesterday to testify how they purchased their property in May of 1945 and up until March of this year there had been no question of its use. They said that the general public has also used the road. They cited its use by lumber trucks, workmen for a utility company and others.

It was also testified by Mr. Pryor that the mail truck only comes into the road to a point near the Messersmith property. The Pryors live beyond the plaintiff in the case. The school bus also only goes to the same point as the mail trucks.

No Other Outlet

Mr. Pryor said he has five children who use the road as a means of getting to the school bus. He said there is no other outlet in the area without the costly building of a roadway out to the Oldtown Road. It was brought out by questioning by Judge Henderson that about two miles of road which would be required to reach the Oldtown Road would be over property owned by some other person. The owner in question is not known by Pryor. The Pryors now exit from their property on the Wildcat Hollow Road to the Williams Road and thence into Cumberland.

The case attracted quite a bit of attention with more than 50 spectators in the court room. Most of these are witnesses in the case and before the testimony was started they were excluded from the court room on motion of Attorney Naughton. The witnesses sat in the hall until called to testify.

Medical Care Waiting List Exceeds 400

Allegany County Medical Care waiting lists—which stood at the 427 mark yesterday—have ranged from 300 to more than 400 since the quota system was adopted by the State Board of Health several months ago.

The adoption of the quota system followed a cut in state appropriations to provide medical care for those who cannot afford to pay for it.

In this county, it meant that only 2,402 persons were authorized to receive free medical and dental care at one time.

To Meet Emergencies

However, when the system was adopted, provisions were made to take care of emergency cases, so that those in dire need of medical attention and drugs would not suffer. Officials said such needs are being met.

Medical care is provided by the state for two groups—those who are receiving assistance from the Allegany County Welfare Board, and the medically indigent. The last group includes persons who have some income but are unable to make it stretch to meet the costs of medical attention.

Early in August, the Allegany County Health Department stopped issuing new Medical Care cards until the rolls dropped to the 2,402 mark.

Nobody was dropped from the program, but as six-month authorizations expired, persons were placed on the waiting list.

Will Mail Cards

When the quota allows, new authorizations are mailed to the persons on the top of the waiting lists.

New applicants are placed on the list after renewals and will be issued cards as their names come up.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said that except in cases of emergencies, it is useless to contact the Health Department about Medical Care cards, since they are issued and mailed auto-

YoungDemocrats To Hear State Candidates

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two potential candidates for governor were slated today for official appearances at a convention of Maryland's young Democrats.

All other possible contenders in the 1954 state election also were expected unofficially, but certainly to show themselves at the two-day meeting in Ocean City next week.

Meet Sept. 18

Members of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland assemble there Sept. 18 for their biennial convention. It will be the first major party function in the political season leading up to the nominations next June.

It could reflect the pattern of what shapes up as a fierce primary campaign as the Democrats struggle to recover from two straight shattering elections.

Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. was announced as speaker at the convention banquet on opening night. He hasn't given any indication he wants to run for the office he lost in 1950, but has support in some quarters.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore will deliver the keynote address the first afternoon. He already has declared he will seek the nomination, the only one to take such a formal step.

Byrd To Attend

Not listed for official functions but sure bets to attend are Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland; George P. Mahoney, ex-national committeeman, and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

County Delegation To Attend Lonaconing Business Men's Meet

Members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly will be special guests at a meeting of the Lonaconing Business Men's Association to be held Thursday, October 1, at 6:30 p. m. in the Pythian Hall, Lonaconing.

Charles M. See, chairman of the delegation, said the group will discuss general issues affecting the Lonaconing area including the George's Creek recreation area.

Attending the meeting will be See, Senator Robert B. Kimble, Noel Speir Cook, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley, Lester B. Reed and Horace P. Whitworth Jr.

Chest Drive Office Opened

Lynn C. Lashley, president of the Cumberland Community Chest, announced last night following a meeting of the Chest's executive committee, that headquarters for the 1953-54 fund-raising campaign will be opened in the Union Street County Building today.

William H. Buchholtz is chairman and director of the drive which has set a goal of $108,492. 75 following approval of the budget by the committee last month.

The nine agencies of the Chest will be seeking $6,000 more than the $102,000 which was raised during last year's drive, Buchholtz stated.

The final organization of the drive will be completed at the next executive board meeting and the official drive will get underway in October.

Suffers Broken Arm

Area Airman On Way Home, Parents Told

First Lt. Francis A. Strieby, who was repatriated in Korea last week, has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strieby, Okonoko, W. Va., that he will arrive home in about two weeks.

In a news-packed wire from Tokyo, Lt. Strieby informed his parents that it was "good to be free," that he was not wounded, was leaving by boat and would arrive in two weeks.

He also sent greetings to "all the gang."

It was the first message from the Okonoko flier since he reached Freedom Village Saturday.

The 23-year-old Fort Hill High School graduate previously had been reported as missing in action since July 4, 1952, until he was returned among a group of American airmen who were repatriated on the final day of the POW exchange in Korea.

Lt. Strieby was a B-29 pilot. Prior to entering the Air Force he was majoring in engineering at Johns Hopkins University.

A sister, Vivian A. Strieby, served with the Army Nurse Corps in Korea and a brother, Lt. Eugene A. Strieby, is now serving with the Army. Another brother, Oscar N. Strieby Jr. served as a tail gunner with the Eighth Air Force in Europe during World War II.

Union May Take Strike Vote Today

William G. Rice, president, said Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will take a strike vote today unless wage issues with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company are settled this morning.

Special meetings have been scheduled at the union hall at 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. for a report on negotiations and possible strike vote.

The local opened talks with the company July 29 for a general wage increase. Union officials said a pattern has been set by 12-cent package deals agreed on by the Goodrich, Goodyear and Firestone rubber companies.

Cadet Youth To Lead CAP

Cadet Captain Joseph Boyd, 17, will temporarily be given command of Fort Cumberland Flight of the Civil Air Patrol under supervision, Commandant of the Cadets John F. Wagner announced last night.

Boyd recently returned to Cumberland following a six-weeks extended tour of Canada under a foreign exchange program for CAP Cadets.

The decision to extend the leadership of the local cadet corps to Boyd was made at a meeting of the corps last night at Municipal Airport.

Also planned at last night's meeting was a picnic party for all cadets who have completed studies and work details to the present time, Wagner said. The picnic is tentatively scheduled for Sunday, September 20, and final plans for the affair will be made at a meeting September 17.

City Firemen Take CD Oaths

All members of the Cumberland Fire Department are taking the Civil Defense oath in preparation for Operation Checkup, the statewide air raid alert scheduled September 22 at 2:01 p. m.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said most of the 53-man staff of the Fire Department have already taken the CD oaths and that all will be pledged by the end of the week.

The fire fighters, he said, will be issued CD cards which will entitle them to take part in the alert.

When the alert sounds — from big sirens at South End Fire Station and Fayette Street and Plum Alley — all firemen will report immediately to their nearest fire station, Chief Parker said.

Election Is Planned

Local 568, Iron Workers (AFL), will hold a run-off election at Allegany Trades Council Hall September 19 from 6 to 10 p. m. to elect a business agent. Nominees are Lewis L. Kreps and George E. Clark.

Will Open Shop

AFL Meeting Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.
